MEAT ORDERED SET ASIDE TO SUPPLY EUROPE

U. S. Action Cuts Civilian Stocks

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11 [Special]—Mandatory meat requisitioning will be resumed Sunday, the government announced today, to obtain supplies for shipment to Great Britain, France and other foreign countries.

Reëstablishment of the set-asides by slaughterers, which was suspended shortly after V-J day, indicated that early termination of all meat rationing is not likely. There had been speculation that all meats would be made ration free by Nov. 1.

Except for the commercial grade of beef, the meats affected by the agriculture department's new order are now ration free. The effect of the action is expected to be a little less meat for the average domestic consumer than he has been buying since Oct. 1.

Seek 500 Million Pounds

The government wants between 500 million and 600 million pounds of meat for foreign consumption by the end of the year. This will mean that Americans will have to give up about a pound a month per capita.

Under the requisitioning order, federally inspected slaughters, beginning Sunday, will be required to set aside for the government 30 per cent of their production of commercial grade beef meeting army specifications, 40 per cent of utility grade beef, 50 per cent of canner and cutter grade beef, 40 per cent of utility grade veal, and 20 per cent of choice, good, commercial, and utility grade mutton.

Some Now Ration-Free

The return to requisitioning indicated that market supplies of these grades of meat are insufficient to meet both civilian demands and requirements for other than civilians except by the use of set-asides.

The lower grades of beef, veal, and lamb were reduced to zero point rationing values at the beginning of the October ration period. Mutton previously had been taken off rationing. The medium and higher grades of beef and veal, and all pork, continue under rationing.

The entire output of slaughterers not under federal inspection, which includes thousands of small local meat producers, will continue to be available for civilians.

[President Truman asked congress for additional funds for UNRRA, explaining that out of an 800 million fund only 20 millions remain unspent. Story on page 16.]

ROW WITH REDS IN BERLIN SHUTS 5 DISTILLERIES

BERLIN, Oct. 11 (AP)—Five distilleries in the American zone of occupation in Berlin have been shut down because of a dispute with the Russians over distribution of their products, Maj. James C. Gentle, United States trade and industry officer, said today.

"These distilleries," said Gentle, of Philadelphia, Pa., "were blending liquor with alcohol supplied by the Russians. The agreement was that 25 per cent of the output was to go to the American military. When the Russians refused to give us our share, we shut down the plants."

Claim French Starve Nazis; Halt Transfers

FRANKFURT, Germany, Oct. 11 (AP)—United States army officials today stopped turning over German prisoners to the French after the International Red Cross charged the French were failing to provide sufficient food for the prisoners working for them.

[Gen. Louis Buisson, director of war prisoners, was quoted by the newspaper Figaro on Sept. 22 as admitting that food rations in French camps were "just enough to allow a man to lie down, not move, and not die too quickly," but added that conditions "in the last 15 days" had shown improvement.]

Report Malnutrition

The Red Cross made representations to United States army headquarters that widespread malnutrition existed among German prisoners in French camps, and that the Germans were not being treated in accord with the Geneva convention.

American army officials said that under the convention they were bound to look after captured prisoners, even tho they were loaned to the French.

Turn Over Medicines

United States officials immediately placed food and medicine at the disposal of the Red Cross to aid the prisoners.

The American army has turned over approximately 700,000 German prisoners to the French to be used in rebuilding the war ravaged sections of their country. The original agreement called for transfer of 1,300,000.

Need U.S. Food in Germany, Expert Warns

Dr. Karl Brandt, food research economist at Leland Stanford university, Palo Alto, Cal., yesterday urged shipment of food to Germany to forestall mass starvation there this winter. He spoke before 600 members and guests of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations meeting in the Congress hotel.

He asserted that we must ship seven or eight million tons of wheat and as much fats as we can spare to Germany now to prevent its people from "starving like flies."

"We fought this war to defeat tyranny," Dr. Brandt said, "and not to replace one type of totalitarian brutality by another, or silently to consent or acquiesce by applying an orgy of ruthless suppression and slow motion torture to millions of innocent people.

Opposes Depleting Industry

Dr. Brandt, German born, has lived in this country 13 years and is an American citizen. He spoke against depleting German industry so that that country no longer could support itself.

"If we have no better solution to offer than to decapitalize the center of Europe wantonly to the extent that millions of common people are permanently unemployed and hungry," he said, "it would be more humane and logical to reopen the gas chambers of Belsen and Buchenwald to blow out the lives of 30 to 40 million Germans with lethal gas."

Urges Change in Policy

He condemned the Potsdam conference for its "absence of mature wisdom and statecraft." Its conditions leave Germany in a position to supply less than 50 per cent of her needs, so that every second German must be fed by imports or starve, Dr. Brandt said.

With the loss of 25 per cent of Germany's food area to Poland, the vast destruction of its industrial capital, and the resulting inability to produce exports, he asserted, the security of the United States and Great Britain demands a change in policy toward the economic rehabilitation of Germany.

Windsor Says He Will Take Wife to England

LONDON, Oct. 11 [Reuters]—Edward Windsor, who left Britain by air for Paris today after a short visit, said that he would return and bring his wife with him. Speaking of his visit to Britain, he said: "I was very glad to get back and especially glad to find my mother [Queen Mary] so well."

Bankers' Club Turned Into Canteen

BY DONALD STARR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

TOKYO, Oct. 11—Enlisted men sprawled comfortably in the lush rooms of the former Bankers club where the Red Cross opened its first canteen in Nippon's capital yesterday. They ate cookies and drank coffee at the tables once used by the Mitsuis and the Mitsubishis who foregathered in this ornate building opposite the palace grounds.

The troops had never had an opportunity to lounge in such splendor. Their usual meeting place was a thatched hut in the jungle or a shell wrecked building in Manila and their surprise at these accommodations was understandable. Viewing the luxurious chairs, one visitor asked if they really were allowed to sit in them.

Bankers Are Stubborn

A group eyeing the swankiest room, in which foreign bankers were entertained, hesitated at the door until a Red Cross girl pushed them inside. The caretaker said a Rockefeller once was a guest here.

When Otis Sikes of Austin, Tex., area recreation director, opened negotiations to obtain the building for a Red Cross center the bankers were given notification. Japanese tenants usually vacate within two or three days, but these men insisted they couldn't move because they used the building for business.

The bankers then said the Japanese government was taking over the building. Told that the Americans had first choice, they asked for time to find another building. Sikes was amazed when the club officials appeared with the excuse that a substitute building had been burned.

Crystal Chandeliers

After Sikes had delivered some bitter words to these men of the yen they blandly told him they simply could not vacate because the "financial structure of the nation" centered in the offices of this palace. Sikes muttered something in his Texas drawl about throwing them out.

The bankers got out. Sikes pushed their files into two small rooms and put his staff to work preparing for the rush of GIs.

Billiard tables were covered for the use of soldiers who want to write letters, but otherwise the furnishings were undisturbed. GIs eat under crystal chandeliers hanging from the ceiling of the Greek pillared banquet room. Movies soon will be shown in the auditorium.

FLORIDA GOVERNOR TO CONDUCT PROBE OF NEGRO LYNCHING

Madison, Fla., Oct. 11 [Special]—Gov. Caldwell said today he would start an investigation of the lynching here last night of Jesse James Payne, 20, Negro, who was taken from an unguarded jail while awaiting hearing on an indictment for assault with intent to rape a 5 year old white girl.

Payne was wounded and captured by a posse near Monticello July 4 two weeks after he had been accused of molesting the daughter of his farmer employer. Police guarded him at that time and took him to the state prison at Raiford for safe keeping.

Indicted here Monday, Payne was brought from Raiford the following day. He was in the Madison county jail with several other prisoners, locked in but without guards, when he was removed last night. His body, riddled with shotgun slugs, was found this morning on a roadside seven miles south of here.

Sheriff Lonnie Davis said he knew nothing about the matter beyond the fact that the Negro had been taken out and shot. Deputy Sheriff A. H. Wade said he brought Payne here from Raiford by a circuitous route because he "was afraid something like this would happen."

DEPUTY STABBED BY PRISONER, 16

Victim's Wife Faints in Battle to Aid Him

A former inmate of the Illinois State Training School for Boys near St. Charles yesterday cut and seriously injured a deputy sheriff in a furious struggle outside the school gates as he was being returned there on a new charge.

The boy, Troy Lee Allen, 16, of Benton, Franklin county, Chief Deputy Sheriff Raymond Hayes, and Hayes' wife, Dora Lou, were unconscious on the ground when guards from the school reached the scene of the battle.

Wife Tries to Aid Deputy

They were taken to the school infirmary. Hayes suffered from loss of blood from deep gashes on his head, face, and neck, and his wife, who tried to aid him in the fight, suffered from shock and hysteria. The boy had head injuries. After his injuries had been treated Allen was removed to the Kane county jail in Geneva. Hayes signed a complaint charging Allen with assault with intent to murder.

Hayes, who is about 40 and weighs 215 pounds, told Sheriff George E. Powell of Kane county that Allen, sitting in the rear seat, drew a pocket knife with a three inch blade and started slashing at him when they were within 300 feet of the main entrance to the training school.

Hayes pulled the car off the road and drew his revolver. He fired one shot into the air as Allen got out of the car, then followed and grappled with him. In the struggle, Allen, who weighs about 135 pounds, wrested the revolver away from Hayes and pulled the trigger once but the gun did not fire.

Struggle Until Unconscious

Mrs. Hayes succeeded in taking the revolver from Allen before she collapsed. Hayes and the boy struggled until both were unconscious. Hayes said later Allen had been searched carefully before they started the trip from Benton. Allen became increasingly nervous as they approached the school.

Allen first was committed to the school Nov. 2, 1940, for burglary and was paroled Feb. 5, 1942. Officials said he had a good record while in the school.

He was returned for parole violation Oct. 23, 1944, and was paroled again July 6, 1945. He was being taken to the school yesterday on a new commitment for automobile larceny.

TEN MISSING; ARMY REVEALS HUNDRED HURT

Hints Island to Be Permanent Base

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., Oct. 11 (AP)—Three navy men were killed and 10 are missing in the Okinawa typhoon, first, incomplete reports to fleet headquarters here stated today.

Fifty-two ships and 70 additional miscellaneous craft were beached and two tugs, a patrol yacht, a gasoline barge, and a mine sweeper were sunk in Buckner bay. Naval installations were damaged extensively.

The navy's reports are meager because they came from the east coast of Okinawa, which had no communications with the western side of the 10 mile wide island.

Mess halls were demolished or damaged and camps were damaged extensively.

Installations Leveled

MANILA, Oct. 12 [Friday]—(AP)—A typhoon, with winds up to 132 miles an hour, injured 100 of nearly 100,000 American service personnel on Okinawa Tuesday and so thoroly leveled installations that immediate evacuation of some forces is urgent, the army reported today.

The typhoon later hit central and southern Honshu, the main island of Japan, killing 69 persons and leaving thousands homeless.

Today's first official army report on the typhoon—it did not cover naval personnel yet to be reported—suggested that Okinawa is to be a permanent post-war base.

Four Japs Killed

Brig. Gen. Lawrence Lawson, base commander, recommended removal of all troops not needed for the "permanent garrison." He said their transfer to Manila or Guam is imperative.

Amplifying the report, Associated Press Correspondent Richard Bergholz in a delayed dispatch said four Japanese prisoners of war were killed by a building's collapse.

Lawson said the island was left in much the same position as when the Americans completed its occupation—when artillery fire had leveled virtually every building.

Many troops were left without quarters by the destruction of tent and quonsett hut areas.

Shore installations largely were erased. A shortage of rations was a critical aftermath.

The army and navy are coöperating in a rehabilitation program. Navy hospital ships, off the island when the storm hit, are being used together with army transports to evacuate 1,250 hospital cases who were in island hospitals. The hospitals were damaged.

Unloading of ships will be difficult for many months because of the destruction of installations.

Tent Villages Scattered

The typhoon had been screaming for 24 hours 150 miles southwest of Okinawa. Suddenly it swerved and the core of the typhoon swept directly over the big navy base in Buckner bay.

There was nothing the men ashore could do. Hundreds of tent camps and Quonsett [metal hut] villages were ripped and scattered by the vicious gusts. Many hospital wards were laid bare and only night long work by soldiers kept suffering by patients at a minimum.

Earlier Losses Told

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11 (AP)—The navy announced today that 89 officers and men are dead or missing after a typhoon in the Okinawa area Sept. 16-18, which sank four motor mine sweepers and the submarine chaser SC-636.

Beaverbrook's Son Fined $400 for Drunken Driving

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Oct. 11—Peter Richard Aitken, 33, second son of Beaverbrook, the publisher, today won reduction of a sentence for drunken driving. Instead of serving two months in jail he will be fined $400. Aitken was arrested while driving thru Piccadilly at 4:30 a. m. in August. He previously had been convicted of a similar offense.

U.S. Restores R.O.T.C. to College Life

The reactivation of advanced reserve officer training courses in colleges and universities located thruout the nation was announced by the war department in a circular released yesterday to all army service commands.

The new program, which will go into effect immediately, will enroll an estimated 10,000 students for each first year course, with a high proportion of these expected to gain a reserve officer's commission at the end of the two year course.

Must Pass Examination

To be eligible for enrollment in the R. O. T. C. course students must be between the ages of 19 to 26, inclusive, and be able to pass a regular army physical examination. Honorably discharged veterans with at least six months' active service will be given credit for the first year basic course and veterans with at least a year of active service will be exempt from the entire basic course.

Each R. O. T. C. student will be required to attend an advanced R. O. T. C. camp of six weeks' duration during the summer months. Most students will attend the camp after completing their first year of study.

All students enrolled in the course will receive a monthly cash allowance in lieu of subsistence rations and will come under the provisions of the GI bill of rights. Each student will receive an officer type uniform, complete with field overcoat and shoes.

Selected for R. O. T. C. Units

The colleges and universities in the Chicago area which have thus far been selected for R. O. T. C. units are: Indiana university, Purdue university, Rose Polytechnic institute, Knox college, University of Illinois, Michigan College of Mineralogy and Technology, Michigan State college, University of Michigan, Ripon college, St. Norbert college, University of Wisconsin, Coe college, Iowa State college, Iowa State university, University of Minnesota, and the University of Missouri.

For admission into the R. O. T. C. chemical warfare service students must be majoring in mechanical engineering, chemical engineering, accounting, or law. To enroll in the corps of engineers the student must be studying architectural, chemical, civil, electrical, mechanical, mining, sanitary, or industrial engineering.

Signal Corps Requirements

To be admitted to the R. O. T. C. ordnance department the student must be studying engineering. Admission into the signal corps requires a major in electrical engineering. Admission into other branches of services requires only that the student be enrolled in a regular college course.

Meanwhile, the Chicago board of education announced that it had authorized the introduction of R. O. T. C. training units into the three Chicago junior colleges. Supt. of Schools Johnson said he would make an immediate application to the war department for the appointment of Wright Junior college, Herzl Junior college, and Wilson Junior college as training units.

JIMMY, 5, LOSES LEG, OTHER FOOT IN RAIL MISHAP

James Riley Jr., 5, of 2239 Roosevelt rd., was found with his left leg severed above the knee and his right foot crushed on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad transfer tracks at 14th st. and Western av. yesterday. Later in the County hospital the injured foot was amputated.

The accident occurred, police said, while Jimmy and two playmates were hitching on frate trains. Dr. Roger T. Vaughan, night superintendent of the County hospital, said the young victim's condition is serious. Jimmy, after the operation, didn't seem discouraged by the loss of one leg and the foot on the other leg.

"I'm just wondering what kind of new legs I'll get," he said. He remained unidentified until an aunt, with whom he lives, reported that he was missing. His father is a policeman at Marquette station.

Pigeons and Unflyable Planes Offered for Sale

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11 (AP)—The government today listed among its surplus property 21,459 unflyable aircraft and "thousands" of homing pigeons. The pigeons are the veteran message carriers used by the army and may be purchased at $25 a five pair lot.

HOUSE SLASHES BUSINESS AND EXCISE LEVIES

Individuals Would Benefit Jan. 1

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11 (AP)—Amid shouted demands for reductions in federal spending, the house, by a vote of 343 to 10 today passed the first tax cutting bill to enter congress in 16 years—easing individual and business burdens by $5,350,000,000 in 1946.

The legislation provides a reduction of $7,252,000,000 below present levies for 1947.

Now tossed to the senate, the bill takes 12 million low income persons off the income tax rolls and gives at least a 10 per cent reduction to all other persons subject to this levy.

Doughton Asks Economy

Chairman Doughton [D., N. C.] of the house ways and means committee and the house Republican leader, Martin of Massachusetts, joined during the debate in demanding curtailment of government spending as the only means to assure further lightening of the tax load.

Doughton said the budget must be balanced and payments made on the national debt. He declared: "To make taxes bearable it is important that all nonessential federal spending be eliminated."

Martin took the floor to say: "I serve notice that altho the Republican members of this house will give their support to this measure, we shall continue to fight with unflagging determination to reduce the costs of this government and, by so doing, eventually reduce the burden of taxes."

Bigger Cuts Demanded

Other Republicans demanded larger tax reductions at this time. Rep. Knutson of Minnesota, senior ways and means Republican, expressed hope the senate will repeal outright the excess profits tax which is only partially eliminated in the house bill. Some Democrats complained that the house measure gives insufficient relief to low and middle income persons and to small business.

The 10 members voting against the bill were Andersen [R., Minn.], Bailey [D., W. Va.], Cannon [D., Mo.], Granger [D., Utah], Hook [D., Mich.], Hull [Prog., Wis.], La Follette [R., Ind.], Link [D., Ill.], Mansfield [D., Mont.], and Marcantonio [A. L., N. Y.].

The house measure, which may be revised in the senate, provides this relief for taxpayers in 1946:

1. Lifts all income taxes from 12 million persons and gives other individuals [there were 50 million taxpayers when the war ended] cuts ranging from 10 per cent to more than 40 per cent. No person would get less than a 10 per cent reduction. Income tax savings to individuals would amount to $2,527,000,000. Pay as you go withholdings from wages and salaries would be reduced Jan. 1.

Eases Burden on Firms

2. Eases corporation burdens by $1,888,000,000, including partial repeal of the war time excess profits levy and lowering of the business surtax rate.

3. Reduces sharply, next July 1, the war time excises on so-called luxuries, including liquor, luggage, furs, jewelry, and cosmetics. This would save consumers $535,000,000 in the last six months of 1946. The liquor tax would be cut from $9 to $6 a gallon. About $160,000,000 in floor stocks taxes would be refunded.

4. Abolishes the $5 automobile use tax next July 1.

5. Freezes the social security tax in 1946 at 1 per cent each on employe's pay and employer's pay rolls. Without the freeze the tax would increase to 2.5 per cent against each on Jan. 1.

Debate Only 4 Hours

The house rushed thru the bill with only four hours' debate under a procedure that some members described as a "gag" rule. The rule did not permit consideration of amendments unless previously ap-

CONGRESS TOLD OF A POSSIBLE A-BOMB DEFENSE

Offshore Detonation Is Foreseen

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11 (AP)—The house naval committee today gave congress the first definite ray of hope for a defense against the atomic bomb.

How near that hope is to actual achievement went carefully unrevealed, but the idea is to explode the bombs by radio over the ocean before they get to America.

The committee, which conferred recently with high naval officers, reported:

"There are indications that an effective counter measure to atomic bombs has been developed to such an extent that they can be exploded far short of their objective without the necessity of locating their position.

Detonated by Radio

"Knowledge of electronics promises ability to detonate atomic bombs at great distances by radio. Such interceptive defense can be effected at the greatest distance from our shores by the navy."

Larry Crosby, head of the Crosby research foundation in Hollywood, Cal., said recently that a defense technique had been devised against atomic bombs. He said it is so simple it might be possible for an amateur experimenter to explode unwittingly a store of atomic bombs at least four miles away.

Numerous scientists who were associated with the development of the bomb have said, even in recent weeks, that they knew of no defense.

The house group issued its report on atomic bomb defense to emphasize its feeling that "we cannot scuttle our navy but rather we must maintain the world's most powerful navy intact."

Warns of Danger to U. S.

"The atomic bomb is still a bomb requiring land planes or carrier based planes to deliver it," it said. "The best offense against it is intercepting air power."

Capitol hill heard in another quarter that the atom bomb is so potent nations had better get together or no one is safe from it.

This advice came from Commerce Secretary Wallace in testimony to a joint senate military-commerce subcommittee studying federal aid to research.

Wallace said the United States could have more atom bombs stored than anybody else and still be extremely vulnerable because some day some country with one-third the stock and none of the nonaggression principles might "destroy all our cities."

ALLIES STUDYING SUBSTITUTE FOR ITALIAN TRUCE

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune]

LONDON, Oct. 11—Negotiations are under way in Washington, D. C., between the British and Americans to study the possibility of canceling the armistice with Italy and substituting a simplified document to carry thru until there is a peace treaty, it was learned here today.

Unfortunately for the Italians, the whole armistice question is being linked by Moscow with the armistice to Romania and Bulgaria. It is claimed that if the armistice to Italy is to be abrogated, those with Bucharest and Sofia should also be canceled. This matter came up in the council of foreign ministers when Soviet Commissar Molotov proposed that the armistices with Romania and Bulgaria be transformed into peace treaties.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin said in a written answer to parliament today that the repatriation of Italian prisoners of war in Britain will begin as soon as the harvest is completed and transport is available.

General Becomes a Bishop

BILL PROPOSES POINT PLAN FOR ARMY TRAINING

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11 (AP)—A peace time universal military training program designed to meet objections that training would interfere with young men's schooling was proposed today by Sen. Knowland [R., Cal.].

He introduced legislation to set up a point system whereby youngsters, if they desired, could get credit for a year's military training while continuing in school. It would:

1. Continue registration for military training of boys upon reaching age 18.

2. Direct that upon reaching 21 they must undergo a year of military training unless they had accumulated 36 points for military training.

3. Award points at the rate of nine a year for military training in the Reserve Officers Training corps, the national guard, or in organized reserves.

Thus, by starting soon enough, a young man could accumulate 36 points and discharge his obligation as to military training before reaching 21.

TOOLS WORTH $135 STOLEN

Theft of tools valued at $135 from 3418 Archer av. where wrecking work is being done was reported to police yesterday by Harry Krwoshein, an employe of the American Wrecking company, 3800 Milwaukee av.

Church Precedent

New York, Oct. 11 (AP)—The most Rev. William R. Arnold, former chief of chaplains and assistant inspector of the United States army, today was consecrated titular bishop of Phocaea and military delegate by Archbishop Francis J. Spellman of New York at St. Patrick's cathedral. Archbishop Spellman, military vicar of the armed forces of the United States, acted as consecrator. Bishop Arnold, who held the rank of major general, became the first officer of that rank to be consecrated a bishop of the Roman Catholic church.

YANKS SELLING JAPS CIGARETS AT $1.33 A PACK

TOKYO, Oct. 11 (AP)—A growing black market is sweeping Japan despite orders by American and Japanese authorities prohibiting the purchase or barter of goods brought into the country by United States troops.

Japanese merchants are paying soldiers 20 yen [about $1.33] for a package of American cigarets, and reselling them to tobacco-starved Japanese for as much as 40 yen. Japanese business men will pay 10 yen [about 66 cents] for a small package of sugar and 20 yen for a can of hash stew.

U. OF C. EXPERTS ON ATOM RESENT ARMY GAG RULE

Atomic scientists at the University of Chicago yesterday were reported in a state of near revolt against continued surveillance by army security police who were accused of instituting a "rule of fear" to halt the scientists in their efforts to warn the public about future perils from the atomic bomb.

Disclosure that the physicists are contemplating formal protest to President Truman to force the army to discontinue its "Gestapo methods" and censorship gag came in the wake of verified reports that military police at the university are questioning writers sent to interview the scientists.

Writer Forced to Explain

One representative of a national magazine assigned to report the extent of the impending revolt among creators of the atomic bomb, it was learned, was made to explain his presence on the campus to the security officer assigned to the "metallurgical project" at the university.

It also was substantiated that at a press conference held two weeks ago at the Quadrangle club by the executive committee of the Atomic Scientists of Chicago, a representative of the same security police attended the session.

The scientists say they have been sworn to secrecy not to divulge any of the bomb's secrets and have no intention of violating their oaths. The army, however, they contend, has gone far afield in its interpretation of what is secret and now is barring discussion even of "secrecy itself."

No Reason for Gag, They Say

The army gag rule, the scientists allege, no longer has any valid security reason, but is being perpetuated solely to keep vital information from congress in the army's desire to have two atomic bomb control bills railroaded into enactment.

One of these measures, introduced by Sen. Johnson [D., Colo.], the scientists label as a "vicious piece of legislation." They maintain that under its provisions an atomic bomb control commission would be given unlimited powers to jail offending scientists and seize private property under the guise of military necessity.

If the army "stampedes" congress into "ill considered" action, the scientists warn, great harm may result in not considering the need for international instead of only national control of the bomb.

Say Secret Can't Be Kept

The scientists disclosed they receive "weekly and sometimes daily letters" from the war department in Washington, D. C., warning them not to talk to any one and particularly "not to talk to the press" about the bomb.

They said the secret of the bomb cannot be kept from other nations but should be deposited with an international organization to prevent its use as a war weapon.

The pending control bills, the group asserted, are designed to place the army in control of the bomb and all future atomic developments. A program of this kind, they contend, would create a military dictatorship in the nation.

O, THAT KISS! GIRL HUNTS SAILOR SHE SMACKED INTO ON BUS

Hagerstown, Md., Oct. 11 (AP)—A Bridgeport, O., girl wrote the editor of the Hagerstown Herald today asking him to help find the sailor who kissed her while riding on a bus. Apparently she wants to further the romance, the editor explained.

"I don't go around kissing people just for a habit," wrote the young woman, "but this looks like the real thing."

She said the sailor kissed her and left the bus at Hagerstown while she continued to Wheeling, W. Va., from Washington, D. C.

"Please, Mr. Editor, won't you put something in the paper that will help me find him?" she asked.

SENATORS O.K. M'KEOUGH FOR MARITIME POST

Possible Seaman Strife Foreseen

BY PHILIP DODD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11—Reversing the action of its commerce committee, the senate today confirmed Raymond S. McKeough, CIO political leader and former Chicago congressman, as a member of the maritime commission. The vote was 42 to 34.

Nine Democrats joined with Republicans in opposing McKeough, but administration leaders, striving to stave off the first senate rejection of a Truman political appointment, were able to keep other members of the majority party in line.

The commerce committee voted 10 to 7 on Oct. 1 to report McKeough's nomination unfavorably, but Majority Leader Barkley [D., Ky] was able to have senate action on the report postponed until today, when sufficient votes were lined up to upset the committee's report.

Truman Ignores Custom

It has been customary for a President to withdraw nominations receiving adverse reports in senate committees. In McKeough's case, however, President Truman decided to let the senate fight it out and Postmaster General and National Democratic Chairman Hannegan was reported to have conducted a brisk campaign among senate Democrats for McKeough's confirmation.

Today's action was taken in the face of warnings from Senators Overton [D., La.], who presented the committee report; Hart [R., Conn.], former admiral, and Moore [R., Okla.] that placing the CIO leader on the maritime commission would increase tension between CIO and American Federation of Labor maritime unions.

"Rests on Powder Keg"

"The merchant marine," Overton told the senate, "is resting on a powder keg because of the fierce antagonism between the two rival labor groups. I do not want to make a move that would explode that powder keg. To place a man [on the commission] who is closely identified with one of the labor groups would have that effect."

Overton said he wanted to uphold the Democratic administration in the White House and in congress but that he "put some things above loyalty to the administration." One of them, he said, was his desire to protect the merchant marine from labor dissension.

Hart, who was commander of the Asiatic fleet at the start of the war, said he questioned whether McKeough was legally qualified to serve on the maritime commission. He recalled that the 1936 marine act bars from commission membership persons who have been identified with shipping interests or "any business associated with shipping" for three years prior to his appointment. McKeough's CIO affiliation might come under that heading because of the interest of CIO maritime members in the operation of ships under the commission's authority, he said.

"Dangerous to Confirm Him"

"If Mr. McKeough assumes office in the face of AFL opposition," Hart continued, "he will be handicapped from the start. It would be dangerous for us to confirm him. Such an action would introduce a dangerous high explosive in the maritime commission."

Moore said he was opposed to McKeough because the former congressman is affiliated with an organization "engaged in illegal activities and whose objectives are un-American in their concept." He said it would be an evasion of the senate's constitutional obligations to confirm McKeough.

Moore based his charge of illegality on the ground that the CIO political action committee is a political organization to which CIO unions contributed $800,000 for last year's national election in violation of the corrupt practices act.

ATTACK BRINGS RED EDITOR INTO CATHOLIC FOLD

New York, Oct. 11 [Special]—Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen, who accepted Louis F. Budenz, former managing editor of the Daily Worker, Communist newspaper, back into the Catholic church yesterday at St. Patrick's cathedral, disclosed today that an editorial attack on him by Budenz led to their acquaintance.

Budenz yesterday resigned from the paper and the Communist party. He will join the faculty of Notre Dame university at South Bend, Ind., Nov. 1.

"About five years ago the editor of a Communist publication, the Daily Worker, made an attack on me," Msgr. Sheen said. "I invited the writer, Mr. Budenz, to dinner, and in the course of the meal I talked to him about God, grace, and our blessed mother."

At South Bend, the Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, president of Notre Dame, said that since Budenz "has completely severed his relations with the Communist party, he will be welcome at Notre Dame."

Accepts Resignation of State Department Aid

Washington, D. C. Oct. 11 (AP)—President Truman today accepted the resignation of Frank McCarthy, 33, of Richmond, Va., as assistant state secretary for administration. McCarthy said he was quitting on advice of his physician who had advised a rest of two or three months.

TELL PRESIDENT OF ARGENTINA TO SHAKE UP RULE

Military Men Ask Arrest of Boss

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Oct. 11 (AP)—One hundred and twenty army and navy officers voted tonight to demand that President Edelmiro Farrell overhaul his cabinet completely and arrest Col. Juan Peron, who resigned as vice president under fire from brother officers. Later it was announced that elections would be decreed for next April 7.

[A Reuters dispatch said Peron was reported to have escaped by plane to southern Argentina.]

Some of those who attended the meeting at the Army club said the group voted "by acclamation" to send a delegation to the president and Gen. Eduardo Avalos, the new war minister, to demand the cabinet changes.

Farrell May Yield

Among high officers noticed at the meeting were Gen. Orlando Peluffo, a former foreign minister under Farrell; Gen. Abraham Quiroga, commander of an artillery regiment at Campo De Mayo; Gen. Alberto Gugliemone, an early foe of Col. Peron, Argentine "strong man"; Rear Adm. Gonzalo Bustamante, and Capt. Leonardo MacLean, chief of the Rio Santiago naval base.

Before the meeting, a report emanated from the government house that President Farrell was seriously considering transferring power to the Supreme court.

Demand Minister Quit

Earlier the army had called for the resignation of Interior Minister Hortensio Quijano, who served as the envoy to force Peron's resignation.

At a late press conference, Treasury Minister Armando G. Antille said some cabinet ministers already had resigned but did not give their names. Other sources reported they were Quijano and Navy Minister Adm. Alberto Tessaire, both of whom were considered Peron men.

Meawhile, Quijano announced that all newspapers closed by police would be permitted to publish again.

NAVY PERSONNEL REDUCED 185,796 IN SINGLE MONTH

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., Oct. 11 (AP)—The navy announced today its personnel in the Pacific was reduced by 185,796 during September. This was 12 per cent of the total in the area Sept. 1.

Forty thousand of the number were to be discharged from the service. The remainder came out on leave, for reassignment or other reasons.

Some of the men returned home on ships which will be decommissioned or placed in reserve. Others were on vessels which will participate in Navy day ceremonies in the United States Oct. 27.

POPULISTS REFUSE TO TAKE SEAT IN NEW CABINET OF GREECE

ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 11 (AP)—The big Populist party tonight refused to participate in the new Greek cabinet which Themistokles Sophoulis, Liberal party leader, is attempting to form.

Sophoulis conferred during the day with Populist leaders; the regent, Archbishop Damaskinos, and Reginald Leeper, the British ambassador.

The archbishop, who had charged Sophoulis with forming the new cabinet, said the Populists must be included. The political crisis began Tuesday with the resignation of Premier Petros Voulgaris' government. The Populists demand that a caretaker government be formed to set up an election system.

SAILOR MAY SEEK DEATH PENALTY IN NURSE KILLING

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 11 (AP)—Wilbur L. Martin, navy warrant officer, implied today that he would press for the death penalty for the socially prominent Mrs. Annie Irene Mansfeldt, 45, charged with the slaying of Martin's wife, Vada, 36, a nurse.

Mrs. Mansfeldt was charged with shooting Mrs. Martin to death after accusing the nurse of intimacies with her husband, Dr. John H. Mansfeldt, 58. Learning of the tragedy, Dr. Mansfeldt killed himself with poison.

Martin returned yesterday from 22 months' service in the Pacific.

Asked by a reporter if he thought the prosecutor should demand the death penalty, Martin said, "That's the way I feel about it."

1ST SHOT OF WAR FIRED ON ORDER OF AN N. U. GRAD

America's first shot in the Pacific was fired at 6:37 a. m., Dec. 7, 1941, an hour before the Pearl Harbor attack, on the orders of Comdr. Oscar W. Goepner, 34, 130 Roger Williams av., Highland Park, a Northwestern university graduate, it was disclosed yesterday. The story is told in the book "Battle Report," prepared from official documents by two navy officers.

Comdr. O. W. Goepner

Goepner, then a junior lieutenant, was gunnery officer of the destroyer transport U. S. S. Ward, patroling Hawaiian waters in the hours before dawn. A Jap submarine was spotted in restricted waters and Goepner was told to open fire when ready. The first shot missed but the second went home. As the submarine submerged, the destroyer dropped four depth charges and the enemy craft was destroyed.

The commanding officer of the destroyer, Lt. William Outerbridge, listed the sinking at 6:51 a. m. and wired Pearl Harbor: "We have attacked, fired upon, and dropped depth charges upon submarine operating in defensive area."

EXECUTE FRENCH 'HAW HAW' AND 3 GESTAPO MEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Oct. 11—Jean Herold Paquis, military commentator of the German controled Radio Paris, who told his listeners nightly thruout the occupation that "England, like Carthage, shall be destroyed," today was executed simultaneously with three members of the so-called Georgian gestapo by a firing squad at Fort de Chatillon, outside Paris.

Wearing the blue shirt of Jacques Doriot's Legionnaires, Paquis left Fresnes prison singing a scout song, "It Is Only Au Revoir, My Brothers." His lawyer, who witnessed the execution, said the radio commentator made no statement but spent his last days writing "a very fine poem" about death.

When the four bodies were placed in coffins one of the Georgians was found to be clutching a swastika arm band in his hand.

British Close Singapore's Distilleries After 20 Die

SINGAPORE, Oct. 11 (AP)—British military authorities closed distilleries in the Singapore area today and confiscated 6,000 gallons of liquor after 20 persons had died in 48 hours as a result of liquor poisoning.

WE'LL LET DUTCH START SHOOTING, SAYS SOEKARNO

Seeks Indies Freedom by Peaceful Means

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BATAVIA, Java, Oct. 11—While prepared to fight, leaders of the self proclaimed Republic of Indonesia hope to reach an agreement with the Dutch peacefully, Dr. Soekarno, the "republic's" president, said in an interview today.

So far, Soekarno said there has been no indication the Dutch will attempt negotiation with the Indonesians. Soekarno's aim is to gain sympathy among the allies and get them to bring pressure on the Dutch.

"If there is to be any shooting in Indonesia, we are going to let the Dutch start it," Soekarno said. He has consistently pleaded with Indonesians to preserve order.

"Running Country Now"

Soekarno lives with his wife and young son in a large house here. Like most Indonesians, Soekarno has only one name, no family name. Because of his college degree he carries Dr Ir. [doctor of engineering] before his name. The word Soekarno is Malayan for "big ear."

Soekarno is 44 years old, mild speaking, brown skinned and handsome. He dresses expertly and easily in a western tropical suit and a spotless white shirt. A dark red, Indonesian fezlike cap sits jauntily on his head.

Soekarno did not indicate any willingness to compromise his group's claim for complete independence. He answered arguments that the Indonesians are not capable of running the country by saying merely: "We are running it now."

He hedged on questions concerning the "republic's" plans for foreign property. "That can all be settled easily," he said. His foreign minister, also present at the interview, said foreign property would be purchased. But Soekarno said it would all be returned to the foreign owners first.

"We need foreign capital and foreign brains to help develop our country," he said. "Of course, foreign businesses operating in Indonesia would be controled by law. The number of non-Indonesians they could employ would be limited."

Will Regulate Land

At this point one of his advisers said Indonesia needs 20,000 foreigners. Before the war 100,000 Europeans, mostly Dutch, lived in Java. The constitution adopted by Soekarno and his group provides that natural resources, including land, are to be "regulated by the state and used for the greatest possible prosperity for the people." From statements by Soekarno, his advisers, and the constitution, it seems apparent that, under the "republic's" present plans, foreign businesses in Indonesia would be severely limited, subject to sudden changes in controls and possible expropriation.

The Japs promised an Indonesian republic would be set up late in 1945. They took Soekarno, who was to have been its leader, on a quick trip to Manila, Tokyo, and Saigon. For his relationships with the Japs, the Dutch accuse him of being a quisling. Soekarno admits his relations with the Japs but points out that he was working for independence.

Among his cabinet is one Indonesian who was so vocal for independence during the war that the Japs arrested him in 1943 as a revolutionary and condemned him to death. Soekarno got the sentence commuted to life imprisonment. He was released only after Jap capitulation. He is now minister of information.

DUTCH TROOPS FIRE ON INDONESIANS; ONE KILLED, FOUR INJURED

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BATAVIA, Java, Oct. 10 [Delayed]—One Indonesian was killed and four Indonesians and one Dutch marine were injured today in a shooting fray as Dutch troops seized control of the Dunlop Tire company's office building here. The Indonesians had occupied the building.

A car flying the red and white flag of the Indonesian "republic" circled the building several times as the Dutch troops arrived in trucks. As the car moved slowly past the building for the third or fourth time a Dutch noncommissioned officer shouted, "Fire." The car was riddled with bullets and crashed into a tree.

The Dutch said the Indonesians fired from the car and when they did so the Dutch noncommissioned officer gave his order. The Indonesians alternately denied that they fired first or at all. The injured Dutchman suffered a wound in his arm.

MORE SOLDIERS REACH SAIGON TO STOP DISORDERS

LONDON, Oct. 11 [Reuters]—More British troops and a French landing party from the battleship Richelieu arrived in Saigon, Indo-China yesterday, Gen. Jacques Leclerc said today in a statement broadcast by the Saigon radio. Leclerc is commander of the French far east expeditionary forces.

A detachment of Ghurkas was ambushed two miles northwest of Saigon yesterday by Annamite nationalists. One officer and one noncommissioned officer were killed while the Annamites suffered many casualties.

Use Air Borne Troops

SAIGON, Indo-China, Oct. 10 [Delayed]—(AP)—The first movement of air borne French forces into Indo-China's interior began today in Japanese planes taken over by the R. A. F. The deployment reportedly began as a measure against Annamites massing around a former Japanese air base 100 miles west of Saigon.

French Hope to Return De Grasse to Service

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Oct. 11—The 18,000 ton French cabin liner De Grasse which has been lying capsized off Blaye since a year ago last August, when it was wrecked by a German mine, will be towed to St. Nazaire next week for repairs. The French hope the De Grasse can be returned to trans-Atlantic passenger service next summer.

FINANCE A MESS IN JAVA; PRICES ALL MIXED UP

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BATAVIA, Java, Oct. 11—With Japanese invasion currency still the only official money in Indonesia, finance here is a mess. The British have said the currency will have some value, but that value has not yet been set. Speculation in currency is rife. One trader offers 50 times as much for the Jap guilder as another.

Since no one knows what the currency is worth, prices are crazy. Checking prices at random you find that a Chinese meal costs 110 guilders, a haircut a guilder and a half, a sarong 1,500 guilders, an elaborately carved wooden figure 30 guilders, a bottle of beer 25 guilders, and a meal of fried chicken 15 guilders.

The opportunity is here for getting rich in international finance. One Australian flyer is reported to have come here with a bag of invasion currency found in Borneo, which he traded here for pre war Dutch guilders, took them to Singapore and turned them in for British backed Singapore dollars. The transactions are reported to have netted him the equivalent of $30,000.

Yanks in France Spend Ten Millions in a Year

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Oct. 11—Allied troops in France spent 536 million francs [$10,720,000] on gifts, souvenirs, and knicknacks between their arrival in this country and Sept. 30, according to official figures released today.

Customers Ask...
"WHY Can't I Make My Own Selection of Fannie May Candy?"

Even with Final Victory, many ingredients used in fine candy making are in scarce supply, and still rationed to us! For instance, half as much sugar as before the war, half as much chocolate, and something over half as much butter!

Take as an example, the delicious Fannie May Buttercreams—they contain the same fine creamery butter that you use on your table—and of course with our butter supply cut, we can make far less of these fine confections! So to make sure that you, and each one of our customers, get a share of Buttercreams, and all the other delicious pieces, we have to sell by assortment!

But this we want you to know! The name Fannie May on a box of candy is your assurance that each piece is made to just as high quality formula as before the war—just as pure, delicious, and taste thrilling as ever!

M'ARTHUR AGAIN CUTS FORCE TO STAY IN JAPAN

1,250,000 Yanks to Be Returned Home

TOKYO, Oct. 11 (AP)—Gen. MacArthur gave orders for sweeping social and political reforms in Japan today and announced plans for sending home 1,250,000 American soldiers from the Pacific theater in the next six months.

The Americans will return to the United States at the rate of a quarter of a million a month, leaving by the end of March only 400,000 troops in the Pacific theater.

The announcement further reduced the number of troops which the allied commander expects to keep in Japan. Previously he estimated 200,000 troops would be sufficient, but today's announcement disclosed that 200,000 would do the job both for Japan and Korea. The total would include four combat divisions in Japan and two in Korea. The remainder would be air service and occupation force specialists.

Will Man Bases

The Pacific forces will include 7,000 in the Philippines and 36,000 in Okinawa and the rest of the Ryukyus Islands. The rest of the 400,000 will be combat troops plus air service forces in Hawaii, the Marianas, and other Pacific bases.

The mass movement from the Pacific will be handled thru eight processing centers at Honolulu, Okinawa, Saipan, Tacloban, Chinsen, and Manila. Before any divisions are sent home the low point men will be screened out to remain with the occupation forces, replacing high point ment from the units in the field.

The divisions in the Pacific by Jan. 1 will be located as follows:

On Japan, 11 divisions—the 11th air borne, 1st cavalry, 77th, 81st, 25th, 97th, 32d, 41st, 24th, 98th, and 33d.

Korea, 7th, 40th, and 6th.

Philippines, 93d, 96th, 86th.

Shipping Made Available

The divisions which will remain after that as occupation troops are the 11th air borne, 24th, 25th, and 1st cavalry on Japan; the 7th and 6th divisions in Korea, and the 86th in the Philippines.

Headquarters said the war department had made a vast amount of shipping available for the mass return of troops.

MacArthur met Premier Shidehara for an hour today, telling the new Japanese government head that five major reforms needed in Japan would necessitate revision of the constitution and that:

"I expect you to institute them as rapidly as they can be assimilated."

Must Let Women Vote

The reforms stressed were emancipation of women thru enfranchisement; encouragement of labor unionization; opening of the schools to a more liberal education; abolishment of the systems thru which secret inquisition abuse has held constant fear over the heads of the people, and democratization of Japanese economy revising monopolistic industrial controls.

The social changes ordered were so sweeping in character that revision of Japan's constitution appeared inevitable. This heightened interest in a Domei report that Dr. Soichi Sasaki, a leading authority on the constitution, has been chosen to assist in advising the emperor on prospective changes.

The allied commander likewise stressed the need of vigorous and prompt action by the government in feeding, housing, and clothing the people to prevent widespread starvation, disease, and social unrest.

"The coming winter will be critical and the only way to meet its difficulties is by the full employment of every one in useful work," MacArthur said.

Domei said today Emperor Hirohito had appointed his cousin, former Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye, as an adviser to Marquis Kido, keeper of the privy seal. Hitherto Kido has been the sole adviser within the imperial household on such matters as the enforcement of the Potsdam declaration and domestic reconstruction.

Durkin's Friend

[TRIBUNE Photo]

Woman identified only as Evelyn, as she appeared at federal court hearing yesterday in which Martin Durkin sought to escape serving a 15 year prison term.

Martin Durkin, once known as Chicago's sheik automobile thief and prowler, pleaded tearfully in federal court yesterday to escape serving a 15 year prison term for transporting stolen automobiles across state lines in violation of the Dyer act.

The one time ladies' man and gunman recently completed an 18 year term in the state penitentiary for the murder of a federal agent who tried to arrest him.

During his impassioned plea, Durkin pointed to a woman seated among the court spectators and told Judge William J. Campbell he intended to marry her if probation was granted him. He identified her as a widow named Evelyn who lives with his mother, Mrs. Hattie Durkin, in her rooming house at 7227 Cottage Grove av. Durkin met her seven months ago.

Judge Campbell said he would take Durkin's case under advisement and would notify attorneys when he was ready to announce his ruling.

Municipal Elections Set by Spain for Next March

MADRID, Spain, Oct. 11 (AP)—Generalissimo Franco's cabinet announced tonight that municipal elections will be held during the first two weeks or March, 1946. At the same time the cabinet announced a general amnesty for political prisoners convicted of rebellion before April 1, 1939—the end of the Spanish civil war.

REDS' PLAN SEEN AS UNDOING JOB OF MacARTHUR

TOKYO, Oct. 11 (AP)—The Russian plan for a central control council to rule Japan would cause Gen. MacArthur to lose face among the Japanese and impair his usefulness, sources close to the allied commander declared today.

"Unquestionably it would cause confusion," one informant said.

These sources put the problem this way: MacArthur as the supreme commander has been issuing orders to the emperor, and the Japanese who must carry out his orders realize he is boss.

Would Undo His Work

"But should a council take over—or even if it only was on equal terms with the general—MacArthur would to the oriental mind lose face. Much of the work already done would be undone.

On the other hand, the creation of the far eastern advisory commission as announced yesterday by Secretary of State Byrnes was interpreted as having no effect on MacArthur's status as supreme commander. Byrnes indicated he was not in favor of the Russian plan.

Asked if MacArthur would accept an invitation to appear before the far eastern commission in Washington, one source said Gen. Marshall could order him to return to the United States to testify this month.

Technicians in Control

Headquarters sources insisted the enforcement of the Potsdam declaration was proceeding as fast as possible; that MacArthur did not want to issue orders faster than the Japanese can assimilate them.

Much of the work calls for a high degree of technical skill. Washington has been urged to send out the best men possible to examine banking records. Skilled men are needed for economic, agricultural, shipping and monetary questions.

Already there is a noticeable change at MacArthur's headquarters. The key men in the combat organization have gone home. At their desks are men who played a relatively minor role in the war but who are expert in the fields of finance, transportation, and the like.

MANILA POLICE AID VISITS CITY ON STUDY TOUR

Major Angel ["Bobby"] Tuason, 46, of the Philippine army who was recently appointed deputy police commissioner in Manila, was in Chicago yesterday, studying administrative methods of the Chicago police system.

Maj. Angel Tuason

The major, a graduate of Beloit college, will make a tour of American cities, studying police methods. He said that under Japanese rule, law and order disappeared in Manila and that a tremendous job faces his department.

Col. J. B. Holland of the army, brother of Municipal Judge Eugene J. Holland, is provost marshal and chief of police in Manila, Tuason said. The combination of military and civil police controls was necessary because all of the Manila police equipment and installations were destroyed by the Japs.

RIVAL FACTIONS AGREE ON MOVES TO UNIFY CHINA

Communists Will Keep 20 Divisions

CHUNGKING, China, Oct. 11 (AP) —Basic agreement on the principles of political peace for China, long torn by struggles for government control, was announced today by Chinese Nationalist and communist negotiators.

Many complex military and political questions still awaited solution, but the negotiators proclaimed willingness to submit these to a military subcommittee and a political consultative council. They also agreed to continue the talks which have been under way here for five weeks.

Thruout the parley the nationalist government stressed the need of achieving unity of political authority without delay, and wrote into the statement of the negotiators a warning that "if this question is left unsettled for a long time it will be an obstacle for peaceful reconstruction."

Reds Retain 20 Divisions

Pending complete nationalization of China's armed forces the government expressed willingness to consider communist retention of 20 divisions, provided all questions under discussion could be solved.

Other points of agreement disclosed by the statement included:

1. China should embark immediately on a "new era of peaceful reconstruction" under the leadership of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in the spirit of coöperation for avoidance of civil war.

In this connection both sides agreed to equality before the law of all political parties and recognized the necessity to nationalize the nation's armed forces.

2. Political tutelage for the Chinese people should be ended as soon as possible and replaced by constitutional government. A step in this direction will be the establishment of the political consultative council after the negotiators have agreed on its composition and functions.

3. Chinese should enjoy all the freedoms enjoyed by people of other democratic countries — freedom of person, conscience, speech, press, and assembly—and all laws conflicting with these shall be revised or abolished.

4. Political prisoners shall be released.

5. Self-government for localities should be advanced "from lower levels upward."

Funeral for Eight

[Associated Press Wirephoto]

Pvt. W. H. Garrett, who flew from Europe, at burial services yesterday for eight members of his family in Morganfield, Ky.

Morganfield, Ky., Oct. 11 (AP) — Neighbors and friends numbering 1,000 or more turned out this afternoon as Pvt. William H. Garrett stood in a daze while his entire family—parents and six brothers and sisters—was buried in Morganfield's Odd Fellows cemetery.

The young soldier, 23, was flown back by the army from France to attend the funeral. The family was wiped out last Saturday in an automobile accident near Providence, Ky. The war department, notified of the tragedy, arranged to bring the soldier back from France.

He crossed the ocean yesterday in the plane which returned Gen. Mark Clark to New York, and was flown to Sturgis, Ky., arriving at 12:15 a. m. today.

Young Garrett had no speculations today as to his future.

Tito Gets Resignation of Foreign Chief Subasic

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Oct. 11 (AP)—Marshal Tito's cabinet today had the resignations of Foreign Minister Ivan Subasic and Dr. Juraj Sutej, minister without portfolio. The official announcement did not say whether the resignations had been accepted. Subasic, former prime minister of the Yugoslav government-in-exile, had been reported in ill health recently.

Japan Offers to Trade Silk for American Oil

TOKYO, Oct. 12 [Friday]—(AP)— The Japanese government has asked Gen. MacArthur's permission to import 120,000 tons of oil from the United States, for which it is prepared to give in exchange 46,000 bales of raw silk, Domei reported today.

300,000 CHINESE REDS FIGHT IN SHANTUNG: JAPS

BY JOSEPH HEARST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

TSINGTAO, China, Oct. 11—Japanese officers estimated today that there are from 300,000 to 500,000 Chinese Communists in Shantung province.

The Communists are contesting the area with Chinese nationalist troops of the Kuomintang. Lt. Col. Isame Suemori said the Communists had been "bothersome" all during the years the Japs occupied China.

Suemori sat in an office in the one building the Japs are permitted to occupy in Tsingtao when he discussed the difficulties the Japs have had and are still having with the Chinese Communists. Altho the city is draped with the flags of the allied nations there was no Jap flag on what until recently was Jap headquarters. Maj. Gen. Eiji Nagano, Jap commander, was absent and Suemori said he had been ordered to a place about seven miles from the city limits.

Ten Japs Killed

Suemori said the Japs were having a bad time with communist troops at the little town of Tsimo, about 40 miles from here, where the Jap garrison numbers 1,500, and along the railroad running between Tsingtao and Weihsien. The Chinese ordered the Japs to guard the railroad over which internees from Weihsien were being moved but despite their efforts rails and bridges have been blown up several times.

Suemori said 10 Japs have lost their lives guarding the railroad since the Japs' surrender and that 20 others have been killed in other areas of the province. In all China, he said, there have been about 1,000 Japs killed since Aug. 15.

He asserted the Chinese Communists have had the backing of the people of the rural areas in Shantung province all thru the war and said this made it possible for them to harass the Japs. Suemori said the Communists apparently expected United States forces to land in Shantung. Jap troops once captured a village and found every house had an American flag ready to be displayed when the Americans arrived.

Claims Yanks Took Weapons

Suemori claimed that some American marines had stolen swords and pistols from the Japs in Tsingtao before they were ordered outside the city limits in preparation for the landing today of the 6th marine division which will occupy Tsingtao until Chinese government troops have the city area under control.

Yesterday was a national Chinese holiday, the "Double Tenth"—akin to the Fourth of July in the United States—and shops were closed. But the streets were jammed with people who greeted each group of Americans with cheers, handclaps, and firecracker explosions.

Masked, painted Chinese in gaily colored robes danced thru the streets on stilts behind small bands which consisted chiefly of drum and cymbal players. Many headed for the race course where 10 races were run but thousands simply milled thru the main streets.

The Americans, under the command of Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, discovered a new form of transportation in Tsingtao, where the hills make it profitable for the owners of horse-drawn vehicles to compete with the ricksha pullers. The horse-drawn taxis all appear of ancient vintage—some of the surrey type minus the fringe on top — while the horses seem a little bigger than American ponies. The driver waves the whip frequently but so far as could be noticed tickled rather than struck his horse.

Few foreign residents were on the street yesterday and it is understood German, Jap, and Italian nationals are due to be rounded up for close investigation. Many Japs are said to have signed over their property to Chinese friends in the hope of escaping confiscation.

CALLS FOR REMOVAL OF GI'S FROM CHINA, BURMA, AND INDIA

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP)— Rep. Mansfield [D., Mont.] called today for immediate removal of American troops from China, India, and Burma, and "an explanation of our policy in the far east."

Mansfield, who served last winter as an observer in the orient, told the house that "our position in China is confusing, to say the least."

"There are too many powder kegs in that country and we do not desire to become involved in any of China's internal difficulties," he added.

DEBATE FATE OF NAZI GENERAL IN KILLING OF GIs

Dostler to Hear Verdict at Rome Today

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

ROME, Italy, Oct. 11—The five members of an American military commission tonight were debating the fate of Gen. Anton Dostler and will announce the verdict tomorrow in the case of the first German commander United States authorities have tried as a war criminal.

Dostler, who led the 75th corps in northern Italy, is accused of having issued the order on which 15 American soldiers were executed by a firing squad on March 26, 1944. The Americans were captured after landing from rubber boats to blow up a rail tunnel, and were executed at Punta Bianca.

The commission, if it finds Dostler guilty, can sentence him to death by hanging or shooting or can fix a lesser penalty. A verdict of guilty would be subject to review by Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, American supreme commander in the Mediterranean theater. He could decrease the penalty. If Dostler is acquitted his status will revert to that of a prisoner of war.

Prosecution Asks Death

Maj. Frederick W. Roche, prosecutor, summing up, ridiculed Dostler's claim that headquarters of Field Marshal Kesselring had ordered the executions. He also asserted Dostler's attempt to put the blame on Hitler was not valid.

Dostler had testified he interpreted an order from Hitler to apply to the Americans. Roche said:

"Hitler's order, which was in violation of the Geneva convention, stated that allied commandos and saboteurs seized by the German army were to be exterminated. But it also said they were first to be turned over to the German security police. Dostler ordered the shooting before trying to contact the police. The Americans were in uniform and on a legitimate military errand and didn't come under the Hitler order.

"Dostler says that there was a second Hitler order that provided for the immediate execution of commandos and saboteurs, but the defense never produced a copy.

"Dostler violated the rules of war. The penalty is death."

Defense Blames Higher-ups

Col. Claudius Wolfe, defending Dostler, insisted the guilty were Kesselring and Hitler.

"Dostler was only obeying orders," he argued.

Roche had put on the stand a German lieutenant, Hans George Schulz, who had been adjutant to Col. Almers, commander of the fortres sbrigade that seized and shot the Americans. Schulz testified that a telegram from Kesselring's headquarters forbidding the executions arrived three and a half hours after the GIs had been shot.

A German naval officer had testified he appealed to Kesselring's headquarters after trying to have Dostler call off the executions.

Observers for the Nuernberg commissions were present and their reports may set the pattern for the war crime trials at Nuernberg, Germany.

A soldier's three small children, abandoned by their mother who vanished Wednesday after writing a note declaring she "wanted nothing more to do with them," were rescued by police last night from their home at 1316 Roosevelt rd.

The mother, Mrs. Barbara Montoya, 25, carrying two suitcases, told a neighbor that she was going to Texas. Twenty-four hours later the crying of the children attracted other tenants who called police. In her note, Mrs. Montoya told of a quarrel with her husband, Anastasia.

The children, scantily clad and hungry when found, were taken to Juvenile home. They are Pat, 7; Rosie, 5, and Frank, 1.

BLAME HITLER AT HADAMAR

WIESBADEN, Germany, Oct. 11 (AP)—Adolf Hitler issued the order that sent thousands of Germany's incurably insane to death, the American court trying seven Germans for mass killing at the Hadamar insane asylum was told today.

Dr. Hans Quambusch, former chief prosecutor of the Wiesbaden District court, testified that his superior at Frankfurt was summoned to Berlin in 1941 and shown a photostatic copy of an order signed by Hitler for the killing, in state institutions, of the mentally ill who were "in very bad condition."

Prosecutors were instructed to take no action on complaints filed by relatives or friends, Quambusch said, but merely to report them to the ministry of justice.

Under cross-examination, he testified that the order did not apply to foreign nationals. It is for the death of more than 400 Russians and Poles that the defendants are being tried.

EXONERATES BELSEN MAN

LUENEBURG, Germany, Oct. 11 (AP)—Franz Hoezler today told the British military court trying him and 44 other Germans for crimes at two concentration camps that it had the wrong man in Oscar Schmedidzt, a defendant.

He testified Schmedidzt was an internee at the Belsen camp, lost his clothes fighting, and was arrested by British guards.

"He was thrown into our room," the SS [elite guard] leader said. "We gave him SS trousers and a tunic. From then on he was held as an SS man."

HUMANITY HIT BY NAZI CRIMES, ALLIES CHARGE

BERLIN, Oct. 11 (AP)—A massive indictment against the fallen nazi hierarchy listing their crimes against all humanity and against the German people has been drawn in detail. It will be handed to the international court in Berlin, probably next Monday.

The indictment will form the basis of the trial against 24 leading Nazis at Nuernberg this winter—nazi rulers, diplomats, and militarists.

The document was put together from tons of evidence by the United States prosecutor, Justice Robert H. Jackson, and his Russian, British, and French associates.

Traces Life of Naziism

The indictment is compressed into 43 typewritten pages of some 20,000 words and it traces naziism from its birth to its collapse.

In collectively accusing the nazi regime of conspiracy against humanity, the indictment charges Hitlerism with imposing its will upon the German nation as the first item toward embarking upon rapine and the slaughter of other nations.

Crime after crime is listed in detail, from gas chamber extermination of millions to the wanton murder of 150 surrendered and disarmed American troops in a potato patch at Five Points in Belgium during the winter battle of the Ardennes.

List Piracy on High Seas

Piracy on the high seas in which neutral ships were sunk and neutral lives were lost is among the counts charged against the 24 defendants.

They are indicted individually as well as collectively.

Hermann Goering, whose bombers first were loosed against Polish cities, then Rotterdam and London, is charged with these offenses and with helping father the Gestapo, the secret German police.

The documentary evidence from which the indictment was drawn against Goering shows that, as Prussian premier, he collaborated with Heinrich Himmler in Gestapo outrages. Himmler committed suicide soon after the British captured him.

Julius Streicher is singled out as having been an originator of the anti-Semitic movement.

Hitler's name was omitted from the list, it was explained, because there is some reason to believe him dead.

Seize Hitler Youth Leader

WIESBADEN, Germany, Oct. 11 [Reuters]—Dr. Kurt Petter, organizer and leader of the Hitler Youth, was taken into custody at Habolehausen, United States 7th army headquarters announced tonight. Petter had previously been arrested but was released by mistake from an internment camp.

COMMANDANT OF LUZON PRISON CAMP ACCUSED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 11—Col. M. S. Janairo of the Philippine army today told the congressional committee investigating conditions in the concentration camp at Capas, Luzon, following the fall of Bataan, that:

Filipino officers, serving under the Japs' puppet government, seized the personal property and food of enlisted men in the camp and beat them for making the slightest mistakes.

Officers were beaten by superior officers and even sick war prisoners were punished severely.

Officers forced sick enlisted men to eat spoiled food.

Janairo was a leader of the administrative unit in Capas under Gen. Guillermo B. Francisco, the camp commandant. He said Francisco was informed of abuses within the camp bu took no action to end them.

HOW U. S. FLYERS CREATED SECRET 'DEATH BOMBER'

Filled Old Flying Forts with Explosives

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 11 (AP)—Disclosure of one of the most dramatic chapters of World War II.—how dozens of American airmen flirting with death worked in secrecy to develop a "death bomber" as an answer to the Germans' rockets and buzz bombs—was authorized today by the army air forces.

The "death bomber," forerunner of the atomic bomb in that it was designed to destroy enemy personnel and war installations over a wide area at a single blow, was born at a United States bomber base in England.

Principally it comprised a worn-out Flying Fortress jammed with tons of explosive many times more powerful than TNT.

Guided by Radio

Good for no other purpose because its tour of bombing missions had made it unsafe for formation flying, the pilotless B-17—once $250,000 worth of airplane—would be sent crashing down on its target by means of radio apparatus in a small control plane flying near-by.

Because of the hazard involved, only volunteers and veteran flyers were assigned to develop the "death bomber," which "died" as it killed.

A crash on takeoff might have killed every one at the base. Once safely in the air, the two man crew of pilot and co-pilot bailed out and the bomber was guided over the English channel by radio control.

Not Used Extensively

Spared from the salvage pile, dozens of old bombers were consigned to this project when the Germans began their flying bomb and rocket bombardment of England.

Because the air force was loathe to use any weapon unless its aiming accuracy was assured, the "death bombers" were not employed in great number. A few were dropped on the concrete buzz-bomb launching runways the Germans built along the Pas de Calais coast of France. After that the war rolled so swiftly that standard bombing filled the bill.

The Kamikaze technique later evolved by the Japanese resembled the "death bomber" idea, but no flyers were in the American planes.

The project was a brain child of Lt. Gen. Doolittle's 8th air force. Its development occurred in the 8th's 3d bomber division, commanded then by Maj. Gen. Earle E. Partridge.

Craft Painted White

The experiment centered, however, within the Flying Fortress group of Col. William David of Calhoun, Ga., former University of Georgia football star.

The bombers, conspicuous with white paint, were parked in the open but camouflage netting apparently hid them successfully from German reconnaissance planes. A few flyers were killed in the tests.

The Forts were stripped of their guns and equipment to make room for the explosives. Airmen tinkered with P-38 Lightnings and other fighter types, trying them out as radio control ships.

Navy and marine officers—a rare sight at army bomber bases in England—arrived and lent their skill to the project. Tight lipped guards kept curious soldiers away from the planes and hangars.

EX-PREMIER ASKS A NEW TRIAL FOR DOOMED LAVAL

PARIS, Oct. 11 (AP)—Former Premier Paul Reynaud, condemned and imprisoned by the Vichy government during the German occupation, today headed a list of prominent French figures demanding a new trial for Pierre Laval, his political arch-enemy.

Laval, dressed in a condemned man's suit of burlap sacking, was transferred yesterday to a cell in death row at Fresnes prison and chained to a wall with leg irons.

Reynaud, the last pre-Vichy premier, was quoted by the newspaper L'Ordre as saying that "if the verdict could be submitted to the court of appeals there is not the slightest doubt it would be reversed."

Laval's attorneys today appealed to Gen. de Gaulle for a new trial, but Prosecutor Andre Mornet said he was confident the conviction would stand.

UNIVERSAL LOT BESIEGED BY 500 MOVIE PICKETS

Painters' Union Declared Bargaining Choice

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 11 (AP)—Mass picketing spread to a second movie studio today. But there was no renewal of the violence that has resulted since Friday in injuries to more than 100 and the arrest of nearly 350 on charges of rioting and refusing to disperse.

Universal studio, where about 500 pickets assembled early today, halted production, as had the Warner plant, scene of sporadic rioting between strikers and nonstrikers for almost a week.

A picket asserted over the loudspeaker at Warner's this afternoon that "Warner Brothers will remain the battleground" and that picketing at Universal will return to normal. "The only reason we went to Universal today was to show we can shut down another studio any time we want to," he added.

Pickets Walk Away

At noon, when the picket line at Universal had dropped to about 200, half that number of Los Angeles policemen arrived and all but six of the pickets walked away.

At Warner's the picket line was augmented to about 800 by the arrival of 400 employes of the Lockheed aircraft plant. Union officials yesterday predicted from 5,000 to 20,000 Lockheed members would turn out.

More than 200 sheriffs were on duty at Warner's, where a mobile radio station capable of communicating with the sheriff's office in downtown Los Angeles and sheriff's department patrol cars was stationed.

No Arrests Planned Today

Inspector John Henry of the sheriff's department said there was no plan to repeat yesterday's action when deputies rounded up pickets and turned them over to Burbank police. The latter booked them on charges of rioting and refusing to disperse, then liberated them on $500 bond or on their own recognizance.

Tom McNett, president of the AFL machinists' union at Lockheed, told its picketing members in midforenoon they could report for work, as their placer would be taken this afternoon by other Lockheed workers. The picket line at Warner's at that time had dropped to 150.

Painters Win Election

The AFL Painters' union was declared the bargaining choice of studio set decorators as the result of a labor board election held last May 24 was belatedly disclosed today. Stewart Mecham, NLRB director here, said the Painters' union received 55 votes to 45 for the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes.

Both groups had claimed jurisdiction over the set designers. It was over this issue that the strike by the Painters' union started seven months ago.

Fined for Slaying

[Associated Press Wirephoto]

Lt. John J. Lynd with his wife, Janet, in Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 11 (AP)—A merchant marine lieutenant, John J. Lynd, who admitted he fatally beat the man he suspected of making love to his wife while he was at sea, has been fined $1,000 and placed on seven years' probation.

Lt. Lynd pleaded guilty of manslaughter in the death of Benjamin J. Sullivan, with whom he fought in the Hollywood hills the night of May 1. He told Superior Judge Clement D. Nye he had heard reports that Sullivan was boasting of his exploits with his wife, Mrs. Janet Lynd. These stories, he admitted, proved later to be baseless.

"Some men walk away from such a situation," commented the court. "Some want to kill their wives, and others take it out on the interloping male. It's a tragic situation and none of us knows what he'd do if confronted with it."

LAW TO FORCE UNIONS TO KEEP PLEDGES URGED

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11 (AP)—Legislation to make labor unions "mutually responsible" with employers for keeping contracts was urged in the house today by Rep. Robertson [D., Va.].

He called for repeal of the Smith-Connally anti-strike act, saying it "is binding only on employers . . . and puts all the responsibilities on the corporations and none on the unions."

Robertson added: "If we are to avoid labor friction that may hinder . . . and possibly defeat successful reconversion . . . the labor relations act should be amended to provide for mutuality of responsibility between employer and employe."

DOCK STRIKERS AGREE TO TALK OF SETTLEMENT

New York, Oct. 11 (AP)—Government intervention in the 11 day old strike of longshoremen, which has turned New York harbor into a port of idle ships, was accepted today by the dock workers' leaders, who agreed to confer with two federal conciliators.

The action was indorsed later at a session of the AFL International Longshoremen's association's negotiation committee.

Conciliation Commissioners J. R. Mandelbaum and John A. Burke said in a statement following the session that the committee voted to meet with them "to further the negotiations between the union and the New York Shipping association," which is the employer group.

Officers Load Ship

As the government stepped into the strike, involving from 35,000 to 60,000 stevedores, army officers sought to expedite the return of troopships to Europe to pick up service men.

Sixteen volunteer officers, ranging in rank from second lieutenant to major, loaded one cargo carrying troopship which arrived in port today.

"As far as I know," Capt. Andrew Crowley of the army transportation corps said, "it's the first time such a thing has happened here in the history of the army."

Previously two Liberty ships left for Europe without cargo.

The strike, which centers about a dispute over the load to be carried in cargo loading nets, has tied up more than 350 ships.

NURSES TO RETURN

Bristol, Va., Oct. 11 (AP) — Ten nurses who left their posts at the King's Mountain Memorial hospital yesterday, leaving a skeleton staff and volunteer recruits to care for 63 patients, agreed this afternoon to return to work tomorrow morning pending a meeting to be held Saturday. They are not members of any union.

The nurses, complaining of administrative conditions and other grievances, told a hospital executive committee this afternoon that the superintendent spends too much time in the operating room and not enough time supervising the nurses.

In return for their resumption of work, the nurses have been promised by the executive committee a full investigation of conditions.

TRANSPORT STRIKE VOTED

Boston, Mass., Oct. 11 (AP)—Employes of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway system, which serves nearly a million daily bus riders in 71 cities and towns, voted 2 to 1 to strike Saturday morning, a union wage committee reported today.

Demands for $1.35 an hour for drivers and a 40 per cent increase for other employes had been countered with a company offer of $100 bonus now and $25 at Christmas. Some 2,000 employes voted.

BRITISH CABINET PONDERS ACTION ON DOCK STRIKE

Walkout Grows; Fear Food Crisis

LONDON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee and his Labor cabinet conferred today on the spreading dock strike, which is throttling most major ports and threatening a food crisis.

George Isaacs, minister of labor, turned down a request from the "wildcat" strikers that he intervene. He said they would have to go thru "the special channels of the trade unions," whose orders to go back to work the men have ignored. More than 40,000 were out.

Food estimated up to 100,000 tons lay spoiling in some of the 400 ships tied up.

Hope for Settlement

There were some hopes for settlement. Union leaders, against whom the wildcat walkout was largely directed, assured London strike leaders they would begin negotiations next week with employers on the strikers' demand for minimum daily wages of 25 shillings [$5] instead of the 16 to 24 shillings now paid them.

The London strikers voted "no confidence" in their leaders, however.

With men already idle in the great shipping centers of the London area, Merseyside, Tyneside, Teeside, and the Humber, the strike spread to Glasgow and to Bristol. Five hundred more quit at Newcastle-on-Tyne.

Big Docks Idle

Two thousand more quit at five London wharves, persuading port clerks, who check cargoes, to go out with them. Tonight cranes hung motionless over ships at these big docks and work had almost halted at three others.

British troops took over unloading of perishable food cargoes at Manchester and Grimsby, and 1,400 soldiers were ready to start tomorrow unloading 96 ships at Liverpool.

Workers promised not to quit at Southampton, a major embarkation point for homeward found United States soldiers.

EIRE ABOLISHES ITS PRESENT METHOD OF ELECTING SENATORS

DUBLIN, Eire, Oct. 11 [Reuters]—Eamon de Valera, prime minister of Eire, announced in the dail [parliament] tonight that the present method of electing members of the senate would be abolished because it had been shown that it had lent itself to "bribery and corruption" due to the small number of votes required to elect certain members.

[Of the 60 members of the senate, 11 are nominated by the prime minister, six by the universities, and the remaining 43 are chosen from five panels of candidates established on a vocational basis, representing public services and professional interests.]

U. S. PREPARES FOR INDUSTRIAL GAS RATIONING

Acts as Coal Talks Fail to End Strike

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11 (AP)—The government tonight prepared for possible rationing of manufactured gas to industrial users as soft coal strikes continued to spread and conciliation talks remained deadlocked.

Labor Secretary Schwellenbach recessed until 11 a. m. tomorrow the conference between John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, and the bituminous coal operators. The fruitless discussion has been going on five days.

During the day the number of struck mines rose from 831 to 879, involving 187,037 men. The day's production loss was 1,044,403 tons and the total tonnage lost since the strikes began Sept. 21 soared to 8,641,717.

Truman Hears Report

At issue is a demand for recognition by the operators of Lewis' foremen's union. A report on the lack of progress in the peace talks was given to President Truman today by Schwellenbach.

The developments prompted John D. Small, chairman of the new civilian production administration that will take the place of the war production board, to recall a staff of experts to prepare for the rationing of manufactured gas should the soft coal strikes make that necessary. Householders would not be affected by the ration plans, he said.

Plan Coal Shipmnts

Interior Secretary Ickes, at a news conference, said that despite the strikes the government still expects to ship its full quota of 8 million tons of coal to Europe this winter.

While the daily loss in production this week has passed the million ton mark, Ickes expressed the opinion that government rationing of coal would not be necessary. He said that coal dealers themselves knew what each customer required and could impose their own rationing system.

PIG IRON OUTPUT CUT

Fifteen thousand tons of pig iron production have been lost at the Gary, Ind., mills of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation because the company has been forced to close four of its blast furnaces, a company spokesman said today.

County Jail Guard Shot by Robber in Grocery

Virgil Mitchell, 43, Negro, 5620 Michigan av., a guard at the county jail, was shot in the neck last night by one of three Negro gunmen whom he interrupted in an attempted robbery in a grocery at 209 E. 37th st. While he was waiting in the rear, Mitchell overheard some one tell his wife, a clerk in the store. "This is a stickup." When the robbers saw Mitchell, one of them fired and then the three fled.

Koga, Jap Navy Chief, Killed by Air Crash in '44

TOKYO, Oct. 12 [Friday] (AP)—Adm. Mineichi Koga, former commander in chief of the Japanese combined fleet, was killed in a plane crash in March, 1944, while fleeing a heavy American air raid on the Palau Islands, the newspaper Asahi reported today. Koga's plane ran into a thunderstorm and crashed into the sea. All aboard were lost.

MESS HALL FIRE DAMAGE $50,000 AT GREAT LAKES

Fire partly destroyed a four wing mess hall at the Great Lakes Naval Training station yesterday, causing a loss estimated at $50,000. Approximately 200 sailors took part in fighting the blaze. No one was reported injured.

The fire was discovered shortly after the noon meal and was put under control about an hour later. Fire equipment from Waukegan and North Chicago assisted the station's fire department, directed by J. J. Graham, civilian fire marshal.

The blaze destroyed half of the mess hall which was built in 1940 at a cost of $100,000 and is one block west of the athletic field. It seats 4,500 sailors and marines every day. A flareup in a grease duct was blamed for the blaze.

PATTON SAYS HE DOESN'T ASPIRE TO BE POLITICIAN

WIESBADEN, Germany, Oct. 11 (AP)—Gen. Patton said thru an aide today that he had no political affiliations or aspirations and authorized this direct quotation:

"I am an army officer and have no political affiliations and never even voted in my life in order to keep completely out of politics."

The statement came in answer to a suggestion by Los Angeles Republican leaders that Patton, recently relieved as 3d army commander, "would be a real candidate" for congress.

Patton's views were received by telephone from Capt. Merle Smith, at Bad Nauheim, where Patton was shifted to command the 15th army.

OPA WINS 19 FOOD PRICE CASES

Judge Michael Feinberg in Circuit court yesterday granted the office of price administration judgments of $25 to $50 against 19 food stores in Chicago which were charged with violating price ceilings. The stores also were enjoined from further price ceiling violations.

STOLE MAYOR'S POLICE ESCORT CAR, GI ADMITS

Sgt. Leonard F. Larsen, 26, of 10502 Ewing av., who has been absent without leave from the army since June 3, confessed yesterday that he and a companion soldier, also A. W. O. L., stole Mayor Kelly's police escort car last Aug. 4 at the home of Detective Joseph J. Gallagher, 8914 S. Ada st., the driver. Larsen said he and his companion, Albert Diedrich, now serving a five year sentence in the disciplinary barracks at Milwaukee, Wis., abandoned the car after a police chase. Larsen was arrested in connection with the burglary of more than 20 cases of whisky from a tavern at 7515 Cottage Grove av.

OPA TO EXAMINE COOKIE MACHINE FOR HOLE TRUTH

Investigators of the office of price administration yesterday were granted permission from Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe to inspect the cookie baking machinery of the Superior Biscuit company, 1643 Lake st. OPA Atty. Eugene Devitt told the court the company is accused of selling its cookies at overceiling prices and that its cookies, formerly whole, are now baked with a hole in the center, resulting in a saving of cookie dough.

12 GARY MILLS OUT IN MYSTERY JOB SLOWDOWN

Acts of 102 Cranemen Keeps 885 Idle

Twelve mills of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation's Gary works closed yesterday because of an unexplained slowdown since Friday by 102 cranemen. They are members of local 1014, United Steel Workers union [CIO]. Their slowdown tactics caused 885 other employes to be forced out of work, the company said.

An estimated 6,500 tons of rolled steel are lost every 24 hours the mills remain closed, the management said. The cranemen did not explain their dilatory actions nor did they file a grievance. "We believe the cranemen are showing dissatisfaction over present wages," a company spokesman said. The closed mills are of the merchant type.

Only One Mill Open

The company and the national USU-CIO opened negotiations Wednesday in Pittsburgh, Pa., on the union's demands for a $2 daily increase for all steel workers.

Only one merchant mill remained open yesterday. Cranemen continued to work at reduced speed to clear up an accumulated stock pile of 30,000 tons of rolled steel. The company said it was unable to estimate how long it would take for the cranemen to move the steel so that the 12 mills could be reopened.

700 Magazines Halted

A strike of more than 2,000 members of local 16 of the International Typographical union [AFL] in commercial job shops has prevented the printing of more than 700 publications since the strike began Oct. 3, Harry G. Cantrell, secretary of the Franklin Association of Chicago, said yesterday. Some of the publications have a nation-wide circulation.

For the first time in 62 years the weekly journal of the American Medical association was not circulated yesterday because of the strike, officials said. The journal has a circulation of 110,000 and serves as an exchange of scientific information among members of the medical profession.

The principal issue of the strike is a demand for reduction of the working day from 8 hours to 7¼ hours with no loss of pay.

Troop Sleepers Threatened

Meanwhile a dispute in the Haskell & Barker plant of the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company in Michigan City, Ind., threatened to stop the plant's production of troop sleeper cars, altho 900 of the 1,361 employes had returned to work.

The company discharged 50 welders who had refused to work with other welders who had disregarded a CIO picket line last week and entered the plant. Company officials said the welding department was entirely closed yesterday. If the remaining welders do not return, those working in the plant now will also be out of work by Tuesday, the management said.

5,000 Face Idleness

Also threatened with a shut-down is the Pullman-Standard plant in Hammond, Ind., where the sleeper cars are completed. More than 5,000 employes will be laid off Tuesday if a dispute there is not settled, the company said.

Attempts by the United Automobile, Aircraft, and Agricultural Implement Workers union [CIO] to hold an election in International Harvester company plants will be aired by the national labor relations board today. Altho the national CIO has urged the United Farm Equipment and Metal Workers union [CIO], which now represents the Harvester employes, to merge with the UAW, it has ignored the plea. The UAW petitioned the NLRB for the election.

Meanwhile production in 13 other Chicago area firms was slowed up by strikes which kept 7,503 workers idle.

Would Move Statue

A group of nurses and doctors from the west side medical center yesterday visited the Pasteur statue in Grant Park, prior to the opening of a campaign Monday to raise $25,000 for moving the statue to Convalescent Park in front of Cook County hospital.

Formal opening of the campaign will be at a luncheon of the Pasteur Memorial association at 12:30 p. m. Monday in the Chicago club. Dr. Herman L. Kretschmer, president of the association, will speak.

Removal of the statue, weighing 276 tons, has been authorized by the Chicago Park district. At present, it rests on the west lawn of the Chicago Natural History [Field] museum.

GLOBAL AIR BODY SEEKS LANDING RIGHTS SOLUTION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 11—A subcommittee of the provisional international civil aviation conference today reported its plan of attack on the problem of gaining international air landing rights so that the big air liners projected for the future may begin transatlantic flights.

The subcommittee, headed by Frederick Bowhill, titled air chief marshall of Great Britain, announced that it intends to outline "maximum" and "minimum" demands of the United States, Canada, England, and the other European nations involved, and prepare a series of statements of national policy that can be used to correlate the two extremes.

This subcommittee will continue work, probably for a week or more, and submit a report to the organization's air transport committee. Later the work will be turned over to another subcommittee. In all, the problem, which is holding up mass air transportation to Europe, may remain in the committee stage for another month or two.

U.S. MAY BOOST CLOTHING PRICES TO SPUR OUTPUT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11 (AP)—If the current program to increase production of cheaper clothing fails, it may be necessary to increase prices to encourage output, John D. Small said today.

Small is chief of the new civilian production administration, which will take over when the war production board is liquidated Nov. 3.

He told a news conference he should know in about a month whether the clothing program now in effect is going to work. If it doesn't, he will recommend "incentive pricing" to the OPA. By this is meant price increases to stimulate production.

STEVENS HOTEL SLAYER TELLS OF FIGHT TO DEATH

Killed Pal, 16, to Escape Crimes, Says Cook

Donald Jay Cook, 16, captured near New Orleans, La., after a search since May 11 for the murder of his pal, Morton Stein, 16, in the Stevens hotel, confessed the slaying yesterday to Louisiana and federal bureau of investigation investigators. The killing occurred in a fight, Cook said, because of his refusal to join Stein in robberies.

Morton Stein

Stein was stabbed and beaten to death in his Stevens room early the morning of May 11.

Cook, then 15, boarded a bus hours before Stein's body was discovered, and headed for Texas. He arrived in Dallas, stayed there three weeks, then moved to New Orleans.

Under Arrest Three Weeks

Cook's theft of an automobile led to his arrest. On Sept. 18 he was picked up by Louisiana state troopers in Jefferson parish, outside New Orleans. He was held for nearly three weeks before authorities discovered he was wanted in Chicago. After his confession, the F. B. I. charged him with violating the federal fugitive act.

Cook, son of Mrs. Isabel Edwards, whose last known address was 1031 Bryn Mawr av., said he met Stein at Montifiore school in April. Thereafter, he said, Stein committed two robberies, his victims being a bookie named Goldman, and a storekeeper named Jack Snewr. With the loot, Cook said, they went to New York, stayed a few days, then returned to Chicago and the Stevens. Cook said he balked at joining Stein in a robbery. Cook went on:

"He said if I didn't, he would place the blame on me for the other two. I said all right, but I was leaving. Then Stein picked up a hunting knife and came at me.

Faces Return to Chicago

"I picked up a blackjack — both weapons were his — and hit him. The blackjack split. He still kept coming. I hit him with my fists. His knife dropped. We started struggling for it. Then he broke away from me and lunged. I grabbed the knife and struck."

The Chicago youth is being held in the Jefferson parish jail at Gretna, across the river from New Orleans. Last night Lt. Phil Breitzke of the Chicago homicide squad, left by plane to bring him back.

DAILY WORKER LAUDS REPORT OF MARSHALL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11—The Daily Worker, official organ of the Communist party, today lauded the report of Gen. Marshall, army chief of staff, on the last two years of the war because it attributed the major share of the victory in Europe to Russia and Britain.

In its leading editorial, the communist publication said Marshall demonstrated that a correct American foreign policy, based upon following the Moscow line, is needed as a guarantee of world security.

The editorial chastised the United States and Britain for failure to work with Russia before the war, ignoring the fact that the Stalin-Hitler alliance, in the opinion of the majority of observers, precipitated the war in 1939.

OUST 5 IN PROBE OF MICHIGAN BOYS' SCHOOL

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 11 [Special]—The discharge of five employes of the state boys' vocational school, an institution for delinquent juveniles, was ordered today by the state juvenile institute commission after investigation of conditions at the school. The school houses approximately 450 inmates.

Judge Stephen H. Clink of Muskegon Probate court and commission chairman, said the accused employes, four men and a woman, were guilty of misconduct ranging from cruelty toward inmates to general inefficiency. Clink said records of the commission's investigated relating to several employes, would be turned over to the Ingham county prosecutor's office, probably with recommendation for criminal action.

Those discharged are: Wes Gardner, 43, supervisor of the disciplinary cottage; Abe Hyma, 55, in charge of a dormitory; Ralph Osmer, 47, chief cook; Mrs. Gertrude Bennett, 50, telephone operator; and D. J. Muzzey, 49, maintenance director.

MOST OF UNRRA FUNDS USED UP, PRESIDENT SAYS

20 Millions Remain Out of 800 Millions

BY WILLIAM STRAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11—President Truman told congress today that the 800 million dollars which the United States has contributed for international charity under the sponsorship of the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration is virtually exhausted.

He urged immediate appropriation of an additional 550 millions which, it was disclosed, all will be spent by Dec. 31 for the aid of peoples in war torn countries abroad.

In his fourth report on United States participation in UNRRA, the President warned that the task of foreign relief is just beginning.

Life Depends on Aid

"Life abroad in the coming winter," said Mr. Truman in an accompanying letter, "will depend upon the outside assistance which this country and other countries can render to the liberated peoples."

UNNRA operations in German territory are "generally" limited to the care and return to their homes of displaced persons, according to the report submitted by Mr. Truman. Recent reports indicate that German citizens in military areas will receive only 1,300 calories in food per day, compared with 2,500 calories for displaced persons.

The reports said UNRRA, at the request of the military, is procuring 4 million dollars worth of welfare supplies for displaced persons in Germany and is seeking contributions in cash and supplies from other sources.

Italian Mothers to Get Food

In contrast to the program in Germany, Italy, which also was enemy territory, will receive up to 50 million dollars in UNRRA aid, the report said. This will include food for mothers and children, medical supplies and services, as well as aid for displaced persons.

Meanwhile, the house appropriations committee began closed hearings on the latest request for UNRRA funds. Expenditure of a new 550 million dollar appropriation by the end of the year would exhaust the 1 billion 350 million dollar authorization for this nation's share of foreign relief, a sum far exceeding the contribution of the world's other nations.

Of the original 800 millions, 20 millions remains unexpended, the President's report said. This was composed of a 450 million dollar appropriation and the transfer of 350 millions worth of supplies, services and funds from lend-lease resources.

He said the funds being requested will be expended entirely in the remaining months of this year. Apparently appealing to economy minded congressmen, he promised that the additional expenditures will be supervised by the state department in the same manner as handled formerly by the foreign economic administration under Leo Crowley.

44 Nations Pledge Funds

Mr. Truman's report covered the quarter ending June 30. Figures which it included showed that the 44 participating nations had pledged $1,882,759,991 to UNRRA as of Sept. 15, of which $1,268,750,254 has been paid or is available when requested for operating expenses, while an additional fund of $15,415,334 has been contributed for administrative purposes.

In "process of contribution" for operating purposes was $597,365,987, including the $550,000,000 pledged but unpaid by this country, while $1,228,416 was due in 1945 toward administrative expenses.

Great Britain's total pledge of $322,400,000 is paid. Russia, which is obligated only for administrative contributions because she is defined as a "liberated" country, has paid $1,000,000 and still owes $750,000 for 1945. Russia paid $800,000 in the third quarter.

THE QUESTION

What is the most valuable thing you have gained or acquired while in the service?

WHERE ASKED

Chicago Service Men's Center, 176 W. Washington st.

THE ANSWERS

Sgt. John J. McKay, Peoria—The educational value of seeing the many foreign countries that I visited is immeasurable. The friendships that I made in the service during my three years' stay are priceless. I shall never forget either of these things. It would be hard to say which was the more valuable.

Pvt. Bobby L. Trantham, Cleburne, Tex.—Being in the service has taught me to appreciate home. It proved to me that I wasn't as bad off as I thought I was. I actually saw three little girls in Italy steal some food out of a pig's trough. In no place are the people and the conditions like those in the United States.

Pvt. Ira Pollard, Stamping Ground, Ky.—For one thing the service changed my way of living. Before I went in I had the habit of drinking. Since then I have seen a lot of it and it has turned me against people who become intoxicated. It's taught me to be systematic, religious, and healthy, which is most valuable.

Staff Sgt. Stan Kardas, 4200 S. Washtenaw av.—The most valuable thing I have acquired is a wife. If it hadn't been for the army I probably never would have seen her. I was living in California and the army sent me to Chicago. She's not my wife yet, but if all goes as planned she will be Mrs. Kardas this coming Sunday.

Seaman 1st Class Al Triner, Petersburg, Va.—I was going to school when war was declared and hadn't had the opportunity to do much traveling. Now I've been in almost every state in the Union. Learning to take care of myself, traveling and meeting people is an important asset that has been added to my life.

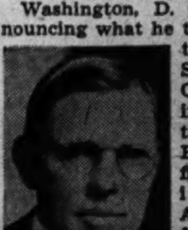
Radio Tech. 2d Class Al Haney, Los Angeles, Cal.—While I've been in the navy I have learned radio repair work. I had nine months of schooling where I was taught the most advanced data on radar, radio, television and high frequency electronics. That's schooling that I never would have gotten had I been a civilian.

SENATOR CALLS BRITISH MONEY DEALS 'ROBBERY'

BY WILLIAM MOORE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11—Denouncing what he termed "international banditry," Sen. Moore [R., Okla.] demanded in the senate today that the British end their financial discrimination against Americans or forfeit their claim to American post-war loans. Great Britain is seeking a 5 billion dollar loan.



Sen. Moore

Sen. Morse [R., Ore.] called upon the British to drop trade barriers which he said make economic peace impossible between the United States and Great Britain.

"Surely it is not too much to ask the man who knocks at your door for relief to leave his gun at home," Moore shouted.

Bring Economic Pressure

He charged that the British are bringing economic pressure to bear upon the United States for two reasons: To show their disapproval of this country's refusal to continue lend-lease now that the war is over, and to force an even more favorable American attitude toward the British insistence upon the loan of American taxpayers' money to rehabilitate Britain's world trade.

Moore took the floor to protest after writing numerous letters to William L. Clayton, assistant state secretary for economic affairs, in a thus far unsuccessful effort to have British barriers lifted.

Must Buy from British

Moore's complaint was against the British policy of requiring that materials and equipment for use by other countries within the British empire must be bought within the empire. This policy, Moore said, forces American oil companies to pay in pounds instead of dollars for equipment to rehabilitate war damaged property and the pounds are overvalued at British exchange rates.

Moreover, Moore said, much of the equipment is unobtainable in the empire. Thus, he explained, American companies are prevented from restoring their properties, while British competitors restore and develop theirs with machinery they are allowed to buy in the United States.

Asks Delay on Loan

"If the United States is to retain a vestige of self-respect in world affairs," Moore said, "it is indeed time that we assert ourselves against international banditry. I take this occasion to urge strongly that the negotiations with the British, looking to post-war financial aid, be suspended until this discriminatory order against American nations is revoked.

"Surely it is not too much to ask the man who knocks at your door for relief to leave his gun at home."

Moore read the senate letters in which Clayton assured him the state department is looking into the matter.

RETURN OF WAR 'MISSING' CUTS CASUALTY ROLL

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11 (AP)—The total of battle casualties in the war decreased 371 today to 1,070,153 as more names were stricken from lists of missing.

Army casualties, as reported to the war department thru Oct. 7, were 922,583—an increase of 107 over last week. The navy's total is 147,570, a decrease of 478.

Army figures for this week and for a week ago: Killed, 207,754 and 206,622; wounded, 571,490 and 571,664; missing, 21,510 and 22,552; prisoners, 121,829 and 121,638. Of those listed as prisoners 99,253 have been exchanged or returned to military control.

The navy figures: Killed, 55,449 and 54,986; wounded, 80,240 and 80,247; missing, 9,763 and 10,259; prisoners, 2,118 and 2,556.

ARMY RECTIFIES ERROR; FLIES MOTHER TO SON

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 11 [Special]—The 4th army air force today rectified a war department error which caused Mrs. George Engel, 1139 S. Whipple st., Chicago, to spend $98 to fly here to meet her son, en route home from the Pacific, only to find that he is scheduled to arrive in Seattle tomorrow.

Not only did the army fly Mrs. Engel to Seattle today, but it took along 10 other mothers similarly misdirected and 13 more relatives or friends of homecoming fighters who will be aboard the transport Gosper when it docks there.

Mrs. Engel had been notified by telegram from Washington, D. C., that her son, Master Sgt. Fred S. Engel, 25, a B-24 radio operator liberated from a Japanese prison camp, would arrive here about Oct. 9. Not until after she had arrived here was it learned that the Gosper had been diverted in midocean to Seattle.

BOY'S ALIBI: HE JUST WANTED TO RUN STREET CAR

Judge J. M. Braude in Boys' court yesterday continued until Oct. 18 hearing on a motion to vacate a $50 fine imposed against Eugene Liebner, 17, of 8239 Commercial av., on a charge of disorderly conduct. Liebner was arrested Wednesday while operating a street car in the barns at 93d st. and Drexel av. He said he just wanted to run a street car.

BILL IS OFFERED TO HELP JEWS INTO PALESTINE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11 (AP)—A joint resolution introduced with bi-partisan sponsorship in both the house and the senate today seeks to open Palestine to free entry of Jews while side-stepping the controversial issue of Jewish sovereignty. It proposes:

1. Establishment of an allied nations commission to aid "immediate transfer" to Palestine of axis-persecuted European Jews who want to go there "and to insure peaceful and orderly processes in securing these ends."

2. Free entry "at the earliest possible moment" of all other Jews who want to settle in Palestine, with rights to colonize.

3. As a long-range program, that Palestine "ultimately be established as a free and independent democratic state with full citizenship rights for its inhabitants without discrimination based on racial or religious factors."

HOUSE PASSES BILL TO CUT ALL INCOME TAXES

Ease Business Burdens, Excise Levies

proved by the ways and means committee.

Thirteen legislators signed a statement saying:

"We protest this rule. It is the more deplorable in that the house ways and means committee which sought it has so far kept the house from voting on the 'must' unemployment compensation measure asked for by President Truman and essential to millions who are becoming unemployed.

"Yet this same committee now rushes to the floor with a tax relief bill which, tho helpful to many in the low income brackets, gives the lion's share of tax forgiveness to those who don't need it.

Ask Ungagged Discussion

"We appeal to the public and to the United States senate for full and ungagged discussion, so that we may establish a sound pattern of post-war taxation.

Here's how the reductions would be made:

INDIVIDUALS—The house declined to repeal the 3 per cent "normal" tax outright, as recommended by the administration. Instead it applied the surtax exemptions [$500 for the taxpayer and $500 for each of his dependents] to the normal tax [now collected on net income above $500 regardless of the number of dependents]. It then reduced the graduated surtaxes by four percentage points in each bracket.

This system is equivalent to repeal of the normal tax plus a one percentage point reduction in each surtax bracket.

A married man with two children would pay no tax until his net income [before personal exemptions] passes $2,000, whereas now the $2,000 man pays $45. If he makes $2,500 a year, his 1946 tax would be $95 instead of $160 under present law; if $3,000—$190 tax instead of $275; $4,000—$380 instead of $505; $5,000—$590 instead of $755; $6,000—$800 instead of $1,005; $10,000—$1,880 instead of $2,245; $20,000—$6,020 instead of $6,785; $100,000—$61,660 instead of $68,565; $1,000,000—$810,000 instead of $900,000.

Excess Profits Tax Down

CORPORATIONS—The tax relief for business would involve cutting the excess profits tax next year from an effective rate of 85.5 per cent to 60 per cent; repealing this tax Jan. 1, 1947; reducing the 1946 corporation combined normal and surtax from 40 per cent to 36 [the cut being in the surtaxes]; repealing next July 1 the capital stock and declared value excess profits taxes.

EXCISES—The following reductions would be made next July 1:

Liquor—From $9 to $6 a gallon; beer—from $8 to $7 a barrel.

Furs—20 per cent retail back to 10 per cent.

Jewelry—20 per cent to 10.

Toilet preparations—20 per cent to 10.

Luggage—20 per cent to 10.

Admission Levies Cut

Admissions—1 cent for each 5 cents, back to 1 cent for each 10; cabarets—20 per cent to 5 per cent; due or membership fees—20 per cent to 11.

Telephone, long distance—25 per cent to 20; domestic telegraph—25 per cent to 15; local telephone service—15 per cent to 10.

Transportation of persons—15 per cent to 10.

HITS SYMINGTON; DOESN'T BELIEVE HE'S COMPETENT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11 [Special]—Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York City today told a senate war investigating subcommittee that he doesn't believe W. Stuart Symington, new surplus property administrator, is "competent" and that "tho he may be a sharp business man, I don't think he'll do to administer this law."

The mayor said cities and states are being "kicked around" when they try to buy surplus goods, altho the law says they have preference second only to federal government agencies. He charged that the preference rule has been wilfully disregarded and that local governmental units have had to acquire what surplus material they got thru junk dealers.

Symington, a St. Louis business man appointed recently by President Truman, was praised by Maury Maverick, chief of the smaller war plants corporation. He said Symington had helped clear up "indescribable confusion" in his agency.

PALESTINE JEWS SEIZE ARMS IN RAID ON DEPOT

JERUSALEM, Palestine, Oct. 11 (AP)—Armed Jews seized munitions in a raid on the Palestine military training depot today, military headquarters said, while a secret radio declared an active resistance movement had been formed to assist immigration of Jews into the Holy Land.

A large number of Jews took part in the raid, overpowered the Jewish guard, and fled with ammunition, 218 rifles, and 15 machine guns in a stolen transport, the report said.

The clandestine radio station, broadcasting in Hebrew and English from "Somewhere in Palestine," asserted that 1,000 persons were in a party which attacked the Athlith clearance camp yesterday, aiding 208 illegal Jewish immigrants to escape.

[United States troops in Palestine have been ordered evacuated and Palestine will be out of bounds for all American troops on leave, Reuters reported.]

BRITISH CONSUL IS PICKETED ON JEWISH POLICY

Eight veterans of overseas fighting yesterday picketed the office of the British consulate, 360 N. Michigan av., in protest against Britain's policy in Palestine which prevents the immigration of Jewish refugees.

The veterans carried placards reading, "Six million Jewish dead demand justice," and announcing a meeting sponsored by Jewish organizations to be held at 7:30 p. m. Monday in the Stadium.

Approximately 25,000 persons are expected to attend the rally which will be addressed by Sen. Brooks, Mayor Kelly, and Rabbi Solomon Goldman.

$176,088 Paid by State in September Blind Aid

Raymond M. Hilliard, Illinois public aid director, reported yesterday that 5,109 persons received $176,088 in state funds last month under the blind assistance program. The average payment was $34.47 per person.

You're in good company . . . in Southern New England

No matter where you go in industrial Southern New England, it won't be long before you come upon the plant of a well-known manufacturer.

For example, here in Eastern Connecticut, nationally-famous typewriters, locks, firearms, silverware, brushes, tools, safety razors, rugs, vacuum bottles, aviation engines and propellers, rubber goods, shaving cream, soap and skin lotion, as well as many other products, are manufactured.

Every one of these products has a name as familiar as your own. Many of them had their beginnings here. Others have come because of conditions favorable to manufacturing... generations of skilled craftsmen; abundant power; fair taxes; industrially-minded banking; State and local government that grew up with industry and understands its problems.

But that is only part of the story.

Southern New England lies in the heart of the world's richest, most-highly concentrated market.

Within a radius of 500 miles live 58,000,000 people to absorb not only Southern New England's consumers' goods but her producers' commodities—the tools and parts that go into other industries.

And because no part of Southern New England is more than 125 miles from tidewater and the great ports leading to foreign markets, manufacturers locating here will be at the threshold of the huge overseas trade that will develop with the coming of peace.

Southern New England offers better personal living, too, for it abounds in charming residential communities with good schools, churches, lakes, hills and sandy beaches—all close by.

In planning your tomorrow, don't overlook Southern New England—perfect for your new or expanding business... and for your all-around enjoyment of life.

An industrial booklet in full color, "Southern New England for Tomorrow's Industry", is yours for the asking. Write to P. E. Benjamin, Manager of Industrial Development, The New Haven Railroad, 80 Federal Street, Boston 10, Massachusetts.

This is one of a series of advertisements presenting the industrial advantages of Southern New England.

Tanner Tells of Soviet Pressure for Trial Law

30,000 Deported

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Oct. 11—The Very Rev. A. S. Duncan-Jones, dean of Chichester, charged today that when the Russians entered the Baltic states 30,000 persons were deported and never heard from and that similar deportations were carried out in Romania, Yugoslavia, Hungary, and other countries. His charge was made before the lower house of the Church of England convocation which passed a resolution deploring the expulsion of Germans from eastern Europe and the Sudetenland.

BY HAL FOUST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 11—Vaino Tanner, whom Moscow may label Finland's No. 1 war criminal, reasserted his nationalism in his first press interview in Helsinki since the Russo-Finnish armistice of last year.

Vaino Tanner

The Reds have a special antipathy for Tanner because, before the war, they considered him a fellow traveler. He was a leader of the Social Democratic party. He repeatedly attacked nazilsm. He opposed armaments. He advocated international coöperation.

A former premier, Tanner was foreign minister when Russia attacked Finland in November, 1939, and became a militant patriot. He rallied union labor, Socialists, and leftists to fight for their country. He also vigorously prosecuted the war against Russia from 1941 to 1944 notwithstanding British and American pressure on Finland to withdraw.

Meet Secretly

The interview was in a spacious library of worn books in an apartment reached by the back stairs to escape the eyes of the communist police. Tanner, stocky, vigorous, and with a short clipped gray mustache, spoke English but preferred Swedish or Finnish. Thru an interpreter he said that the forthcoming Finnish war crime trials are based on political, rather than criminal, acts and that his first political plank was the freedom of Finland.

"From the Finnish point of view," he said, "article 13 of the armistice treaty concerned war criminals exclusively, that is persons guilty of violations of laws governing war and not persons guilty of waging war. Accordingly, both the Finnish parliament and public opinion were firmly opposed to the legislation.

"However, in the face of Russian demands, parliament yielded to prevent conflict and passed a law corresponding to the Russian interpretation of article 13."

Violates Finns' Justice

The law defines as criminal acts the provoking of the Finnish-Russian wars, but it applies only to Finnish acts.

"The law violates the Finnish sense of justice," Tanner said, "in defining as criminal acts which were not crimes at the time of their commission. One can only guess the Russian motives.

"The Russians seemingly want to cleanse themselves before world opinion and, thru the judgment of this tribunal, demonstrate that Finland started the war which broke out in 1941. This war was, however, practically a direct continuation of the 1939-1940 war, a war in which the league of nations unanimously declared the Russian aggression unprovoked, on which grounds the league expelled the soviet union from membership."

The first war, in which the country of 3,800,000 population won the respect of the world for its winter battle in the forests, ended in March, 1940. The second war opened the day Russia and Germany clashed in Poland, in June, 1941.

Reds March Thru Finland

In the interim, German divisions had moved across Lapland in northern Finland supposedly en route to Norway. Russia, over Finnish protests, had transported Red troops across southern Finland to Hanko, a Finnish port overlooking Latvia, Estonia, and Lithuania. The German transit received more publicity than the Russian transit in the allied press during the war after the Stalin-Hitler alliance was abrogated.

RULES EX-WIFE WHO REMARRIED CAN HAVE SON. 4

On a plea by Atty. Harry X. Cole, Judge Frank M. Padden in Superior court yesterday ruled that Mrs. May Sharapata Martinec, 34, of the Stevens hotel, could take her son, Kenneth, 4, to Fort Sam Houston, Tex., to join her second husband, Capt. Robert Martinec. Judge Padden stayed the order for 10 days to allow Leonard Sharapata, 36, of 3222 Gunderson av., Berwyn, the boy's father, to appeal thru his attorney, Harry Leviton. The father would have custody in the summer months under Padden's ruling.

In another case, Atty. Cole, representing Ralph W. Johnson, 30, a sailor in the Pacific, told Judge Padden that a request by Johnson's former wife, Thelma, 23, of 4119 W. 21st st., to take the couple's son, Fred, 6, to California for his health was not necessary. Cole said a physician engaged by the boy's maternal grandparents declared the child was in good health.

Padden continued the hearing until Oct. 29 and ordered an examination by a court appointed physician.

Descendant of Pulaski Pays Patriot Honor Here

Capt. Henry J. Bekier, a descendant of Gen. Casimir Pulaski, Polish patriot of the American revolution, yesterday placed a wreath at the Pulaski plaque in the United States courthouse to commemorate the death of the general 166 years ago. Pulaski was killed Oct. 11, 1779, in the siege of Savannah, Ga. Chicago Polish organizations took part in the ceremony.

SEN. BALL LAYS LABOR CHAOS TO ADMINISTRATION

Sound Policy, Revision of Tax Laws Urged

Sen. Ball [R., Minn.] told the Junior Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon in Marshall Field & Co. Wedgewood room yesterday that labor conditions in this country are in a chaotic state and that the present administration is responsible.

The Minnesota senator urged federal legislation to deal with the labor situation and an immediate revision of the tax laws to speed reconversion. He said that the excess profit tax on corporations should be repealed immediately, and a reduction should be made in high individual taxes. Income taxes in the very low groups should be repealed, he said.

Need Sound Policy, He Says

"The government's labor relations policy is in a completely chaotic state and there is a rising demand that the public be protected in the fights between labor and employers," he asserted.

"There are many labor leaders and employers who want to slug it out to the finish, but if we are to preserve the freedom of the individual and our economic system we will have to have a sound government policy which will consider the public as a party to the employer-employe relations."

Sen. Ball is co-author of a bill pending in congress which would require both employers and unions to exhaust all means of arbitration before a strike could be called in any industry producing goods for interstate shipments.

Production Called Key

"The preservation of individual freedom in this country is paramount to economic security," Sen. Ball said. "Our high standard of living in this country is not based on wage levels, but on our production capacity. Raising wages without increasing production will put us in bankruptcy.

"The philosophy that the government owes the individual a living on a high plane, without any effort on his part, is a vicious doctrine. The government, however, should owe it as a duty to the individual that he will be guaranteed a living commensurate with his efforts to work and produce."

In order to speed reconversion, he also advocated that the budget be balanced.

He urged that anti-monopoly laws be enforced as a guarantee of individual freedom. "We must also plug up some loose holes left by Supreme court decisions to the effect that anti-trust laws do not apply where a union-corporation contract is involved," he added.

BRITISH REPORT RUSSIANS SHOOT AT ARMY TRUCKS

BERLIN, Oct. 11 [Reuters]—After British transport drivers had reported "incidents" with Russian troops while driving at night, all British personnel have been advised to restrict as far as possible their use of the motor highway between Hemstadt in Baden and Berlin to daylight hours.

Cases have been reported in which shots were fired at trucks by patrols. There was no evidence that the shots were other than warnings to vehicles. It is believed the trucks may have lost their way on the highway between the British zone in western Germany and the Russian occupied Berlin sector.

There are many detours around blown up bridges in this section of the road, and owing to language difficulties discussions have arisen as to whether the vehicles had any right to be where they were.

FIVE SAILORS ACCUSE TAXI DRIVER

Theodore Schaer, of 1019 N. Pulaski rd., a cab driver, was arrested yesterday on complaint of five sailors who said he overcharged them on fare from the North Western railroad station to the Illinois Central depot. He will appear Monday in Traffic court.

REFUSE TO HEAR BRITISH HELD BUT NEVER ACCUSED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Oct. 11—Persons who were detained by Britain during the war under regulation 18-B will not be told why they were held and will not be given a chance to redeem their reputations before a court of law, Chuter Ede, home secretary, informed commons today. The regulation, which recently was revoked, empowered the home secretary to detain anyone indefinitely without charge or trial.

Ede reiterated that detainees were not held for contraventions of law.

Woman Runs and Saves $500 Ring from Robbers

Two Negro robbers early yesterday took $40 and a ring valued at $200 from Rollo Hill when they stopped him and his wife, Grace, near their home at 837 E. 56th st. Mrs. Hill saved a $500 ring she was wearing by running away and refusing to stop when the robbers threatened to shoot her.

QUIZ DELAYED INTO MOTHER'S POISON DEATH

A coroner's inquest into the death of Mrs. Fritzie Wright, 36, mother of a 10 year old daughter, was continued yesterday until Oct. 25 to enable police to search for John Casey, 37, of 1669 Milwaukee av., whom she had hoped to marry after obtaining a divorce from her husband. Mrs. Wright, who lived at 2932 N. Francisco av., died Wednesday in County hospital of an overdose of a sedative after being found overcome by gas from the opened jets of a kitchen stove in Casey's apartment.

BLONDE, A LITTLE LATE, BECOMES A LATE BLONDE!

Tresses Cut Off, She Asks Arrest of Soldier

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 11 [Special]—Miss Esther Schlum, 19, is—or was—a strawberry blonde. Her hair is still blonde, but it isn't on her head. She carried it in a paper bag when she appeared today at the prosecutor's office to complain about what had happened to her.

Her hair was hacked off, she indignantly explained, by a soldier boy friend because she was late—12 hours late—returning his car to him. His vengeance, she contended, was out of proportion to her negligence.

Authorities agreed after hearing her story and looking at the little hair left on her head and that botched in jagged rows. A warrant charging felonious assault was issued for Pvt. Robert A. Bolton, 22, of Detroit, and detectives were sent to Camp Grant, Ill., where he is stationed, to return him here.

Meet in Roadhouse

Miss Schlum gave police and Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien the following account of the loss of her hair:

She met Bolton for the first time Sunday night at the Copper Kettle, a roadhouse in Mt. Clemens, about 20 miles north of Detroit. He drove her to the Detroit apartment where she lives with two girl friends.

They met again Tuesday and she borrowed his car. It was 3:30 p. m. when she left for what was intended to be a two hour shopping trip. She planned to meet Bolton at the Copper Kettle but she didn't find him there when she drove out to Mount Clemens later in the day.

Gone 14 Hours

But he was at her place, wrathfully waiting, when she telephoned from the roadhouse. She said she would hurry. But she had a flat tire and it was 5:30 a. m. yesterday before she arrived. Fourteen hours had passed since she had left with his car.

"He grabbed me and threw me into a chair," Esther related. "He shouted: 'I'm going to show you what we do to girls like you in France.' Picking up a pair of shears he cut off my hair in chunks.

Tries to Cut Clothes

"As the cut hair lay all around me he laughed hysterically. Then he said: 'I'm going to cut off all your clothes and make you run around the block in the nude.' He started to cut my coat sleeve and I jerked away, ran to a neighbor's house, and called police."

Bolton was gone by the time police arrived and at his home his mother said he had left by train for Camp Grant yesterday afternoon.

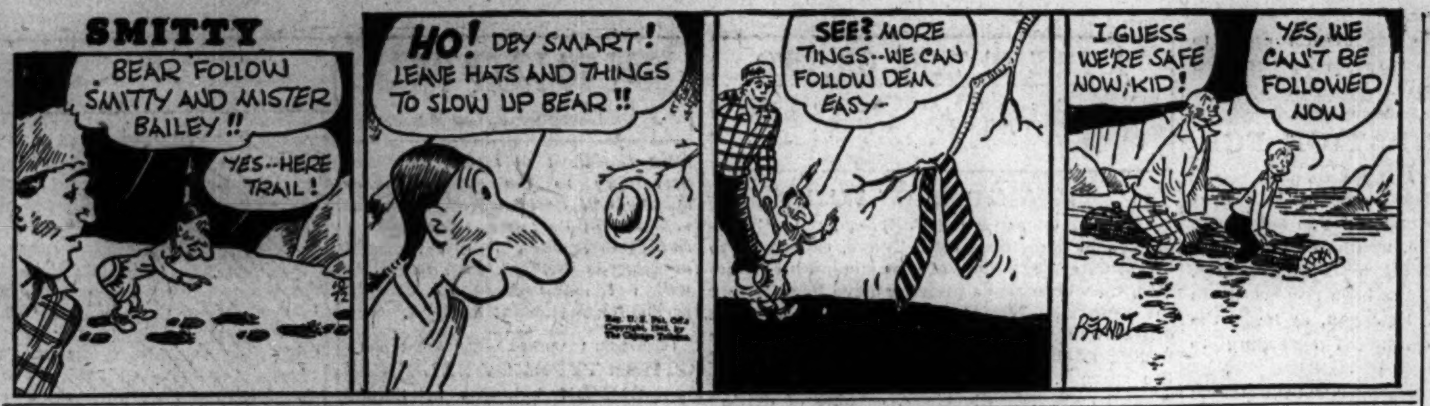
The cap had been brought home by Mrs. Pajak's cousin, Sgt. Louis Grzybek, from Okinawa. The explosion occurred in the Pajak home.



THIS DAY IN HISTORY

Oct. 12—Columbus Discovers America

THE most momentous voyage in history ended 453 years ago today.

It was the morning of Oct. 12, 1492. Three little sailboats were scudding along in the Atlantic. The Pinta, a vessel with an over-all length of about 75 feet, was in the lead. Following her came the Nina, about 70 feet, and the Santa Maria, a little larger ship and the slowest of the squadron.

On the previous day the ships had made 78 miles, an average of almost 7 knots, but at sunset the wind rose to gale force and their speed was increased to 9 knots. Every man on all the ships was excited; many signs had indicated that land was near, and a reward had been promised the sailor who sighted it first.

At 10 p. m. the squadron commander, Christopher Columbus, thought he saw a light "like a little wax candle rising and falling" on the western horizon. He called Pedro Gutierrez, who thought he saw the light, too, but Rodrigo Sanches said he couldn't see anything.

Few of the voyagers slept as the night wore on. The ships tore ahead, plunging and rolling and throwing spray. At 2 a. m. Rodrigo de Triana, lookout on the Pinta's forecastle, saw what looked like a sand cliff, white in the moonlight. Then he saw another cliff and a dark line of land between them.

"Tierra, tierra [land, land]," he shouted.

His captain, Martin Alonso Pinzon, quickly verified the find and soon a gun boomed out the signal agreed upon by all the ships. The Pinta waited for the Santa Maria to catch up. When she approached, Columbus called to the Pinta's skipper: "Senor Martin Alonso, you have found land!"

"Sir, my reward is not lost," replied Pinzon.

Columbus quickly assured him he would get the reward, 5,000 copper coins called maravedis.

In this way the New World was discovered.

BERMUDA AIR SERVICE WILL BEGIN OCT. 18

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11 (AP)—British Overseas Airways announced tonight it would begin twice weekly Baltimore-Bermuda service Oct. 18.

The five hour flight will be made with 42 ton., 50 passenger trans-Atlantic Boeing air liners.

The planes will leave Baltimore airport Thursdays and Saturdays, at 11 a. m., returning Fridays and Sundays. The BOA said the fare will be $80 one way, $144 round trip, plus federal tax. No passports are required.

TRAMMELL SAYS TELEVISION IS READY TO START

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11 (AP)—Television is ready to go in a big way, Niles Trammel, president of the National Broadcasting company said today. Testifying before the federal communications commission's hearing on proposed rules and regulations for commercial television, he asserted:

"Commercial television is ready to begin a valuable public service on a broad scale. But to be successful, it needs a governmental attitude of encouragement and sympathetic support together with maximum flexibility and minimum restriction in its development."

The Television Broadcasters Association, Inc., proposed that the FCC allocate the 13 commercial television channels so as to provide for at least 401 stations in 135 of the 140 metropolitan districts.

Which Insurance Policy shall I buy?

You know the new Illinois State Law makes it important that you carry automobile protection.

Motorists are today being offered automobile insurance by more than a score of companies.

With all these policies to choose from, which will you buy?

In the interests of insurance buyers, Lumbermens Mutual Casualty Company suggests this 6-point Buying Guide. Before you buy any automobile insurance policy, be certain it meets these qualifications:

1. The company must have a strong financial background.

2. The company must have a long established record of prompt and fair adjustment of claims.

3. The company must have offices to serve its many clients throughout the United States and Canada, and its service must follow your car.

4. The policy provisions must be broad, nontechnical and understandable.

5. Supplemental coverage must be available for injuries and hospital expense of the owner and members of the family.

6. The cost must be reasonable.

CONGRESS GETS ANOTHER REPORT ON EUROPE

Once again a congressional committee has returned from Europe talking patriotic good sense. This time the message comes from seven members of the post-war economic policy committee of the house. The committee visited every important country from England to Persia, including Russia, where the members were allowed to confer with Marshal Stalin.

The formal report will be forthcoming in a week or so. Meanwhile, a preliminary report has been issued in which the members ask the common sense question: What are England, Russia, and the other countries going to give us in exchange for the loans they are demanding?

How much of the money that Russia desires to borrow is to be used for armament with which to oppress her neighbors? How does Russia intend to repay the loan, if it is made? Evidently the members were impressed, as they had every reason to be, with the brutal military machine with which the Russians are seeking to dominate Europe.

What trade barriers, harmful to us, does the British empire mean to remove if we assist British reconstruction with credits? [Apparently the committee in asking this question was unaware of the recent insistence of the British on a multi-billion dollar gift rather than a loan.]

What advantage can America obtain from a policy toward Germany which goes far beyond disarmament and contemplates the permanent impoverishment of a nation that has been one of our best customers?

These are all highly pertinent questions which every patriotic American will wish to have answered. We hope the congressmen succeed in blasting the truth out of the state department. The committee went on to question Russia's good faith in promising to get out of the occupied countries and to suggest that Russia should be pressed to admit foreign publications and their reporters to blacked-out eastern Europe. Most significant was the recommendation that the state department negotiate for "at least partial payment" of lend-lease in the form of aviation rights, bases, raw materials, sites for embassies, etc.

The congressmen returned from their travels filled with zeal to serve America and overwhelmed with evidence of the betrayal of American interests by our agents in foreign affairs. We hope this mood survives in the Washington climate.

Experience shows that nearly every congressional committee that has gone abroad has returned in a state of mingled alarm and indignation over what the members saw. Something happens to these men and women in Washington, however. After a few weeks they are found voting as they are told to vote, in plain disregard of their own convictions and the convictions of their constituents. The explanation lies in the importance of social life in Washington and the social dominance there of the foreign embassies. They call the tune. American officialdom dances to it.

THERE HAD TO BE A FIX

Municipal Judge Borrelli says that he issued a warrant three weeks ago for the arrest and commitment to the Bridewell of Joseph Winkler, a tenement owner who repeatedly has escaped punishment for violating building, health, and fire ordinances.

Winkler isn't in the Bridewell. Judge Borrelli says he doesn't know what happened to the warrant. Needless to say, it was his business to know.

Winkler has obtained some 38 continuances when he was arraigned in the License court on various charges of maintaining buildings in unsafe and unhealthful conditions. Judge Borrelli says he granted only a couple of continuances and that the others were granted by his predecessors in that court. The extent of Judge Borrelli's responsibility is not the most important aspect of the case.

What is important is that nobody could have got that many continuances and escaped punishment for proved offenses without putting in a political fix. Nor is Winkler the only violator who has been getting away with potential murder in the Municipal court. It has been a common complaint for several years by the Chicago fire department that no matter how assiduously it works to detect and prove violations of the fire ordinances it rarely succeeds in having a violator punished.

It is unnecessary to go into details about venality in the Municipal court of Chicago. Every one who knows anything about local politics knows that perhaps the majority of its judges are nothing but stooges for the ward committeemen who got them on the Democratic ticket, and that many of these judges can be reached.

The license division isn't the only rotten spot in the court, but it is one of the most menacing to the life and health of the people of Chicago. It is the tribunal expected to enforce regulations protecting the health and lives of citizens. When that protection falls apart, as it has in the license division, lives and health are in danger.

The Chicago Bar association already has started an inquiry into the Winkler case. Its committee would be well advised to broaden its investigation and look into the general conduct of the License court. When it gets thru there it should find equally good hunting in other divisions of the Municipal court.

STILL BUILDING SHIPS

In a discussion of post-war prospects with reporters in Los Angeles the president of a west coast steel company disclosed that his company's backlog of orders includes ten 2,200-ton destroyers of a new design and 10 cargo ships. What makes here?

The navy already has so many ships that even the big-navy admirals have been constrained to bring forth a proposal to lay part of the fleet up in an inactive reserve, retain another third of it in port with caretaker crews, and reduce the forces in active service to approximately a third of the vessels now at sea. The navy has plenty of destroyers, the majority of them of modern design. It made a great show shortly after V-J day of canceling building orders. Why has it more destroyers on order?

The maritime commission also canceled billions of dollars in orders and congress is now debating proposals to get rid of our surplus shipping. To build more ships when we have more than we need is plain insanity. Both the navy and the maritime commission seem to think that the American taxpayer's pocket is a bottomless barrel. It isn't.

A LONG OCCUPATION FOR A BAD PEACE

Gen. MacArthur has announced that by next March the American forces in Japan safely can be reduced to 60,000 men, which is to say, four divisions. This is the best news and, indeed, the only good news that has been received from overseas in some time. In Japan, at least, the occupation is being conducted according to American principles.

A few weeks ago the general upset the striped pants boys in Washington and delighted everybody else by stating publicly that the occupying force could soon be reduced to 200,000 men. The effect was electric. People began to ask why we needed so big an army in south Germany, where there was no greater prospect of trouble than in Japan. Public opinion demanded an answer and it was forthcoming in a few days: the army in Germany also was to be reduced. It is to be hoped that Gen. MacArthur's revised estimate of his requirements will lead to another downward revision of the force to be held in Germany, against the wishes of almost every man in the army there and of their relatives here.

Every so often somebody says that the occupation of Germany and Japan must continue far into the future. There has been talk of 20 year and 50 year periods of tutelage in the ways of peace and freedom under military guard.

It is altogether certain that the United States isn't going to keep any considerable body of soldiers at this work for more than a year or two at most. Public opinion in this country, at least, will not tolerate it, if only because the need for such a display of force is lacking. Both Germany and Japan have been disarmed and couldn't cause trouble in the near future if they had the will to do so, which they haven't at this moment.

People who talk about long years of occupation must be expecting a bad peace, because only a bad peace would require that kind of continuing repression. If a huge armed guard must be kept in Germany or Japan for 20 years the probability is that there will be more need for it when it is finally withdrawn than there is today, because by that time the memory of military failure will be weak, but the desire for revenge will have grown thru the years. The task of statesmanship today is to fix terms of peace which will permit the occupations to be terminated as quickly as possible.

The argument that we must impose our will by force for a long time because years will be required to educate the defeated nations in the ways of democracy will not stand examination. What the Russians call democracy we call tyranny. Whose brand is to be taught to little Hans and little Saburo? Surely not both, but, regardless of whose textbooks are translated, the scheme won't work. Teachers and pupils alike will make a mockery of lessons imposed by alien force.

The broad principles of a peace which will not need an extended occupation are plain enough. The defeated nations must be disarmed, and must agree to remain so. If a method of inspection to see that the pledge is being kept can be found, that may help. Proposals to destroy the industrial life of the defeated countries must be rejected because these policies, if adopted, will result in widespread misery, which can only lead to social and political unrest and in the end to war. Great damage to Europe's economy has already been done by ill-advised and hasty seizures of property in Germany, but perhaps it is not too late to alter the policy.

The task of physical reconstruction in the defeated countries is a colossal one. It can be solved only if the citizens of these countries know that when they build a locomotive or a factory it isn't going to be taken from them, and when they grow crops and manufacture cloth and other civilian goods nobody is going to rob them of the fruit of their toil.

ONLY THEMSELVES TO BLAME

Citizens of Evanston, who are exhibiting public alarm over rape and other crimes of violence in their supposedly academic suburb, will do well to study the conduct of their police department in the case of a 16 year old white boy, charged with sex offenses against two little girls of 8 and 10, respectively.

The trial had to be postponed in the Juvenile court because of inadequate investigation by the Evanston police. For some time the police withheld from the court the previous record of the defendant. He had been charged before with sex offenses and prosecution was dropped on the agreement of his parents to move out of Evanston. The fact that an uncle of the boy is an Evanston policeman assigned to juvenile investigation must, we are sure, be regarded as purely coincidental.

As we have said before, crimes of violence cannot persist in a community which has an honest and efficient police force. Criminals confronted by such a force transfer their activities to less well protected communities. If the people of Evanston haven't a police force both willing to and capable of protecting them against crime they have no one to blame but themselves. It's their police force.

PHANTOMS OF FUJI

The first GI ascent of Fujiyama, recently described in dispatches from Tokyo, caused us to investigate the folklore of that memorable mountain, up whose trails pilgrims have been toiling for centuries. We found that there are reasons, other than the altitude, why the Yanks were feeling mighty queer by the time they reached the summit. They had invaded the realm of several supernatural beings, capable of casting spells and causing hallucinations.

According to an old Japanese custom, Fuji, the Never-Dying Mountain, should be climbed only by pious pilgrims in white robes, wearing broad-brimmed straw hats. Frequent ringing of a bell and chanting a prayer are also recommended. The right words for the prayer are: "May our six senses be pure, and the weather on the honorable mountain be fair." For in ancient times the goddess of Fuji, whose name is Sengen, had a habit of giving impure pilgrims a fatal slide down the slope.

Sengen is the daughter of the god who owns the mountain, known as Possessor of the Crater. She has another name which means "radiant blooming as the flowers of the trees," and to the devout, when and if seen, she is a lovely girl with generous impulses.

• • •

Another haunter of the mountain is the Luminous Maiden, who brings fogs and leads climbers into dangerous places. She once caused the death of an emperor, in whose memory there is a trailside shrine. The Yanks who huffed and puffed to the crest reported curious disturbances of vision, especially in color effects. The Luminous Maiden may have had a hand in this.

• • •

Fuji also has a legend about a Chinese emperor who sought the elixir of life upon its summit, and died there peacefully. He antedated Florida's Ponce de Leon by many centuries. Another tale concerns a peasant named Visu, the Rip Van Winkle of Japan, who slept for 300 years.

• • •

For casual alpinists, climbing Fuji is a rugged form of amusement, with an element of danger from rock slides. However, it may have more visitors in a year than Pike's Peak. This column's favorite Japanese expert has called on the Luminous Maiden five times.

JOHNNY'S COMING HOME

No more time for knitting . . . not a moment's rest.
Scour up the kitchen . . . here's the silver chest.
Everybody's busy . . . everybody's gay . . .
'Cause Johnny's coming home on the train today!

Polish up his trophies . . . make a market list . . .
Get a pound of butter . . . what an optimist!
Run the carpet sweeper . . . who could ever grieve?
'Cause Johnny's coming home, and Johnny has a leave!

Air his woolly blankets . . . make a chocolate cake . . .
Never mind the 40 points . . . Johnny's getting steak!
Gather up some flowers . . . what a roundelay!
'Cause Johnny's coming home . . . coming home to stay!

Last Word on Mrs. O'Leary's Cow

The cow that kicked over the lamp that set fire to the barn that set fire to Chicago did not perish in the flames. After the fire had moved on to the north, she was still breathing. Both the cow and her calf, saved by Peg Leg Sullivan, were sold by the O'Learys to Hynek Kleker, proprietor of a meat market at the southwest corner of Jefferson and De Koven sts., who slaughtered them. As Kleker was a specialist in minced meats, it is likely that a good part of mother and daughter went into sausage.

Kleker nailed the hide of the cow to the wall of his shop and it remained there for a long time for the populace to gape at. The Kleker family is still in the meat business on Elston av. near Montrose.

TRIBUTE TO TREES

Let me be humble in the sight of trees
That reach for stars or claim a sudden cloud;
That cradle nests and summon melodies
To feathered throats ecstatically loud.
Let me be grateful that the trees are tall,
For I may measure them with knowing eyes;
I, who am earth-bound, am no longer small,
For they have introduced me to the skies.
Let me find comfort in their stubborn roots
And discipline my anchored role on earth;
I share their petals and their startling fruits,
Their summer shadows and their leafy mirth.
When winter touches them with silver hands,
Let me respect the silence she commands.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks will answer questions of service men, veterans, and their dependents by mail if stamped envelope is sent to 435 N. Michigan av. The Tribune's veterans' bureau, 1 S. Dearborn st., Superior 0200, gives personal interviews.]

L. G. writes: "My son, who was discharged from service more than a year ago, recently was killed in an accident. During all the time he was in service I received an allowance from the government. Am I not entitled to a pension now? How much should I receive?"

You are not entitled to any pension under present laws. Only widows and children of World War II. veterans who had service-connected disability for which compensation was paid at the rate of 10 per cent or more or who were entitled to receive such compensation can qualify for a pension where death was not the result of service.

O. P. asks: "Can a veteran go to a private hospital for treatment and have the bill paid by the veterans' administration?"

Ordinarily no. Veterans with service-connected conditions may sometimes be reimbursed for treatment obtained without authorization of the veterans' bureau if there was an emergency, if government facilities were not reasonably available, or if delay in hospitalization would have been dangerous to the veteran's life.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

OTHER TYPES OF BALDNESS

COMMON baldness of hereditary origin, so frequent in men, was described in a previous article. As any one can see, treatment to date has not been effective.

There are several other conditions in which the hair falls out. Shedding may follow an overdose of X-rays or the ingestion of certain drugs. As a rule, this is a temporary situation and growth is resumed after several months. The disorder may be the sequel of an acute infection associated with high fever, or a debilitating illness in which there is considerable loss of weight and strength. Localized disease processes, such as eczema or ringworm, may be responsible.

We have all observed individuals who tug at the strands while reading, thinking, or writing. Intense itching of the scalp may precipitate the mannerism but usually it is merely a nervous outlet. We should keep in mind that the tendency is common in the mentally deranged. McCarthy describes a peculiar habit, called "trichokryptomania," in which the hairs of the scalp, mustache, or eyebrows are meticulously broken off close to the surface.

A most puzzling disorder is alopecia areata. For some unknown reason, certain areas of the scalp, beard, or other portions of the body relinquish their hirsute adornment leaving the skin with a satinlike finish and a peculiar whitish color. This may take place suddenly or gradually. At first only a round or oval region is involved. New denuded spots appear and extend into each other, producing an irregular, patchy terrain.

A stimulating, or vigorous form of therapy is recommended. Every dermatologist has a favorite remedy. Ointments and salves include oil of cade, sulfur, tincture of iodine, and various acids. The long list of medicines used is sufficient evidence that no one is a specific and all of them combined may not help a severe case. But the type of drug is not as important as persistence. Whichever one is selected it must be given a fair trial, over a period of months if necessary.

Should local applications prove useless, X-ray exposures, at the hands of an expert, may be of value. If there is evidence of an endocrine deficiency, glandular extracts may be helpful. Ultraviolet light has benefited some patients. The general health must be built up by good hygiene.

There are many theories as to the cause. The majority of authorities are of the opinion that it is a combination of glandular and nervous disturbances. A dysfunction of one or more of the endocrines frequently plays a role and the disorder has been known to arise subsequent to shock or fright.

The course is variable. In some, the disease is chronic and extremely resistant to treatment. In others, it is apparently cured only to return. Spontaneous recoveries have occurred.

VARIOUS CAUSES

R. E. writes: What makes the urine black?

REPLY

A deepening in the color is usually due to concentration either as a result of an inadequate liquid intake or a rerouting of the body fluids via perspiration or dropsy. The phenomenon may be observed in the early stages of acute nephritis as well as in yellow jaundice. In rare instances, it turns black because of disorders which are capable of destroying the red cells.

BONE CYST

J. P. writes: What is cystic disease of the bone?

REPLY

This disease [osteitis fibrosa cystica] comes in two main forms. In one, affecting children chiefly, a solitary cyst exists. In the other, the hollow spaces are more numerous and the disorder is frequently associated with a disturbance of the parathyroid glands. Occasionally bone tumors accompany the condition.

RESTLESSNESS

L. S. writes: What causes twisting and turning all night long? I wake up more tired than when I went to bed.

REPLY

A certain amount of activity is natural. It may be exaggerated in those suffering from overfatigue or nervous strain. Your physician may suggest the temporary use of a sedative until you correct the daytime factors which are causing the brain to work overtime.

BLUE BABIES

D. J. writes: Do blue babies live long?

REPLY

Assuming that the baby is breathing at birth and that the lungs are fully aerated, this discoloration usually means that a heart defect is present. The degree of cyanosis, and the underlying disorder influence the outcome.

The Road That Was

In Dearlove Road one magic night
I kept a fancied rendezvous,
And almost thought the fancy true.
Alas, it faded and took flight,
Leaving my sad heart sick with blight;
For there was I—but where were you?
In Dearlove Road that magic night,
'Twas but a fancied rendezvous.

A fancy? Ah, and yet how bright,
How flaming, brave, the vision grew
Before it waned! O, then I knew
The bitterness. I wept, contrite,
In Dearlove Road—one magic night.

ELAINE OF EVANSTON

Postscript from Elaine

It is not often wise, we feel, to explain a poem, but in this instance we have decided to quote a little from a letter Elaine inclosed with her verses. For the curious experience she has undergone calls for some inquiry.

"The beautiful name of Dearlove Road," she writes, "was etched upon my memory one rainy midnight some years ago when the sorrow of a lost love—my first—pressed like lead upon me and drove me from my bed to pace the floor. For there is an anodyne in the rhythm of walking, and it often brings me comfort, an experience known, I am sure, to all who have felt such grief as mine.

"This time, however, physical exhaustion came before the relief from pain. But sleep was still impossible, and I sank into a chair beside my desk and let my fingers move among a pile of old papers. I opened one, and it was a large map of Chicagoland, cracked at the folds from much handling—in motor cars, I imagine.

"For a moment I considered sending for my car and driving—driving anywhere at all. But the rain dissuaded. So I did my traveling with a pencil on the map, following the roads at random, zigzag, following especially those that took a diagonal course. It was thus I came to Dearlove Road—hardly an inch long on the map, hardly a mile, I would guess, in reality, lying somewhere west of Evanston.

"The name cast a spell upon my emotions, and I sat there staring at it, forming the sounds of it with my lips, until I slipped into a queer reverie in which it seemed to me that I did send for my car, that I did whirl away into the storm, that I did find Dearlove Road, with my love awaiting me, patient, drenched, hungry for reconciliation. From this illusion I drifted into a real sleep.

"Well, that is nearly the end of the strange story. Morning brought tasks to be done, and with the doing of them my emotional crisis passed.

"There is one thing more to tell, something that I cannot understand. For last night, after all these years, I looked again—on a newer map—for Dearlove Road. And I looked in vain! I know exactly where it ought to be, where it had been—connecting Milwaukee avenue with Central road at the western end of Glenview road. The black diagonal line is still there on this new map, but the name of Dearlove has vanished."

That 's Elaine's story, and we feel that some one should explain if possible what happened at the map's revision. Has Dearlove Road been closed, or its name changed? To her, she says, there is something fantastic in the facts, as if her soul itself had kept "a fancied rendezvous in Heartbreak Road one magic night."

Eternal Circle: A Fable

A little bird for breakfast had
A quite nutritious worm;
Reynard, the fox, espied the bird
And muttered, "I affirm
This bird is luncheon meat to me;"
He ate the poor thing raw.
A wild bear ate the fatted fox
[For that's the Jungle Law];
A huntsman with an arrow slew
The luckless bear and cried,
"Tonight I dine!" But presently
The huntsman, too, had died.
And while he rested in his grave
A thousand worms drew near
And fed on huntsman a la mode.
Well, here's the moral, dear:
That all who live must live on life,
And life must be repaid;
The circle's done, and circles have
No ending, I'm afraid.

THE LOW ESTATE OF CONGRESS

Chicago, Oct. 5—Congressmen and senators agitate for more pay. In all seriousness, the question before the public is whether these houses should not be eliminated. We find a recent writer in a contemporary paper saying, in quite matter of fact vein, that the President has not got out the big stick on congress over some bill he wanted passed, the implication being that he could and doubtless would in due time. We find Mr. Bowles virtually running business and saying openly this or that will be and must be. At every angle we touch bureaus apparently looking to no authority but the President, and when public clamor is loud enough, we see congressional investigations which leave us invariably with the disturbed feeling that congress does not know the score and is going only thru motions, that it has delegated its thinking prerogative to the bureaus and is content to win or lose by the following, pro or con, of public reaction to bureau edict and current results. The entire vision seems to be of our representatives sitting like umpires between the public and the bureaus, unwilling or unable and perhaps unknowing on most issues; and as things develop it appears they are overpaid when paid anything at all. They don't seem to know why they are there themselves.

SEABEE'S COMPLAINT

LEYTE AREA, Philippine Islands, Sept. 19—I'm a member of a construction battalion, commonly called a Seabee, and have been overseas for 20 months. The first consideration for discharge, it seems, was for the U. S. O. commandos back in the United States. Finally somebody woke up to the fact that there were men overseas who played a vital part in the victory. So we get credit for overseas duty. A grand total of one-fourth point for each month served overseas.

Then we found out there was a catch to the discharge system. The commanding officer has the right to hold a man out 120 days after application and brother, they're doing it! Anything to get more work out of the men. Does the war's end mean anything to the gold braid? Not a thing. "Keep the men out, we're having the time of our lives so why should we send them home?" seems to be the attitude.

Chicago, Oct. 6—I have read about the special army and navy commission being sent to England to study the problem of getting British wives back to the United States to be reunited with their GI husbands. Of course all married people should be reunited at the earliest possible moment.

But how can our government take this as a first step? Why isn't something done to speed the return home of the GI husbands of American wives? I am deeply serious when I say that God Himself must be shocked at this indifference toward a divine institution.

WHAT NAVY DAY COSTS

Chicago, Oct. 9—On Oct. 27 millions of people in New York and vicinity will thrill at the sight of a great display of our country's naval strength, in a Navy day celebration.

Would they be as thrilled, I wonder, if they knew that for the last few weeks, our navy sons, eligible for discharge and awaiting transportation home, have stood on their respective "rocks" in the Pacific and watched this parade of battleships, destroyers, cruisers, and flat tops steam stateside, carrying only the necessary crews, because [quote the commanding officer], "it is not economical to transport men on ships of this type." What, we wonder, is this Navy day celebration costing? Whatever the cost of bringing this fleet home, it would be small indeed, if each of these ships had been filled to capacity with our homesick boys.

249 BEDS EMPTY, BUT SANITARIUM MAKES 60 WAIT

Applicants Need Political O. K., Doctor Says

BY ORVILLE DWYER

While more than 60 sufferers are on a waiting list for admittance to Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium, THE TRIBUNE learned last night that there are 249 vacant beds in the institution.

Of the 249 vacancies 40 are in women's wards in the main building, 36 are in men's wards in the same structure, 35 are in women's unit cottages, 71 are in men's unit cottages, and 25 are in the admission wards. The remaining 42 are scattered thruout the sanitarium.

The empty beds comprise nearly one-fifth of the capacity of the institution, for whose operation Chicago taxpayers pay 3 million dollars a year.

Physician Learns of Vacancies

The information concerning the vacancies came from a Chicago physician, who said he had learned the number from acquaintances among physicians, nurses, attendants, and other employes at the sanitarium.

The physician said "any honest doctor" in the institution would confirm his statement.

He asserted that admissions are granted not less than two weeks after application and that applications are complicated by politics.

"They want to compel applicants to go to their ward committeemen," he said.

Dr. Frederick Tice, for years president of the sanitarium board of directors, said last night he did not know the number of vacancies.

Asked the average number of applicants awaiting admittance, he said:

"O, 60 or 70."

Survey Report Awaits Mayor

A committee of three physicians from the Mississippi Valley Tuberculosis conference submitted a report on a survey of the institution to Mayor Kelly's office yesterday. The mayor, who appoints the sanitarium board, had requested that the report be made to him personally. He was ill and at home when the report was presented, however.

Mrs. T. H. Ludlow, chairman of the Woman's City club's health committee, announced yesterday that her group will meet at 2 p. m. today with representatives of several other organizations to carry forward a much more exhaustive survey of the institution than any made thus far. The meeting will be held in the club's headquarters at 410 S. Michigan av.

200 Pound Doe Escapes While Chief Seeks Owner

ADMINISTRATOR FOR 'DOC' BROWN ESTATE NAMED

The estate of Spencer [Doc] Brown, technician for dentists and nitroglycerin maker for safecrackers, will be handled by Public Administrator Paul W. Kaiser of Lake county, who was issued letters yesterday by City Judge John R. Dills of Zion, sitting in Lake county Probate court. The estate so far discovered consists of the $6,000 bungalow at Antioch in which Brown was found dead Tuesday and two small cottages valued at $1,000 each. Search so far has not turned up the fortune Brown was reputed to have made in his traffic with criminals. He served a state sentence for aiding in the million dollar Werner Brothers safe deposit vault burglary in 1923 and a federal term for altering World War I. savings stamps.

LARGER DETAILS OF POLICE ASKED IN AREA OF LOOP

Capt. Thomas Duffy of the Central police said last night he had asked Chief John T. Prendergast of the uniformed police, for additional squads to police the downtown area during the early morning hours as the result of recent rapes in the district. Early Wednesday morning the wife of a soldier reported she was forced by a Negro to walk from the Van Puren st. station of the Illinois Central railroad to Grant park, at Congress st., where she was raped.

Finding of Woman's Foot Gives Police a Mystery

A woman's right foot, decomposed and showing signs of burns, yesterday was turned over to Racine av. police by Valentine Drozd of 1047 N. Damen av., a coal dealer. He said two boys found it in an alley in his neighborhood. Names and addresses given by the boys were found by police to be incorrect. The foot was taken to the county morgue.

Will Rogers Jr. Plans to Go Back to His Newspaper

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11 (AP)—Lt. Will Rogers Jr., son of the humorist, said today he intends to go back to newspapering—not to politics—when he leaves the army. The Californian resigned his seat in congress in May, 1944, to enter the army. "I expect to go back to my newspaper, the Beverly Hills Citizen," he told a news conference.

"I'm rushing to buy a new GAS Range!"

98% of Chicago's homemakers using modern equipment cook with a GAS Flame . . . hundreds of them are rushing to buy the New GAS Ranges as quickly as available

This modern homemaker won't be caught napping. She'll be Jenny-on-the-spot when her dealer displays another shipment of shiny, modern GAS Ranges. Supplies are not plentiful yet, but dealers who have received ranges have been flooded with orders.

Like 98 out of 100 Chicago homemakers using modern equipment, this lady cooks with a GAS Flame. That's because she prefers speed—flexibility—cleanliness—and economy. She's learned that a clean, blue GAS Flame gives the most flavorful results in oven roasting and baking, in broiling, and in cooking on the top burners. The GAS Flame gives instant heat—starts cooking immediately, saves precious time. And when you turn it off, cooking stops. No "hold-over heat" lingers to *over*cook your food.

Simmer and giant burners on the new, modern GAS ranges give you slow or fast heat instantly . . . smokeless speed broilers sizzle raw meat into delicious chops in minutes . . . ventilated ovens circulate hot, flavor-sealing fresh air freely and evenly around your roasts, casseroles and pastry tins.

Be sure to see these fine ranges as soon as they are at your dealer's.

New Gas Ranges are now available

The supply is not plentiful yet—but faster and faster these sleek new Gas ranges are coming off production lines. They're new. They're modern. They're streamlined. They embody more work-and-time-saving features than you've thought possible.

Tin Cans are Still needed

Watch your STEP. Though the War is over, a shortage of tin makes the need for tin cans as great as ever. So step on 'em . . . flatten 'em out . . . and save those tin cans for the next collection. Chicago has been falling behind in tin can collection. So let's "step on it" and make up for lost time.

KAISER and FRAZER Automobiles!

An interior view of just one section of the famous Willow Run bomber plant, one of the largest and finest factories in the world, which is now being converted for the mass production of new and advanced automobiles and modern farm equipment.

TWO of America's most widely known industrial leaders have joined forces in a great enterprise which will go far toward meeting the unprecedented automotive needs of the nation. These two men, Henry J. Kaiser and Joseph W. Frazer—the one a recipient of highest honors for his genius in mass production, the other long recognized as an outstanding leader in the automobile industry—will join in producing great new cars under their own names, KAISER and FRAZER!

They will manufacture these great new automobiles at Willow Run, Michigan, in the plant that proved to the world the incredible possibilities of American mass production. Only a plant of such proportions could provide facilities of adequate capacity for the plans of these farsighted leaders of industry.

Large numbers of fine cars will be made here, under precision methods of mass production that will utilize all the modern techniques learned and proved in years of war-time experience. Great new cars, created to suit American tastes—brilliantly engineered, smartly designed, and honestly built!

Joining Mr. Kaiser and Mr. Frazer at Willow Run are men who have distinguished themselves in every branch of the automotive industries. Men with all the mechanical "know-how" that made possible America's miracles of war production. Men who have mastered the methods of modern automotive merchandising. Men with the confidence which comes of knowing what to do and how to do it!

Mr. Kaiser and Mr. Frazer have brought these men together for one purpose—to make the finest automobiles that modern industry can produce—in quantity, with quality—at prices that will bring them to the greatest number of people at the earliest possible time.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS DAY OBSERVANCE, OCTOBER 12

According to State Deputy Raymond F. Gleason, the Chicago area Knights of Columbus will observe Columbus Day, patronal day of the Society, on Friday, Oct. 12, by attending a noon-day Pontifical Solemn High Mass celebrated at the Church of the Assumption, 310 W. Illinois Street. The celebrant of the Pontifical High Mass will be His Excellency, The Most Reverend James A. Griffin, Bishop of Springfield (Ill.) and State Chaplain of the Knights of Columbus. Bishop Griffin will also deliver the sermon.

Fourth Degree members of the Knights of Columbus, in full regalia, led by District Deputy Marco de Stefano, will escort the Bishop to the Church and form the guard of honor during the Pontifical Mass.

Columbus Post, No. 1492, of the American Legion will post the colors. Local and visiting Knights of Columbus, with their families and friends, are urged to participate in the Pontifical High Mass commemorating the discovery of America and the patron of the Society.

CHICAGO CHAPTER CHARITY BALL, SATURDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 27

Chicago Chapter's annual Charity Ball, the local Knights of Columbus' outstanding social function of the year—under the General Chairmanship of District Deputy John H. McKeown—will be held at the Palmer House on Saturday evening, Oct. 27. The 64 Chicago area councils of the Order, comprising the Chapter body, are vitally interested in the success of the annual fund raising event, the proceeds of which are directed to the National Catholic Community Service and Knights of Columbus War Service Fund, a branch of the U. S. O. Admission tickets, including tax, are priced at $1.20. A patron listing, including two admission tickets, is $5.00 "or more." The public is invited. Tickets may be secured from the council activity chairmen or by communicating with the Chapter Office, 173 W. Madison Street; telephone FRAnklin 4834.

ANNUAL COLUMBUS DAY RADIO ADDRESS

The annual Columbus Day radio address will be delivered by State Deputy Raymond F. Gleason at 10:30 p. m., Chicago Time, on Friday, Oct. 12, over radio station WCFL.

REVEAL ROLES PLAYED BY WOOD IN WINNING WAR

Package Technique Gave Huge Shipping Savings

BY GAIL COMPTON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Madison, Wis., Oct. 11—Top secrets of the part played by wood in winning the war were revealed here today at the forest products laboratory of the department of agriculture.

The preview also indicated that wood will become an ever increasing factor in peace time living.

More than 7 million dollars has been spent in research into the uses of wood and wood products at this vast laboratory since the war started. The expense is far outweighed by the enormous saving to the nation effected by the labor of more than 700 scientists.

Slash Damage Losses

In the early days of the war 50 per cent of all war material shipped overseas was damaged so that it was useful only for salvage or repair parts. This does not include material lost by the sinking of ships. The packaging of everything from bomber wings and airplane engines to X-ray tubes was so inadequate the government turned in desperation to the laboratory and offered it unlimited sums to solve the problem. Within one year losses thru shipping damages had been reduced to 3 per cent.

The importance of packing war materials is illustrated by the fact that of the 32 billion board feet of lumber produced last year more than half was used to crate war equipment for shipment.

Crates were redesigned so that the shipping space of one ship out of five was saved. A new crate for a 40 mm. anti-aircraft gun reduced shipping space by 400 cubic feet and to 5,000 gross tons a month during full production.

Package with Wings

During an early invasion, tanks and airplanes were stalled because extra batteries arrived in a damaged condition. This was quickly corrected as a result of studies by packaging experts here.

One of the most spectacular packages developed was one with wings which was used in dropping supplies to troops when parachutes would have disclosed their position. The fiber package has a set of wings like a helicopter which enables it to descend at a slow speed and deliver its contents undamaged.

The problems of waterproofing, greaseproofing, and moistureproofing packages also was solved by innumerable tests of a variety of materials. Machines so sensitive they recorded the moisture in the human breath were utilized to make packages watertight.

Packages with Windows

To meet army demands for a package that would withstand long outdoor weathering an unusual method was evolved. First, the article is sprayed with a cobweb material and then coated with lacquer. The result was a skin tight and almost punctureproof covering. In each package a plastic window was placed with an indicator inside which would show signs of moisture gathering on the equipment.

With the success of the English mosquito bomber made of plywood, scientists here engaged in extensive studies of plywood techniques and methods of making laminated woods.

As a result of the studies, the nation now is producing plywood which on a weight basis is equal to or stronger than most metals. Molded plywood was designed which provided propellers and other aircraft parts. The technique of putting birch veneer surfaces over a core of balsa wood and other light substances was developed to give a material of slight weight and extreme strength. All of these products found immediate war time use and promise wide adaptation in peace time building.

Paper for Building

Another product developed which will have a wide use now is called papreg. This consists of a strong thin paper which is impregnated with resin. When placed in layers and laminated it results in an extremely strong paper with great building uses. During the war papreg was used in gun turrets of Liberator bombers as ammunition boxes; for aircrafts as flooring in C-87 cargo express planes; and as flooring and structural members of gliders. It develops a tensile strength of 35,000 to 50,000 pounds per square inch.

Of the 297,000 military aircraft manufactured during the war more than 25,000 contained wood as a total or predominant material, scientists declared.

One of the basic secrets of the plywood was the glues developed here which make wood stronger than when it is put together with nails, screws or bolts. The glues are so strong they have been used in creating laminated wooden arches for buildings, hangars and chapels during the war as large as 175 feet long.

The laminated woods were turned into ships' timbers and many landing craft and PT boats went to sea with skegs and ribs made of strips of wood glued together. The glues are resistant to all types of weather, and salt and fresh water.

The scientists developed a method of actually improving the quality of wood. They strengthened it thru compression and thru the induction of chemically created resins which checked the usual wood deficiencies of swelling and shrinking.

A method was found of making good plastics out of wood wastes such as sawdust, chips, and other discards of a saw mill. The plastics will find wide peace time use, it was predicted.

Turned to Hardwood

For years, newspapers have been making their pulp for paper out of only softwood trees. When the shortage of pulp and newsprint became critical scientists turned to the problem of making pulp from hardwood trees which previously had been impractical. As yet a good newsprint has not been developed but recently one of the top slick magazine issues was printed on paper made from hardwood pulp. Book paper containing up to 90 per cent hardwood pulps also has been successfuly made.

The demand for ethyl alcohol turned the scientists' attention to making the liquid from wood wastes. In an improved technique the laboratory now can get 65 gallons of alcohol from a ton of wood waste at a cost of about 21 cents per gallon. Alcohol from grain costs about 90 cents a gallon and alcohol from molasses is produced for about 35 cents a gallon, they said.

The shortage of metals and skilled workers who can handle metal was emphasized with the advent of the war, laboratory officials said. As a result, greater attention was focused on the possibilities of substituting wood for metal.

At Hearing on Winkler Case

Borrelli Ducks

Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli in License court yesterday tried to rid himself of his troubles with the Winklers and Jack Rice by transferring their cases to Chief Justice Scheffler. He hopes Scheffler on Wednesday will reassign the cases to Judge Erwin J. Hasten.

Violations of city building, health, and fire ordinances are charged in six cases against Joseph Winkler, 671 N. Clark st.; three against his son, Jack, and one against Henry Rice, 409 N. Wells st., a sub-lessee. The cases involve near north side properties. A total of 57 continuances has been granted—38 to the elder Winkler, seven to his son, and 12 to Rice. Fines of $100 and costs in each of five cases against Joseph Winkler and in Rice's case have gone unsatisfied. A warrant for Joseph Winkler has not been served for some unexplained reason.

Judge Borrelli disclaimed responsibility for continuances granted the Winklers in the cases where fines have been imposed.

MAYOR SELECTS 5 TO WORK FOR WORLD CAPITAL

A special subcommittee to promote Chicago as a site for the headquarters of the united nations organization was appointed yesterday by Mayor Kelly.

Members of the committee, which will act for the full 123 man committee of which Kelly is chairman, are Thomas B. Freeman, Association of Commerce president and head of Butler Bros.; Oscar G. Mayer, meat packer; Aubrey H. Mellinger, president of the Illinois Bell Telephone company; Martin Kennelly, warehouse executive, and Hughston McBain, president of Marshall Field

Now! The gin you've waited 3 years to enjoy...

Gin of pre-war quality made with pre-war imported botanicals

1 Today Hiram Walker brings you gin made with the same imported herbs, roots and berries used in the making of Hiram Walker's pre-war gin.

2 And remember, between Repeal and Pearl Harbor Americans bought more Walker-made gin than any other kind.

Choicest orris root from Italy...prize Valencia peel from Spain...cassia from China...these and all the other rare herbs, roots, and berries used in making Hiram Walker's Gin today come from a supply imported before the war.

TODAY, you can once again enjoy the pleasure of real, pre-war quality gin.

For Hiram Walker's Gin is made not only to pre-war formula . . . but with pre-war imported botanicals which are unobtainable today.

The reason we now have these rare botanicals, like orris root from Italy and cassia from China, is this:

Prior to the war it was always our policy to purchase these choice botanicals only in the best crop years—and to buy far in excess of our annual requirements.

This enabled us always to have on hand a treasured reserve.

When we suspended gin distilling in favor of war production in February 1942, this priceless reserve was carefully preserved and sealed away.

Today, it's these pre-war imported botanicals that give Hiram Walker's Gin its real, pre-war quality. The quality which, between Repeal and Pearl Harbor, led Americans to buy more Walker-made gin than any other kind.

OFFER CHANGES IN BUILDING LAW, 18 GROUPS ASKED

Aldermen Act to Start Public Hearing

Ald. Duffy [19th], chairman of the city council subcommittee on the building code, yesterday sent letters to 18 organizations interested in home and business construction requesting their opinion on whether or not the present city building code should be revised.

The code has been under fire recently as too restrictive, hampering new construction, and adding unnecessary financial costs. Ald. Duffy conceded that the code stands in need of some changes to bring it up to date.

No Responses Last Year

The alderman expressed the hope that this time his letters might bring some responses. He sent letters to the same 18 organizations a year ago and did not receive a single reply.

"Every one seems to believe something should be done about the code, but no one has suggested changes," Ald. Duffy said. "These organizations surely must have ideas and, with the war over, no doubt they will coöperate."

After concrete proposals and suggestions are in hand, Ald. Duffy said, he will call a series of public meetings for discussion of problems of the code.

These Organizations Queried

Metropolitan Housing council, Post-War Economic Advisory council, Chicago Building congress, Metropolitan Chicago Home Builders association, Illinois Society of Architects, federal housing administration, Chicago Building Trades council, Chicago Plan commission, Builders Association of Chicago.

Other groups queried were the Chicago Real Estate board, Chicago Mortgage Bankers' association, Chicago Association of Commerce, United States Savings and Loan league, First Federal Savings and Loan association, Cook County Electrical Contractors' association, Gypsum association, Western Society of Engineers, and Chicago chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

The letters were approved by Ald. Cullerton [38th] chairman of the council committee on building and zoning, and Ald. Lindell [9th], chairman of the committee on housing.

DISEASE TESTS TO DECIDE LOOP PIGEONS' FATE

The fate of pigeon flocks in Chicago's loop and thruout the state depends on further tests at the Illinois state laboratories, 1800 Fillmore st., it was said yesterday.

Blood tests of 200 pigeons have shown positive reactions to a pneumonia type virus in approximately 47 per cent of the birds. Positive reaction to psittacosis, also known as parrot fever, also was shown in a large number of the birds. New tests are being made to establish whether the reaction was caused by present or past infection and whether the birds are carriers of the diseases.

Dr. Edward A. Piszczek, Cook county health director, said similar tests will be made of pigeons found near county institutions. He pointed out that sulfa drugs and penicillin are of no aid in treating the virus to which the pigeons already tested reacted.

Final results of tests being made in the state laboratories will be submitted to Dr. Roland R. Cross, state health director.

ELECTROCUTION OF KILLER OF 3 SET FOR OCT. 19

Chief Justice Harold G. Ward in Criminal court yesterday denied a motion for a new sanity hearing in behalf of Kermit Breedlove, 33, Negro, and sentenced him to die Oct. 19 in the electric chair for the murder last Dec. 16 of Policeman Ezra Caldwell, 32, a Negro. Breedlove was convicted of the slaying last April and his punishment fixed at death. On Wednesday a jury of six men and six women adjudged him sane in a sanity hearing. Breedlove shot and killed the policeman, another policeman, Samuel Black, Negro, and Breedlove's wife, Goldane, at their home, 5149 Prairie av.

FLAHERTY JUROR TOLD TO ANSWER CONTEMPT MOVE

Mrs. Grace Russell, 22, of 3725 Union av., a telephone operator, was ordered yesterday by Judge William J. Lindsay in Criminal court to answer by Oct. 31 a petition to show cause why she should not be held in contempt of court.

The contempt petition was filed by the state's attorney's office after Mrs. Russell had been withdrawn as a juror in a mistrial declared in the robbery trial of Patrick Flaherty in connection with looting of the E. H. Rumbold safety deposit vaults.

The state accused Mrs. Russell of answering falsely when she said she was not acquainted with Flaherty. Judge Lindsay set Nov. 9 for hearing on the contempt petition and ordered Flaherty to be ready for a new trial on Monday.

Gets 10 to 15 Year Term for Abusing Small Boys

Judge Leonard Reid in Criminal court yesterday sentenced Harry Novak, 50, to 10 to 15 years in the penitentiary on charges of sex perversion against small boys. The judge imposed the severe prison term after noting that Novak had been placed on probation in 1937 and sentenced to a year in the Bridewell in 1943 on a similar charge.

Why people enjoy living in Chicago and Northern Illinois

Whether you live in a city apartment easily accessible to your business . . . a home with a yard for the children in any of the attractive suburban communities . . . a country place . . . or a home in one of Northern Illinois' progressive smaller cities or towns, the finest recreational and cultural advantages in the nation are available to you.

For Chicago and Northern Illinois is truly a leading educational center of the world. Northwestern University, the University of Chicago—these are only the two largest of scores of outstanding institutions providing almost unlimited facilities for learning. Open to everyone are the thousands of fine churches, great libraries, the Chicago Art Institute, the Museum of Natural History, and the Museum of Science and Industry. The Shedd Aquarium, Adler Planetarium and Brookfield Zoological Park . . . the opera, the theatre, symphony music are here for your enjoyment.

And stretching westward from the Lake Michigan shore with its sandy beaches and excellent yacht harbors, 41,000 acres of parks and forest preserves await your holiday with horseback riding, picnicking, fishing, swimming, sailing and golf—more than 200 courses within 40 miles of the city. The beautiful valleys of the Fox and Rock Rivers, the inviting waters of numerous inland lakes—all are within easy reach by fine auto highways.

Two major league baseball clubs, college and professional football, the colorful Golden Gloves boxing tournament, the famous Mackinac Yacht races, the International Livestock Show—these are some of the many important competitions centering here. There are winter sports—skating, skiing, tobogganing, hockey, ice boating, duck shooting. Then, too, this area is within a day's drive or a few hours by plane of the Wisconsin, Michigan and Canadian fishing and resort country.

The great diversification of opportunity in Chicago and Northern Illinois allows people to follow the kind of work they like . . . to live where and as they like . . . to play and relax as they like. This is why people enjoy living in Chicago and Northern Illinois.

Industries locating in this area have these outstanding advantages

Railroad Center of the United States • World Airport • Inland Waterways
Geographical Center of U. S. Population • Great Financial Center
The "Great Central Market" • Food Producing and Processing Center
Leader in Iron and Steel Manufacturing • Good Labor Relations Record
2,500,000 Kilowatts of Power • Tremendous Coal Reserves

3,000 VETERANS SWELL ROLLS OF COLLEGES HERE

N. U. Has Biggest Gain with Thousand GIs

(This is the fifth of a series of articles on post-war higher education summarizing studies made by Dr. Evans for his 1945 veterans' revision of the Tribune booklet, "Higher Education." The booklet will be available at Tribune public service offices in November.)

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS

Nearly 3,000 veterans are at work in the strictly academic higher educational institutions in the metropolitan area of Chicago under the two veterans' educational aid bills. Administrators of the 50 institutions of academic grade in this area approved under the bills [not including night junior colleges] say that number soon will be doubled as more veterans enroll daily.

These institutions, except for some of the theological seminaries, show marked increases over last year's total enrollments. The largest numerical gain was made by Northwestern university with a jump from 11,912 last year to 13,503 for the current term. One thousand GIs are enrolled on the two campuses.

454 Vets at U. of C.

The University of Chicago rose from 5,090 to 5,487, with 454 veterans now enrolled. De Paul university's increase was 257, with 330 veterans' enrolled.

With enrollments virtually complete, the total campus population in the 50 institutions has reached 44,784, or 4,014 more than last year. A table on enrollments in the 50 institutions follows:

DAY by DAY on the FARM by GAIL COMPTON

Oct. 11, 1945

SOME smart farmers made sizable profits out of last year's soft corn crop. The opportunity has presented itself again this year, for frost has given the midwest an even bigger crop of high moisture grain.

The profits last year were made by farmers who picked up soft and moldy grain at a small cost and used it to fatten big, mature steers. A farmer in South Dakota bought soft corn at one-fourth to one-half cent a pound. He fed 278 head of cattle and 215 hogs with the grain and made an excellent profit. In many localities last year soft corn could be bought for 40 or 50 cents a bushel.

Over Double Profit

In trials in South Dakota, yearling steers gained 2.36 pounds daily for 149 days when fed on soft corn. They gained 2.18 pounds on hard corn. The hard corn was charged against the operation at 75 cents a bushel and the soft corn at 50 cents a bushel. The steers fed soft corn showed a profit of $33.04 a head while the steers fed hard corn showed a profit of only $15.96 a head.

A test revealed that calves eating soft corn outgained those eating sound corn and made almost twice as much profit. The main difference was that the calves on soft corn ate 971 pounds of grain to gain 100 pounds in weight and the calves on hard corn ate only 736.5 pounds of grain to make the same gain. At the market the two sets of calves sold for approximately the same prices and had about the same dressing percentage.

Cost Makes Difference

The South Dakota trials indicated that the soft corn had about 80 per cent of the feeding value of sound corn. This lower nutritive worth was more than made up for by the lower cost of the soft grain. The corn was fed on the ear and the experts found that the cattle preferred the corn tainted with some types of mold to unspoiled ears. The cattle, however, refused some types of mold.

Tests in feeding the spoiled grain to lambs were successful, but the death loss in the lots eating spoiled corn was less than in the lots fed dry corn.

The important fact for the farmer to remember is to feed out the grain before winter ends. Warm weather brings a quicker spoilage of the grain and lowers its feeding value.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

THE recent frosts in the Chicago area damaged all tender vegetables, including tomatoes, sweet corn, peppers, eggplant, snap beans, and lima beans. The common belief that a "killing frost" kills all vegetables is being disproved, however, by the fact that many types of hardy vegetables still are thriving. The frosts have not damaged beets, carrots, cabbages, cauliflower, broccoli, turnips, lettuce, endive, kale, radishes, celery, or spinach.

If the weather of the next few weeks is favorable, with only light frosts, these hardy vegetables will remain in good condition in the rows.

It is not unusual for the gardener on the Wheaton farm to harvest hardy vegetable until early November, and very hardy crops [particularly hilled celery and kale] often may be harvested in December.

RADIO SECRECY MAY BE AHEAD, ENGINEER SAYS

"Secret" transmission of sound is now within the realm of scientific possibility, Dr. Phillips Tomas, a research engineer of the Westinghouse Electric corporation, reported last night.

Speaking before 700 persons at a meeting of the Chicago chapter of the American Welding society in the Stevens hotel, Dr. Tomas said that sound waves may be beamed at a specific point—if they are shortened.

"Short sound waves may be reflected as light is reflected by a mirror," he said. "Such transmission will solve the problem of secrecy in radio."

2 British Liners End Job of Returning U. S. Troops

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11 [Special]—Removal of two British passenger liners from the job of bringing United States soldiers home from Europe was announced tonight by the war department. The ships are the Queen Elizabeth and Aquitania. The Queen Mary and several other British liners will continue to bring back American troops, it was understood. Army spokesmen said the two liners will not be withdrawn from the military shipping pool. But instead of carrying American soldiers will bring Canadian troops home. Army officials refused to speculate whether this will slow the return of American soldiers.

NEW VETERANS' CONVENTION TO DEBATE BONUS

Widely divergent views on a bonus for war veterans will hold the spotlight in the convention of the American Veterans of World War II., opening today in the Stevens hotel. The group, which sets its membership at 20,000, expects a convention attendance of 500.

Col. Jacob M. Arvey will welcome the veterans as a representative of Mayor Kelly, and Lt. Gov. Cross will give the state's greeting. Secretary of State Barrett will speak on his bonus views during the convention, and Gov. Green will speak Sunday.

The group's executive committee, in a pre-convention statement, urged industry and labor "to reestablish their faith by denouncing and removing from their ranks and leadership professional racketeers, labor haters, labor baiters, and agitators."

5 MORE TRIBUNE EMPLOYES BACK FROM WAR DUTY

Five more Tribune employes who have been on leave in the services have returned to their former positions.

Russell Raycroft, 31, of 7606 Bosworth av., is back at his post as a W-G-N producer after two and one-half years as chief radio operator of a tanker. He was an ensign in the maritime service and saw duty with north Atlantic convoys and in the Pacific.

William A. Calmeyn, 24, of 5536 Crystal st., radioman second class in the navy, and C. Richard Faunt, 27, Diamond Lake, navy lieutenant, are back in the credit manager's office. Ernest Bettisworth, 32, of 7416 Phillips av., yeoman second class in the navy, and Paul Riordan, 30, of 1234 Arthur av., first lieutenant in the army air forces, have returned as advertising salesmen.

ASK BOYS, 10 AND 12, TO RETURN HOME

Parents of Norman Gibson, 10, of 40 W. 111th pl., and his friend, Jack Pierce, 12, of 49 W. 111th pl., both of whom have been missing since Oct. 2, yesterday issued an appeal to the boys to return home because their absence is affecting their mothers' health.

HEARING ON 12 CENT FARE ON ELEVATED SET FOR THURSDAY

A hearing on the demand of the Chicago Rapid Transit company for a 12 cent fare, compared with the present 10 cents, will be held Thursday in Circuit court by Judge Philip Finnegan. The date was set yesterday by Judge Finnegan shortly after the case was assigned to him by Chief Justice Robert Jerome Dunne.

It soon became apparent that Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett, the city of Chicago, and the office of price administration will continue a vigorous fight to hold the fares at the present levels. Judge Finnegan said that all would be allowed to present arguments.

Opponents of the increase said that in the last three years the elevated has had earnings well above operating costs and is therefore in no need of an increase in fare. They expect to show this by testimony next week.

PARIS, Oct. 11 [Reuters]—France will borrow electrical power from Switzerland under an agreement published today.

DANUBE BRIDGES TO BE BLOWN UP TO AVERT FLOOD

BY HENRY WALES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Oct. 11—The American army will supply Budapest municipality with explosives to blow up the wreckage of the Danube bridges before the winter's ice piles up against the debris and floods the city, it was decided today.

Civic authorities hoped to remove the damaged spans to bases and utilize them again, but they realized they cannot clear the stream of obstructions before the frost. The Red army was unable to provide explosives to dynamite the ruins and leave the stream bed free, so the United States control council agreed to handle the job.

tI is estimated the clogged ice would form a dam, causing the river to flow into a third of the city unless the Danube is cleared of obstructions.

Child Thrives on Approval, Not Criticism

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS
[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

As we were saying recently, if a mother and father constantly suggest to their teen-age children that they do this or that, act so or so, go here or there, change themselves in looks or personal ways or ambition, sooner or later those children will begin to feel conscious of many lacks in themselves.

Letters to me from the mothers themselves show that many of them, with the best intentions in the world, are doing this very thing to their children. And the boys and girls are not responding well to it. And the mothers themselves tell me this, and want to know what to do about it.

To them my first suggestion is: Lay off. Stop making suggestions for all these personality improvements and social improvements. Which is another way of saying, stop criticizing your child. For, when you say, "Why don't you do this and why don't you do that?" you're really criticizing.

Next, find things about your son or daughter that you approve of. Besides feeling the approval, speak of it. Not in forced praise, nor even very directly, perhaps, but get the idea over. There scarcely is a person living who does not need approval and thrive upon it, especially from his nearest and dearest.

You will be helped to do this by putting aside some of your fancy, idealistic, or conventional ideas of what you think a young person should be, or what you would like your child to be. Your son or daughter may be cut out to fulfill some dream quite as important in the scheme of things.

You will be helped to do this, to find things to praise—if you will study your teen-age child and make up your mind to accept him instead of trying to make him over. This will not mean that you will play a passive part and do nothing to help him develop fully, nor correct some obvious faults, nor modify hampering tendencies. But it means that you will allow him to be himself and help him to make the most of himself as nature meant him to be, instead of making him over to your own arbitrary ideal.

Young persons need guidance and sometimes constructive criticism. But they also need understanding, approval, and the consequent self-confidence it produces. They must be helped to adjust to life, but not all to the same pattern of living.

Try this general prescription. It will take time and thought. But it will work.

Thru the Looking Glass

When a woman has passed the 40 mark, it's time for her to start changing make-up routine, applying cosmetics with a lighter rather than heavier hand. The skin that's no longer young requires a bit of strategy to give it the illusion of youthfulness, and the nearer the cosmetic effect is to naturalness the better. The goal for which to aim is the luminous look that's native to a young girl's complexion.

Many women apparently think a heavy coat of make-up will cover up the years, when actually it tends to make them more noticeable. An overdose of foundation, rouge, and powder only makes the face look like a mask and emphasizes crepiness and tiny crinkles that would be less prominent under filmier make-up.

The older woman does well to choose a foundation that's rather light in weight and texture and acts as something of a skin softener as well as a dressing. The weight of face powder should be looked to, and even tho she may spend more than she's been accustomed to paying, the powder that's gossamer sheer and extra light in weight is a worthwhile investment for the maturing woman. Foundation and powder should be used sparingly so the skin doesn't look coated, and in selecting new tints, it should be remembered that darker rather than lighter shades are generally more flattering and impart the warmth of tone the complexion may be losing.

The deeper, harsher tones of lipstick are more trying to wear as the years progress but a clear, more pink than purple lipstick can do much to brighten the face and belie the years. Use lipstick less generously and don't trace the mouth outline in a drooping line.

Cheek rouge placed high on the cheekbones gives the most flattering effect, and bear in mind at all times that you're trying to give "lift" to the facial contour and avoid any downward line in make-up or hair arrangement.

FASHIONS

Cold insurance is easily come by, simply by an investment in a new fur coat. That isn't all the investment includes. Besides the cozy warmth there is the glamor angle, which is important because the adventure of owning a luxurious fur coat may require many self-denials.

Among the best wearing furs is the full length sheared beaver at the left. It is beautifully highlighted in the back and smartly styled with a new collarless neckline and the full bishop sleeves which fasten at the wrist with a button and elastic loop.

Another warm and durable fur coat is the rich brown and white mink gill in the center. This has the collarless neckline, tuxedo front, slit pockets, and wide turnback cuffs.

Gray Indian lamb is a youthful and popular coat for the junior miss. The model at the right has interesting detail in the shoulder line. Two plaits at each side of the shoulder present an appearance of a raglan shoulder. The coat is collarless with a tuxedo front and full balloon sleeves and slit pockets.

1,000 GI Brides Riot in London to Get to U. S.

BY JAMES SLOAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Oct. 11—Nearly 1,000 wives of American GI's staged a noisy mass meeting tonight in protest against the delays of the American embassy, the army, and British shipping authorities in providing them with transportation to join husbands who have returned to the United States. The wives of many Chicago area men were in the crowd which included women with babies in arms, in hand, or on the way.

The young wives picketed the American embassy this afternoon after they had been refused police permission to stage a march thru London streets. They had a brief tussle with a heavy police guard outside Caxton hall when too many tried to force their way into the little assembly room assigned to them.

Comdr. Herbert Agar, special assistant to American Ambassador John Winant, told them that troop priorities and the world food shortages are the main reasons they cannot get ships.

Above the cries of babies, the angry, and weeping GI brides suggested that they build planes and ships, as they did during the war, to get them across.

Dissatisfied with Agar's promise that the army and the embassy would do everything they could to get them ships as soon as the prime requirements were fulfilled, the meeting passed a resolution demanding that American and British authorities set up a special department to facilitate transportation.

The women charged that zoo animals, riding horses, and film stars were getting priorities which should be theirs. The meeting broke up as the wives bombarded Agar with questions.

Between 300 or 400 of the wives then parade to Prime Minister Attlee's residence at No. 10 Downing st., chanting: "We want ships—we want boats—we want transport." They were shooed away by police. Undaunted and singing such American songs as "Yankee Doodle Dandy," "Over There," and "I'm Nobody's Baby Now," they then picketed the American embassy, shouting their battle cries.

Among the wives were those of the following Chicago area men:

Harvey Pulver, 3922 Milwaukee av.
Harvey Vann, 615 Hanley st., Gary, Ind.
Arthur William Nelson, route 2, Elgin.
Ralph E. Larmore, 1134 Wellington av.
Richard Biersch, Wauwatosa, Wis.
Louis Sherman, 5418 Vliet st., Milwaukee, Wis.
Donald Salsman, 708 E. Bell st., Bloomington.
Michael Caroscia, 841 N. Homan av.
Samuel Grimsbey, East Alton, Ill.
Donald Jagodsinski, Owen, Wis.
Jerry F. Pleve, 5150 S. Francisco av.
Lt. Dallas Kendall, South Bend, Ind.

Housekeeping 'Basic'

BY P. E. BRIQUET
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MILAN, Italy, Oct. 11—American army authorities are giving a new kind of basic training. It's a course in the rudiments of American housekeeping for Italian girls married or engaged to GI's and is designed to teach the young women that life in America is not always as depicted in Hollywood films.

"America is not what you might imagine it to be," Brig. Gen. Thoburn K. Brown of Morristown, Tenn., commander of the Rome area, told a group of 90 newly married girls at the opening of the course. "The scenery and climate are different. You might even be disappointed. However, you will find hospitality and opportunity in this great country where nobility is acquired by work."

Some of the girls were accompanied by their GI husbands at the first class in the American Red Cross building in Rome. The course is a "must" before the women can join their husbands in the United States. Some 1,500 Italian girls expect to leave their home shores between this December and May, 1946.

Roman women, who lived in America, will teach them English, two lessons weekly, as well as United States history, traditions, and politics. They will also be taught how to buy in department stores, how to keep home accounts, and the use of washing machines. But no cooking will be taught as American experts decided that Italian cooking was too good to change.

INSTALMENT XXIX.
CONVENIENT ENGAGEMENT

Ridge let himself down again on the sofa without removing his startled eyes from Mr. Izenga's face. "Why . . . the dirty . . . little beast," he whispered. "She's tricky. Made me swear not to tell I was with her. Let me make up that fool yarn about hunting a drug store. And all the time she was plotting to corner me again."

Mr. Izenga, with detached scientific interest, watched Ridge Dawson suffer.

"And after all," Ridge groaned, "I'll bet French didn't believe a word she said.'

Mr. Izenga said quietly, "But I think he did. He told me they were sure where you spent the night, tho you lied like a gentleman."

"He did? Blast it, I don't know that wouldn't rather stand trial for murder than for matrimony . . . and with her, again! What a sweet spot she's got me in. You don't know what a devil she is, Cornelius. If I don't marry her, she's capable of telling French she made up the whole tale to save me because she knew I was guilty."

"Do you really mean you don't see any way out of remarrying her, Ridge?

"There is no way out."

"But it's so obvious "

"Good heavens, don't keep me panting here. What is it?"

Mr. Izenga said quietly, "Why, just let yourself be engaged to her. That won't hurt you, will it?"

"I guess not." Ridge sat still. "But how could that . . ."

"You simply remain engaged until the police find out who killed Letty. Then you will no longer need any alibi and you can tell Maribeth you have changed your mind."

Ridge's gaze rested on Mr. Izenga in stupefaction.

Mr. Izenga said, "Of course, she may sue you, but Howard Ellinger can get you off lightly. It'll cost you something, but it's far better than marriage."

Mr. Dawson took out a filmy linen handkerchief and wiped his brow. "Why couldn't I have thought of that myself?"

"You just got in a panic."

"Maybe. But you've got what it takes, old boy. Whew! I suppose it's all over the county?"

"Well, you know Maribeth."

"Don't I! Bla, bla, bla! I'm limp from just the prospect of marrying her again. And now, if I could have a drop or two, you really would finish saving my life."

Mr. Izenga, in expansive mood, crossed the room and touched a bell.

Harrison brought bottles and syphon. Ridge took the first one straight. Over the second, mixed with soda and water, he smiled gratefully.

"By the way, old boy, did you get hurt the other night as you left my place? I meant to call and ask but I was so sick, myself, I guess I didn't think much of any one else."

Mr. Izenga told him what had happened. Ridge said, contritely, "I feel so small not to have taken the trouble to inquire after you, when you've been good enough to lend me a hand like this. But I may be able to reciprocate. You know I was in the bathroom when you left my place. And when I heard yelling, naturally I looked out of the bathroom window. It's toward the rear on the north side of the building."

Mr. Izenga listened eagerly and, when Ridge finished, poured him a third glass.

"I looked down into the side yard. It was rather dark but there was a little light from the lower windows. And I saw some one running across the lawn toward the alley."

"Could you tell who it was?"

"O, no. I could just see a dark figure, bent over and carrying something, a club or stick. The person wore slacks . . . or pants . . . but it could have been a woman. Of course I didn't know what had happened then. I went thru the hall to my front window. Then I thought I recognized your voice and called down to you."

"Will you tell French that?"

"Bet your life I will. I feel pretty low not to have volunteered this before. But you know, sometimes I wonder if, living by myself so much, I haven't got just a little . . . well . . . self-centered."

Ridge said, with a glance at his watch. "Whew. The Webers will be steaming. Guess I ought to blow. I'll get in touch with French as soon as I can."

He breezed out on this friendly note. Mr. Izenga looked after him meditatively.

Mr. Izenga woke to the sound of rain gurgling in the down spouts and rattling on the porch.

He was just dropping off again when the telephone rang. He sat up. Eight o'clock.

"Lt. French calling, Mr. Izenga," Harrison said. "He can't wait. I'll switch him on." In a second came the clipped, quiet voice. "Hello, Mr. Izenga. French calling. Can you have your man drive you over to Oak City as soon as possible?"

"It will take me some time to get dressed and breakfast and it's almost an hour's drive over there. Can't you give me an inkling of why you want me?"

"Mr. Izenga, I am in a great hurry. Please don't ask questions. The privacy of the telephone is a myth. This is a serious business and I can't discuss it now. I'll look for you at 10."

The line went dead in Mr. Izenga's ear.

Half an hour later, as Harrison drove him thru the country between towns, Mr. Izenga began to enjoy himself.

He reminded himself he must tell French what Ridge Dawson had told him, about seeing his assailant. There were some interesting aspects that French should know.

But he did not get a chance to talk to the lieutenant when they arrived at the corner of Maple and Cherry sts. A gold striped troop car was waiting for them. Harrison was told to follow its lead.

They began to circle the city's outskirts. At last, they reached a small suburban village, Larraway. It had its own park, a pretty natural one of about 10 acres.

It was toward this park that the two cars made their way. There was a good sized crowd at the gates in spite of the rain. Several troopers were preventing people from entering. But Mr. Izenga was wafted thru, officially.

They drove thru leafy lanes with the rain dripping softly on the car roof and the wheels sliding and bumping over hollows in the ground. At a little clearing they parked and got out. Harrison was wanted, too, the troopers said. Tingling with curiosity, Mr. Izenga descended into a gloomy little glen, with a brook and ferns. It would have been silent ordinarily, but now it buzzed with men's voices.

The national and international committee of the Chicago Woman's club will present Mrs. Victor Munnecke in a review of David Starr Jordan's "The Blood of the Nation" at 10:30 a. m. today in the club's north lounge. The book talk is to be followed by a discussion on "The Prevention of War." The meeting is open to guests.

Sally Requests Radio Set for Blind Woman

[Sally Joy Brown department activities are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

Mrs. D. is a middle aged blind woman, living in a north side rooming house, who has experienced great lonesomeness since her radio was taken from her. Without the entertainment and companionship which it afforded, time has dragged with a tedious monotony. She is hopeful that one of our readers, who perhaps has an extra set, will be willing to supply her need. She also requested a comfortable easy chair. The name and address will be given upon request.

It is hoped some one will answer the appeal of a young fellow, who is serving in the navy, for a chromatic harmonica. His mother, Mrs. S., who lives in a small town south of Chicago will defray postage charges.

Mrs. P. is interested in the welfare of children in a very poor neighborhood, where the needs of several nationalities are served. She feels that much good can be done among the very young and to that end is trying to organize an orchestra. A former marine band officer is giving his time and musical experience in this work, but funds are lacking for instruments. If any of our readers have musical instruments, any kind or in any condition, which they are willing to donate to this group, we will supply additional information.

Junior League Plans Benefit Ball on Nov. 21

BY JUDITH CASS

THERE won't be a Bachelors and Benedicts party this year, but there will be a ball on the traditional date of those famed dances, Thanksgiving eve. The Chicago Junior league has reserved the night of Nov. 21 for a dancing party which will be its first benefit since 1939.

Announcement of the party was made yesterday by its chairman, Mrs. Hugo Vogel, at the final meeting of the league's provisional members training course, and was heard by a number of young women who in earlier years anxiously would have been hoping to receive one of the coveted invitations to the Bs and Bs affair. The dance will be a large one, and a substantial portion of the guests undoubtedly will be made up of those young marrieds, post-debutantes, and bachelors who were on the Bs and Bs invitation list.

The final speaker on the training course was Mrs. Howard Linn, founder and honorary member of the league, who told of the league's background. Altho she herself played in Chicago as a little girl in the area around Cass, Rush, and Pine sts. [Pine st. is now Michigan av.], Mrs. Linn was introduced to society in New York, and there became a member of the new New York Junior league. Later she was asked to organize a similar group of young women here into what then was a revolutionary idea of organized volunteer work. So the Chicago league, the third in this country, was born at a meeting in the ballroom of the Hamilton McCormick mansion in June, 1912, with Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen as guest speaker.

Mrs. Linn was the first president, and serving with her were Miss Helen Bowen, who later became Mrs. William McCormick Blair and sister-in-law of Mrs. Linn; Mrs. Farwell Boston, now of London; Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson, and Mrs. James M. Hopkins, among others. The league's earliest benefits were musical revues. Its last money raising event was a day long open house at the Drake hotel, which netted some $10,000. Mrs. Linn could not recall that the league ever had sponsored a ball.

On the Calendar

The Chicago Smith college club will have a special reason for turning out full force for its luncheon meeting next Thursday in the Arts club, for the speaker will be one of the college's most widely traveled alumnae, Mary Hastings Bradley [Mrs. Herbert E. Bradley]. Mrs. Bradley will tell of her recent flight to Europe. Mrs. Ward Castle is president of the club, and Miss Mary Goelitz of Oak Park is in charge of reservations.

Many men and women who are working for the Chicago Community and War Fund Victory campaign will be special guests at a concert Sunday afternoon in Orchestra hall for which the hall and the services of the Chicago Symphony orchestra are being contributed free of charge. The concert, which will be conducted by Désiré Defauw, is being given to honor key leadership in the current campaign, which opened Oct. 1 with an over-all goal of $13,040,700. During intermission Mayor Kelly, chairman of governmental solicitation for the fund, and Edward L. Ryerson, president of the Orchestral association and a member of the board of directors of the fund, will speak.

Many members of the women's special gifts division of the campaign, which has reached 70 per cent of its goal of $330,000, will attend with their husbands, who also are working for the fund as members of the men's special gifts di-

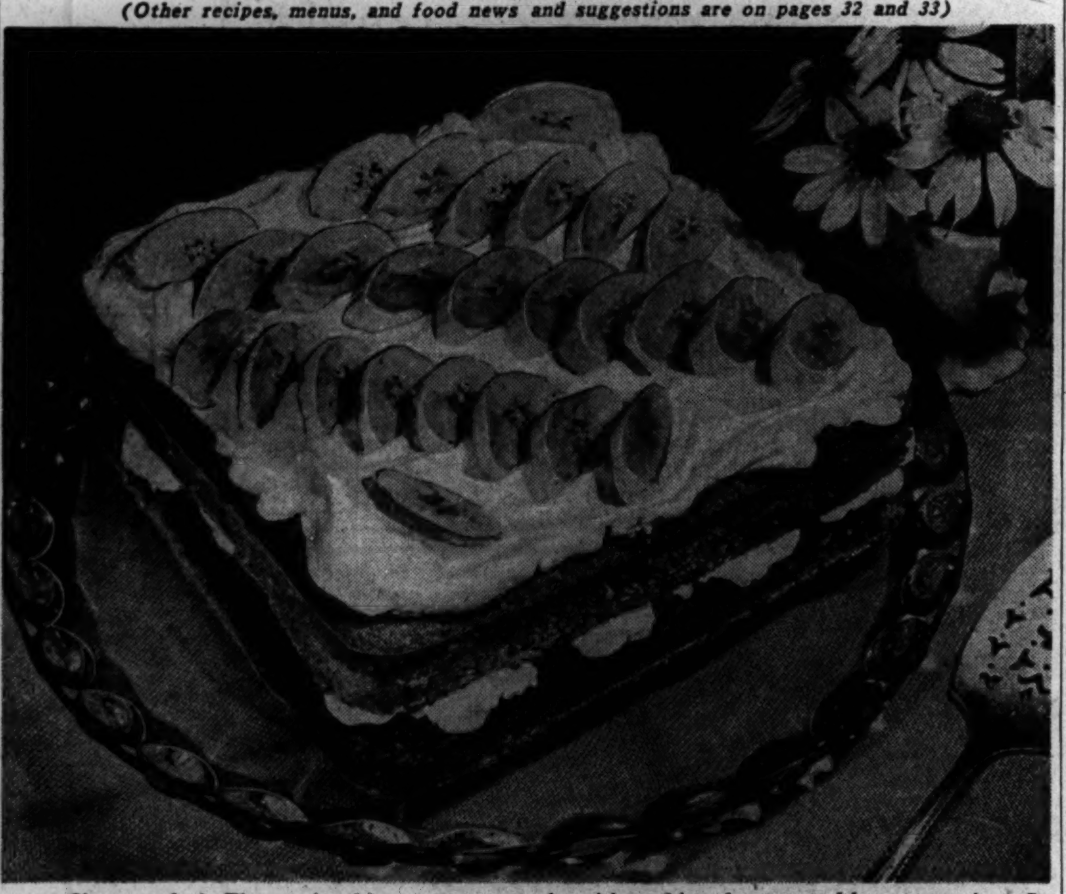
Whipped Cream and Bananas Top Fluffy Cake

(Other recipes, menus, and food news and suggestions are on pages 32 and 33)



Short on fat? Then make this sponge type cake with a whipped cream and banana topping. It requires no shortening. Like the genuine sponge cake, the secret of its fine texture lies in beating the egg yolks and sugar together until very light and creamy. To prepare:

Beat 4 egg yolks until thick and lemon colored; add ¾ cup of sugar, 3 tablespoons cold water, and 1 teaspoon vanilla, beating with rotary beater until mixed. Sift 1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, and ¼ teaspoon salt together and fold into egg yolk mixture. Beat 4 egg whites until stiff, slowly adding ¼ cup sugar. Fold yellow mixture into stiffly beaten whites carefully. Bake in 2 9-inch ungreased square pans in a 350 degree oven for 40 minutes. Spread sweetened whipped cream between cooled layers and top with cream and sliced bananas.

Just Ducky

Hotel clerks and travel agents concerned with obtaining reservations for company representatives will appreciate the recent error of a telegraph operator. It seems that Boeing aircraft was trying to get a room for a service engineer, Donald Buck, in a town near an air base. One hotel after another turned down the request—and flatly—as it came over the wire, until finally the reason was made clear. The hotels thought they were being kidded by a prankster; the telegrams had gone out asking for a reservation for "Donald Duck."

Unbroken Record

"We're so alike
I'm glad we met.
We've had such fun,"
Said he, "And yet
I do love life
And liberty. . . .
You'll understand—
I must be free."
It seems I've heard
That song before.
A bachelor's tune—
It's quite a bore.

Among all the irks aired in the column I didn't find mine until the morning when "B. A." will have to put me down as the irker as you can wager your last nickel I insist on Mr. Caller being on the line before my boss: It is Mr. Caller who is seeking the conversation, and merely courtesy that he do the waiting. The fact that he is paying for the call doesn't enter into the controversy. He's the one who wants to talk—he should pay for call.

Post-War Job Is Outlined by Rotary Leader

BY KATHRYN LORING

War rehabilitation is a job that requires infinite patience and work over a period of at least 10 to 20 years, Thomas A. Warren of Wolverhampton, England, president of Rotary International, yesterday told Chicago service club members who were meeting jointly. He admonished the club groups not to forget the persons hurt by World War II., reminding them how quickly casualties of the first World war were forgotten.

Particularly did he stress the importance of caring for the needs of children left fatherless because of the war, as well as for those who were disabled on fighting fronts. Education for the youngsters and vocational training for the disabled he listed as among the most important considerations in a rehabilitation program.

Under auspices of the Zonta club of Chicago, an executive women's organization, the meeting in the Palmer House was attended by around 400 persons representing Zonta, Rotary, the Women of Rotary, Lions, Altrusa, Kiwanis, Soroptimist, Pilot, Quota, the Alliance of Business and Professional Women, and other clubs. Miss Jessie Ekins of St. Catharines, Ont., president of Zonta International, introduced Mr. Warren, who urged the groups to continue their post-war planning on a coöperative basis.

Mrs. Warren, who accompanied her husband, told of the inestimable value as morale builders that gifts sent by the American Red Cross to English children had proved.

There is to be a tea at the club this afternoon following the symphony concert.

Skirt-Blouse Duo Ready for Formal Wear

BY REA SEEGER

Separate skirts combine with fabulously beautiful and decorative dress parade blouses to make the newest fashion in a sleek dinner dress. These are floor length affairs, to be worn only for formal dinner parties. They're made of satin backed crepe and are slit at either side or in front and are as straight and slim as a sheath. Topped with a blazing sequin blouse or with one of the conversation piece blouses with hand painted individual designs, they make up a super costume and, if you wish, one that will be sold to you alone. Orders for the skirts and blouses will be filled while you wait, according to your measurements and your desires of color and contrast.

Short length evening skirts are also popular. They're of a length between that of a street skirt and floor length and can be worn for theater and dancing. Straight sheaths, peg tops, and gathered models are available. Puritan plain, dull black blouse tops, with either short or long sleeves, are the smartest accents for such skirts, the colors and patterned satins and taffetas are second.

If you have nimble fingers with scissors and needles make your own evening skirt. For, in the fabric sections, you will find a glamorous array of very handsome fabrics, heavy satin brocades, and many effective stripes in both satin and taffeta. Stunning shades of fuchsia, jade green, unusual combinations of stripes, such as purple with pink, plum with turquoise, and the two color brocades with tiny French motifs of fans, and wreaths are available. These colorful materials are best used in simple gathered skirts, and contrasted with black or dark toned silk jersey blouses.

Thorborg Adds Distinction to Brahms Concert by Chicago Symphony Orchestra

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Desire Defauw, conductor; Kerstin Thorborg, contralto; male chorus of Chicago Singverein, Theodore Lams, conductor. Presented at Orchestra hall Thursday evening, Oct. 11, 1945, and scheduled for repetition Friday afternoon. The all-Brahms program:
Tragic Overture.
Three Songs.
[a] "Auf dem Kirchhofe."
[b] "Immer Leiser Wird Mein Schlummer."
[c] "Der Schmied."
Rhapsodie, for alto solo, male chorus and orchestra.
Symphony No. 1, C minor.

Kerstin Thorborg, the stately Swedish contralto who is almost as distinguished on the concert as on the opera stage, appeared at Orchestra hall last night as soloist in the first of a series of Brahms' programs the Chicago Symphony orchestra will play this season under the direction of Desire Defauw—a program that as a whole was more imposing on paper than in performance.

Mme. Thorborg was the best of it. Her voice no longer holds the full glory of the days when she recorded Mahler's "Das Lied von der Erde" with Bruno Walter, and it always has been a voice directed by intellect rather than emotion, taking its warmth from the texture of its tonal sheath. When she sang three Brahms songs, "Auf dem Kirchhofe," "Immer Leiser wird mein Schlummer," and "Der Schmied," you caught little of the inner radiance communicated by Lotte Lehmann, but you did get a smoothly musical performance of highly agreeable tone. The Alto Rhapsody was more completely in her field, that lovely work in which she was so capably supported by the men's choir from the United German Male Choruses of Chicago, and she sang it beautifully, despite the difference of opinion with the orchestra that turned the ending a bit flat.

The accompaniments in general jogged along with Mme. Thorborg without taking her for the ride a soloist is entitled to expect from an orchestra, and each time duly deposited her at the end of a song with none of the exquisite aftermath that can double the effect of music. For its own part, the orchestra opened with a crude performance of the Tragic Overture and ended with an erratic version of the First Symphony, which was alternately supine and belligerent.

Notes

Fritz Stiedry has been engaged by the Chicago Opera to conduct next week's "Parsifal," replacing George Szell. Mr. Stiedry is an Austrian conductor who studied with Gustav Mahler and became his assistant. Among his European posts were the music directorship of the Berlin Municipal Opera and the Leningrad Philharmonic orchestra. More recently he has been associated with the New Friends of Music in New York. . . . Theater wags in the east are referring to the big shots of "The Rugged Path" as Mr. Long, Mr. Short, and Mr. Dull, in tribute, respectively, to Garson Kanin, the director; Spencer Tracy, the star, and Robert E. Sherwood, the author. . . . Fifty melodious Chicagoans, members of the Society for Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc., will warble from the stage of "Laffing Room Only" Monday night, a courageous gesture, since in retaliation Olsen and Johnson may invade the SPEBSQSA's own Civic Opera house concerts the afternoon and evening of Oct. 21. . . . "The Desert Song" is now definite for the opera house Nov. 19.

Cuban Independence to Be Celebrated by Pan-American Group

In coöperation with Ignacio de Algarra, consul of Cuba in Chicago, the Pan-American council has planned a program for 3 p. m. tomorrow jointly celebrating Cuba's independence and Columbus day. Invitations to the meeting, to be held in the Woodrow Wilson room, 84 E. Randolph st., have gone to the Latin American consuls and their wives and to Cubans living in Chicago. Mrs. Ada Anderson of Havana is in charge of the program, which will bring as speakers Dr. Antonio Rubio of De Paul university, Miss Berta Montero-Sanchez, Lorenzo Medrano, and Teresa Medrano, all of Cuba. Music will be presented by Lucio Garcia, Cuban tenor, and Damian Carles of Panama, pianist.

Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Thompson of Paxton av. announce the engagement of their daughter, Alice, to Sgt. Kenneth Bruce Valentine of the army, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Valentine of New York. Sgt. Valentine, who is stationed in Germany with the control council, attended Stanford university and Principia college, at which his fiancee also studied.

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Winchester of Western Springs of the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Jean, to Robert W. Swords, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Swords of Denver, Colo. Both Miss Winchester and her fiance are graduates of the University of Chicago.

Second Public Health Institute to Be Held Today by Clubwomen

The second of two public health institutes sponsored by the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs will be held today in state headquarters at 30 W. Washington st. Mrs. Frank J. Christenson, public health chairman and herself a registered nurse, has arranged the program in coöperation with the state department of public health. She and Mrs. Theodore S. Chapman, federation president, have opened the meeting to members of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Speakers from the state health department scheduled for the morning session, which opens at 10:30 o'clock, are Dr. Henrietta Herbolsheimer, chief of the division of maternal and child hygiene; Dr. Richard Boyd, chief of the local health administration division; Leone Pazourek, nutrition consultant; Ralph Spafford, chief sanitary engineer; Ray O. Duncan, director of health and physical instruction, and Maude B. Carson, chief of public health nurses.

Dr. Roland R. Cross, director of the department, will address the women at 3 p. m. on public health facilities in Illinois and prospects for the future. Jean Christopherson, consultant in health education, also will give a talk in the afternoon.

Frozen Meats in Package to Be Ready Soon

BY BEN MARKLAND

Housewives will soon be able to buy packaged, frozen cuts of meat over the counter, but the freezing will be done by their neighborhood butchers rather than by packing houses.

Col. Harry L. Calyin, executive officer of Camp Shanks, N. Y., recently said that the army's development of frozen packaged meat will eliminate the neighborhood meat market, indicating that packers could cut, freeze, and wrap chops, steaks, and roasts to be sold by grocery stores and other dealers, thereby eliminating the work now done by retail butchers.

Spokesmen for Chicago packing houses said yesterday that they have no plans for merchandising frozen cuts. They will continue to sell meats in quartered form, for butchering and sale by retail markets. If the sale of frozen meat does develop, the freezing and packaging will be done by retail butchers, according to the packers.

The packing houses have neither machinery nor labor for final cutting of meats; in addition, the packers say, there are few retail stores which have the freezing units necessary for storing frozen meats.

Winnetka housewives already are buying frozen beef, pork, fish, and poultry on a basis which may be common in the near future. A model "pilot plant" at 920 Linden av. in the suburb is testing a new method of ageing meat in seven days instead of the customary 20 to 28 days, then freezing the cuts for sale. William W. Welsh, Hinsdale, president of the company operating the shop, yesterday said that the new ageing method brings highest quality meats within the price range of the average housewife. After ageing, the cuts are wrapped in cellophane and parchment, then placed in deep freeze units until sold. The housewife may buy single cuts for immediate cooking, or, if she has a freezing unit home, may buy a week's supply of meat in one shopping trip.

Welsh said the new method of handling meat is approved by butchers, who can distribute their work thruout the week instead of being pressed by housewives on the traditional "busy days," Friday and Saturday. Sales of packaged meats can be made by girls or apprentice butchers, who need only to take the cuts from the holding units.

Welsh said the pilot plant has shown a profit on sales, despite the fact that retail prices have been held down by OPA ceilings.

Maj. Difford Is Named Principal Chief Nurse

The appointment of Maj. Floramund Fellmeth Difford, 32, 1536 W. 52d st., as principal chief nurse at Gardiner General hospital was announced yesterday by Col. John R. Hall, commanding officer. Maj. Difford replaces Maj. Nellie M. Denison, who has had 27 years of service with the army nurse corps. Maj. Difford was the last nurse to leave Manila before the Japs took the city. Using the inter-island boat, Mactan, she assisted in the transfer of 236 seriously wounded patients to Darwin, Australia.

"PRESTO," I said...and produced these tender-crisp RAREBIT WAFFLES!

PRESTO means magic in baking

You can entertain without meat. But give them a dish, like these waffles, with zip and tang. Let Presto help. Presto is the wonder cake flour with baking powder and salt already scientifically measured and mixed in by a process that whirls them all together 100 times a minute. Saves you mixing time and trouble. Better still, it makes you surer of evenly light, tender baked treats.

PRESTO RAREBIT WAFFLES

2½ cups Presto Self-Rising Cake Flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1 jar or package (4 to 5 ounces) sharp-flavored cheese spread
1 teaspoon Best Foods Mustard-with-Horseradish
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 egg yolks
1½ cups milk
2 egg whites
4 tablespoons melted Nucoa or butter

(1) Sift, measure Presto and stir sugar into it. (2) Cut in cheese until it disappears. (3) Add Mustard-with-Horseradish and Worcestershire to egg yolks and mix well. (4) Add to dry ingredients with about half the milk and stir smooth. (5) Add rest of milk and egg whites beaten stiff. (6) Stir in Nucoa and spoon onto hot, ungreased waffle iron. (7) Cook without opening iron until waffle stops steaming. (8) Serve at once with well-seasoned tomato sauce. Yield: Six 7-inch waffles.

SELF RISING CAKE FLOUR

The baking powder and salt are already in Presto! Nine wonderful recipes on the package.

SAWYER BISCUITS... CHICAGO

Sweet Potato Supply Good, So Try a Pie

BY MARY MEADE

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]

Have you made a sweet potato pie recently? If not, now is the time to make one, for supplies are good this year and prices are moderately low.

It's a good dessert and has many interesting variations. The rich, sweet flavor of sweet potatoes combines well with fruit and nuts, and doesn't require too much sugar. Honey could be used instead of sugar in most recipes.

Here are some of the recipes we like best. Crushed pineapple or cranberry sauce may be used in place of the applesauce in the first one.

Applesauce and Sweet Potato Pie

1½ cups cooked, mashed sweet potatoes
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup applesauce
¼ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
⅓ cup honey
¼ cup milk
2 egg yolks
¼ cup honey
1 unbaked pie shell

Combine all ingredients for filling, pour into unbaked pie shell, and bake at 450 degrees for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake 25 minutes longer. Remove pie from oven and top with meringue made by beating egg whites until stiff and adding honey gradually, beating constantly until thick. Return pie to 350 degree oven and brown for 15 minutes.

Sweet Potato Pecan Pie

2 cups mashed, sieved sweet potatoes
¾ cup firmly packed brown sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon allspice
3 eggs, slightly beaten
2 cups milk
⅔ cup pecans

Combine ingredients in order given and pour into unbaked pastry lined pie plate. Bake at 425 degrees for 10 minutes; then reduce heat and bake at 350 degrees until firm. Walnuts may be substituted for pecans.

Sweet Potato Chiffon Pie

1 baked crust
1 cup mashed sweet potatoes
2 eggs, separated
½ cup sugar
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon plain gelatin
¼ cup cold water
½ cup sugar

Place sweet potatoes in top of double boiler. Mix slightly beaten egg yolks, one-half cup sugar, and milk. Add to sweet potatoes with salt, spices, and butter. Cook and stir until custard consistency. Remove from heat, add gelatin softened in cold water, and stir until dissolved. Chill. When partly thickened, fold in stiffly beaten egg whites into which remaining half cup of sugar has been beaten. Fill baked crust and chill until firm. Top with whipped cream and sprinkle with nutmeg.

Brown sugar may be used in place of white in this recipe. And orange juice may be substituted for the milk. A teaspoon of grated orange rind will give a more distinct flavor.

Survey of Markets Reveals Week-End Food Price Outlook

A survey of food markets in Chicago reveals the following price situation for the coming week-end:

Low Priced

Fish—Carp, sheepshead, steak cod, lake herring, chubs, suckers, whiting, pickerel, yellow perch.

Fruit—None.

Vegetables—Beets, cabbage, radishes, rutabagas, squash.

Moderately Priced

Fish—Buffalofish, sea perch, cod fillets, haddock fillets, hake fillets, mackerel fillets, whiting fillets, bullheads, halibut, salmon, yellow pike, pollock fillets.

Fruit—Honeydews, grapes, grapefruit, oranges, prunes, lemons.

Vegetables—Brussels sprouts, carrots, cauliflower, celery, celery cabbage, greens, lettuce, onions, green peppers, spinach, sweet potatoes, tomatoes, white potatoes.

High Priced

Fish—Lake trout, clams, lobster, frozen shrimp, sole fillets, catfish, oysters.

Fruit—Apples, cantaloupes, pears, peaches.

Cook Dried Fruit Quickly to Obtain Firmer Texture

Cooking dried fruits quickly without soaking gives a better product than long, slow cooking. The fruit will have a firmer texture and the sugar will be retained in the fruit rather than lost in the juice.

Will Your Child Be As Fortunate As Susy?

Right from the start, Susy's mother has made sure that her daughter gets plenty of sunshine, and a diet adequate in bone-building minerals. Susy's legs will be as strong, straight, and her teeth as sound, as sufficient calcium can make them.

Will your child have these assets? While even sufficient calcium cannot correct bowed legs after a child is three, an adequate supply is important right through life to keep bones sturdy and help the child look his best. That's one of the main reasons why doctors advise that children get plenty of milk...the best food source of calcium.

However, as children get older, they are often reluctant to drink all the milk they should have.

That's where Cocomalt can prove invaluable. For Cocomalt gives milk a delicious chocolaty flavor that children love. And Cocomalt* is so rich in calcium, it makes 3 glasses of milk equal to a whole quart in calcium value. (Also supplies the day's entire minimum requirements for iron, phosphorus, Vitamins B_1 and D.)

Start your children on Cocomalt today. Save this as a reminder to order from your grocer.

*2 heaping tsps. to 8-oz. glass of milk.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
2 clubs	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead, king of spades.

I am little reticent about relating today's tale. It is in a certain sense a sad story, because it shows what a miscarriage of justice Lady Luck will sometimes tolerate. Perhaps the conquest of crime over righteous living should not be glorified in this column, but this happens to be a very true story of a match quite some time ago between teams of four representing New York and Boston, respectively, and while it may not be fair it is at least fit to print.

The bidding shown in the diagram above was that put up by the Boston team and I think is not subject to criticism. There may be some slight question about the opening two bid inasmuch as the hand may have four losers if played in the minor suit and may not work out at no trump because of the lack of protection in spades. All in all I think that the two bid is good policy because it will be almost impossible to describe the enormous power of the hand in later rounds [if there are any] if the hand is opened with one club. South responded with two no trump and North raised to three. Perhaps better tactics would be to rebid the clubs affording partner the opportunity to show a heart suit which he may have been unwilling to speak about on the first round.

The king of spades was opened and there was no point in South's holding up. Everything appeared to depend on the club suit. Since this was the last time declarer was going to be in his own hand, he had to decide upon the finesse then and there. There could be no laying down one high honor first and then finessing on the second round. We know now what the winning play would have been, but East was holding his cards close to his waistcoat and declarer had nothing to rely on but probabilities. He chose the correct percentage play of finessing and when the trick was taken by the queen, the spade suit was run against him for a one trick set.

When the New York team held this hand, North blew hot and cold. First he opened with one club and when South showed him the courtesy of keeping the bidding open with one no trump he committed an atrocity in the way of a leap to six no trump. The opening lead as before was the king of spades.

With 12 tricks as the objective, the club suit alone would not suffice. The heart finesse would have to work and it would have to be repeated. In order to permit such play South would require another entry and the only hope was the 10 of clubs. Well since, the only way must be the right one, South went to it. The heart finesse was taken and held. The ace and king of clubs dropped the queen. The three high diamonds were cashed and the suit broke. South entered his hand with the 10 of clubs cashed the long diamond, discarding a spade from dummy, repeated the heart finesse and took all 13 tricks. It just isn't fair.

vision or with the business and city divisions. Among them are the William J. Kellys, the Hamilton Loebs, the Frank L. Sulzbergers, the Joseph T. Ryersons, the Gordon Langs, Mr. and Mrs. Morton Bodfish, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Straus, the Howard Goodmans, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Winfield Ellis.

Wedding News

Miss Celeste Lang, who had been waiting for the return of her father, Comdr. Eugene Charles Lang of the navy, and her brother, Ensign Nicholas Lang of the merchant marine, before setting a wedding date, will be married tomorrow to James Chartrand Hollahan. Both Comdr. Lang and Ensign Lang are here for the wedding at 11 a. m. in St. Peter's church in St. Charles, and a reception following in the St. Charles home of Comdr. and Mrs. Lang. Comdr. Lang and his son met unexpectedly in San Francisco, Cal., a few days ago, when both were on their way home from duty in the Pacific.

Mrs. Joseph J. Dempsey will act as matron of honor for her sister, and another sister, Miss Terry Lang, will serve as bridesmaid. Mr. Hollahan's brother, Francis Hollahan, will be the best man. Mr. Dempsey, Ensign Lang, Edmund Egan, and Gerald White will serve as ushers. Following a wedding trip, Mr. Hollahan and his bride will be at home in Superior st. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Hollahan of Glenwood av.

Henry J. Briede of Lake Forest announces the marriage yesterday of his daughter, Ruth, to Capt. Walter Mengel of the army, of Davenport, Ia. The ceremony took place at noon in the Briede home with only the immediate family present, and a breakfast followed. Capt. Mengel and his bride will live in Lake Forest while he is stationed at Camp Skokie in Glenview.

Today's Events

The Illinois Opera guild will entertain its first convalescent service patients tonight at the opera from the proceeds of last week's benefit fashion show at Marshall Field & Co., at which the guild raised $3,400, its most successful benefit to date. Tonight's guests will be from Vaughan General hospital, and on later Friday nights the guild will alternate with other service hospitals. Mrs. Peter G. Torosian will be hostess to tonight's guests and will take them backstage to meet the cast of "Il Trovatore," this evening's opera.

An exhibit of paintings and sculpture by members of the club will be opened at tea from 4 to 6 p. m. today in the Cordon club.

Mrs. C. Frederick Childs and Miss Madeleine J. Newell will be hostesses for the English-Speaking Union at tea today following the Chicago Symphony Orchestra concert.

Occupying boxes for the union's forum on "Public Opinion in Britain and the United States" at 8 o'clock tonight in Orchestra hall will be Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Hecht, British consul general and Mrs. Wilfred H. Gallienne, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Miller, the Rev. and Mrs. Killian Stimpson of Milwaukee, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Barrows. Mr. and Mrs. Hecht will entertain at dinner before the gathering for the evening's three speakers, Grove Patterson of Toledo, O., Robert Pattinson Winfrey, British newspaper director, and John S. Knight. Hearing the discussion with Mrs. Frederic W. Upham will be her sister, Mrs. Charles W. Higley of Tryon, N. C.

The 27th semi-annual rummage sale of the Kenwood Center of the Infant Welfare society will be opened today at 673 N. Michigan av., and will continue thru next Wednesday.

Museum Talk Tomorrow

Muri Deusing, naturalist, will lecture at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in the Chicago Natural History [Field] museum on "Back Yard Safari."

"Mom, this says a girl's mouth is prettiest when she says 'prunes.' Can you tell me some interesting things to tell Eddie about prunes?"

Kappa Kappa Gamma Chapters Will Mark Diamond Anniversary

The diamond anniversary of Kappa Kappa Gamma will be celebrated with parties by chapters at Northwestern university and at Monmouth college, and on Tuesday the Chicago Intercollegiate Association of the national Pan-Hellenic sorority will have a founders' day banquet in the Chicago College club.

Monmouth's chapter, the first unit of the sorority to be established, will have a luncheon program tomorrow with Mrs. Floyd T. Abbott, province president, and Mrs. H. T. Rickets, who was responsible for reinstatement of the chapter in 1934, as special guests. The party on the Northwestern campus will be a tea at 3 p. m. today, to which the north shore alumnae have been invited.

Caxton Club to Hear Talk on Confederacy

The Caxton club, an organization of bibliophiles, will have Robert S. Henry, author and authority on the Confederacy and the South, as guest speaker at a 12:30 p. m. luncheon tomorrow in the Mid-Day club. "The American Iliad" will be the lecture topic. Members may invite guests.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 11—The King brothers aim to spend a million dollars to star Belita on skates in "Glamour Girl." They think she'll be prettier in technicolor than Sonja Henie. . . . George Raft is set for "Nocturne" at R. K. O. Now don't tell me he's turning from crime to music. Wonder who'll play the piano for him? Paging Mr. Horowitz! . . . Guy Madison snared the part of the year in "They Dream of Home" opposite Dorothy McGuire. . . . Ralph Blaine, who wrote "The Trolley Song," sang two of his latest hits at Cobina Wright's the other night—"Connecticut" and "Lay That Peacepipe Down"—both of which should have been in "Ziegfeld Follies." . . . London's gone mad over "Week-end at the Waldorf"—and why not? They've never seen anything like that hotel and never will again. It's standing the customers on their ears in New York too, but in Europe they'll never finish talking about it. . . . If Brock Pemberton doesn't find another "Harvey," he's just going to have to go on the road and play it himself.

Late Honors Go to Hero's Widow

The widow of Maj. Richard Bong received a letter from the head of the royal Australian air force stating that the king had approved the award of the distinguished flying cross to her late husband. Mrs. Bong is now in her home town, Superior, Wis., to participate in the dedication services of the new American Legion hall which has been named in honor of America's ace of aces. . . . No, the studios are not turning down war stories. They're still buying 'em. Paramount possesses "Beachhead in the Wind" by Carl Jonas, a tale of service men in the South Pacific and their readjustment after returning home.

Here and There

Paulette Goddard telephoned Jinx Falkenburg from New York that her guest house on the farm was for the exclusive use of Jinx and her husband, Col. Tex McCrary, who should be landing any minute. . . . Bing Crosby chose wisely when he selected Esther Williams as honorary chairman of the swimming activities for Sister Kenny's infantile paralysis foundation. She can't serve until after her return from Mexico. She'll actually go into the bull ring down there. . . . King Kennedy reports from south of the border that he ran into Jinx Falkenburg's mother, who looked like an ad for a fiesta or a bull fight—she's gone completely Latin. . . . Cobina Wright does a stunt for the boys at the canteen that sets them on their ears. If somebody doesn't put it in a picture, they're losing the best comedy gag of the year. She holds her French poodle in her arms and they sing duets to each other. I swear it's true—I heard 'em.

Stranger Than Fiction

Martin Gosch, who produced Abbott and Costello's last Metro picture [which is cleaning up], is at Santa Fe writing an original screen story. Then he'll go to New York to consult with George Kaufman about doing a play. This one could be called "Twice in a Lifetime." . . . Three months ago it was reported Charley Smith would marry June Duprez. I stated there would be a little matter of divorce first, that Mrs. Isabel Smith didn't know anything about it. Well, now she does and she's divorced the gent, so he and June have only one year to wait for that marriage. . . . The Gary Coopers are off to Sun valley. A friend of theirs loaned them a house for a month.

GRIMM HEADS FOR PEACE AND QUIET OF FARM

Cubs Still Better Team on Paper

BY IRVING VAUGHAN

Mr. Charles Grimm, the boss of the Cubs, saw the Tigers put an end to the 1945 world series at about 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and yesterday he made the ending official in his own way. He picked up his hat and started for his St. Louis county farm, not happy, of course, over failing to acquire a world pennant for the Wrigley field flag staff.

There is no need to shed any tears over the Cubs being forced into the also-ran role by the Tigers. Neither should there be any moaning over the comical way in which the Tigers handled themselves at so many different stages of the seven game proceedings. But if the Cubs or their constituents really insist on doing a little, it might be based on the fact that Grimm's team didn't possess any one even close to the equal of Hal Newhouser.

Cubs Had No Such Ace

The Cubs not only were without a Newhouser, who, after winning 25 games during the regular season, won two of the series battles after being knocked out of the opener, but they weren't timely in the power department, to which such as Hank Greenberg gave some attention in behalf of the new champions. Hank won the second game almost single-handed with one of his two homers.

And, even getting past Newhouser, the Cubs, as the series developed, still were shy in the pitching department, the latter doing so poorly as a whole that there is reason to wonder just how they managed to win the pennant.

It was because of the all-round weakness of the staff that when the Cubs finally reached the seventh and deciding game, Grimm had nothing but weary gentlemen at his command, the first of them Hank Borowy, who in his third start made only nine pitches before being knocked out.

Trout Did His Part, Too

The Cubs also had to contend with what can be written off as Tiger luck, or if not that, you can call it Grimm's misfortune. Paul Trout is tops as a pitcher when in shape but he wasn't worth the price of a straw hat the last two weeks of the season.

And because he was worthless, what happened? It delayed the clinching of the pennant to the last day but his ineffectiveness did bring him rest, which was just the thing needed to send him forth with a brilliant display in the fourth game.

Added to the sudden revival of Trout was the return of Virgil Trucks from the navy. Trucks figured in the pennant landing game the last day of the season. Then he whipped the Cubs in the second series game. Trucks alone probably was enough to make the difference between success and failure of the Tigers in the series.

Chicago Was Better, Otherwise

Nobody will deny that the Tigers make up just about the weakest team the American league has entered in a series in many years. When you say weakness you mean fielding, running, throwing, hitting, etc., as a whole. The Cubs, altho not a great team, gave the Tigers lessons in many features such as getting around the premises and doing things with less jitters.

But, if the Tigers were that much weaker than the Cubs why did the latter lose? The answer is easy. The American leaguers had those few exceedingly tough gentlemen who were so good they couldn't be held back by the mediocrity of their pals. By that we mean Greenberg and Newhouser, with Trout and Trucks following.

And, of course, nobody can say the Tigers didn't get a lot of series value out of Paul Richards, the sports editor of the Waxahachie, Tex., Light. He's the Richards who did practically all the Tigers' catching, not to mention some timely hitting.

COLONELS, 3 UP, HOSTS IN LITTLE SERIES TONIGHT

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 11 (AP)—The Louisville Colonels of the American association and the Newark Bears of the International league will resume action in the little world series here tomorrow night with the Colonels needing one victory to gain the title.

Smear Attack Unsuccessful, Chandler Says

Versailles, Ky., Oct. 11 (AP)—A. B. [Happy] Chandler today accused some hidden enemies of attempting to discredit him as baseball commissioner in an organized smear campaign.

His home town Versailles newspaper, the Woodford Sun, which he owns, announced in a headline: "Happy and owners smoke pipe of peace after false report of rift and attempt to buy contract."

Chandler said he had been worked over in smear campaigns many times before during his political career and had survived them all. "This one didn't work, either," he said.

Doesn't Blame Baseball

Asked whether, in his opinion, he was being attacked this time by political or baseball interests, he declared: "It is not on the baseball side."

He referred to published reports that he and major league baseball club owners were at odds and that the owners wanted to buy off his seven year commissioner's contract.

"It is obvious there has been a smear campaign worked up against me which has been paid for," he said. "I don't know who was behind it and I am not interested, because it didn't get any place. My position is solid."

The article in Chandler's newspaper, written under a Chicago date line, said: "It appears that there is a determined effort afoot among certain sports writers to discredit and hamper the work of organized baseball's new commissioner, Sen. A. B. [Happy] Chandler."

Has Not Resigned Senate Post

These sports writers, the piece continued, have not been reconciled to Chandler's election as commissioner and have been doing their best to bring about a break between him and the club owners.

Chandler reiterated that he plans to resign as Kentucky senator, but asserted that, contrary to reports otherwise, he had not yet mailed his resignation to Gov. Simeon Willis, —i not in fact written it, and wasn't sure just when he would write it.

He said he is anxious to devote his full time to baseball as soon as possible and expects to be able to move into his new major league headquarters in Cincinnati next month.

2 Dartmouth Backs to Miss Irish Contest

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 11 (AP)—Dartmouth's light and injury riddled football squad entrained today to engage undefeated Notre Dame at Notre Dame, Ind., Saturday.

The Indians did not have an opportunity to work out today and will not until they arrive at Elkhart, Ind., about noon tomorrow. Coach Tuss McLaughry has scheduled a warmup in Elkhart, which will serve as Dartmouth's overnight headquarters.

Find New Full Back

Dartmouth, which has been beaten by both Holy Cross and Pennsylvania without being decisively outplayed, will be minus two of its outstanding back field performers, Co-Capt. Meryll Frost and Bob Albrecht, who were injured against Penn.

During the week McLaughry has promoted Francis O'Brien, a veteran marine, to starting full back. O'Brien never had played football until this fall. He appeared for a few minutes against Holy Cross but saw much service in Philadelphia, where he impressed with his line smashing.

Probable Lineup

Dartmouth's probable lineup will include ends, Rusch and Gould; tackles, Phleger and Harvey; guards, Biggie and McKinnon; center, Alexander; qurater back, Deutsch; half backs, Sullivan and Stevens; full back, O'Brien.

IRISH DRILL KICKERS

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 11 [Special]—Coach Hugh Devore sent the Notre Dame football team thru a lengthy kicking drill today in preparation for the game with Dartmouth here Saturday.

Frank Dancewicz and George Ratterman, No. 1 and No. 2 quarter backs, did the kicking in today's practice session and the entire squad was drilled on kicking and passing assignments. A dummy scrimmage concluded the practice.

Mrs. Elmer Layden Has Gall Bladder Operation

Mrs. Elmer Layden, wife of the commissioner of the National Football league, underwent a gall bladder operation yesterday morning in Passavant hospital. Doctors said last night her condition was satisfactory.

YOU'LL BE SEEING 'EM, BUCKEYES

Badger Squad of 36 Heads for Columbus

The University of Wisconsin football squad of 36 players spent last night in Chicago, en route to Columbus, O., where the Badgers will play Ohio State tomorrow in a Western conference game. The party, in charge of Coach Harry Stuhldreher, made the Palmer House its Chicago headquarters. It included several players nursing injuries which may keep them from starting against the Buckeyes, tho all expect to see some action.

The Badgers will move on today to Toledo, O., where they will work out this afternoon, then finish the journey to Columbus. The traveling squad:

ENDS—Ray Mais, Robert Hanley, William Koch, Jack Mead, Harold Haberman, Don English.
TACKLES—Martin Meyer, Rex John, Clarence Esser, Robert Shea, Dave Kingston.
GUARDS—Wray George, George Urbanis, Tom Hubbard, Richard Nines, Del Hanke, Henry Fricke, Eugene Johnson.
CENTERS—Harold Faverty, Larry Lauer, Dick Kreml, Tom Kittel.
QUARTER BACKS—George Fuchs, Vern Klinzing, Robert Engle.
RIGHT HALF BACKS—Charles Chaney, Charles Lehman, Ned McGinley, Don Kindt.
FULL BACKS—Ben Bendrick, Ethan Hanaman, Charles Windle.

BUCKEYES NEED TACKLES

Columbus, O., Oct. 11 [Special]—Ohio State's tackle problem is growing more acute day by day. Neither of the regulars, Thornton Dixon and Russ Thomas, has been able to work out in that position yet this week.

Charles Fazio will start at Dixon's right tackle position, and a newcomer, up from the third team, Bud Hamilton, has taken over the other berth.

Sam Selby, guard on the 1930 Ohio State team and later coach at Otterbein college in Westerville, has been signed as freshman coach.

Bill Hackett, star 1944 guard for the Buckeyes, was advised by his physician today not to play any more football. X-rays revealed that Hackett had not recovered from leg injuries suffered in an automobile accident last spring. He has not played in either of the team's games to date.

Blackhawks Buy Eddie Wares of Detroit Wings

The Blackhawks have purchased Eddie Wares from the Detroit Red Wings, William Tobin, president of the Chicago hockey club said yesterday. Wares, who was in service last season, has been working out with the Wings and will leave their camp at once to join the Hawks, who are training in Regina, Sask.

Tobin said the deal for Wares, a cash transaction, was made on recommendation of Manager Johnny Gottselig, who expects to use the veteran as a defense man while younger players on the roster are being developed. Wares has the reputation of being a dangerous scoring threat and has seen considerable service at right wing.

CARDS EXPECT TO PROVE BEAR JINX IS A MYTH

30,000 to See Them Try It Sunday

BY EDWARD PRELL

Chicago, Green Bay, and New York will be unusual battlegrounds Sunday in National Football league games.

In Wrigley field a team which has lost three league games meets one which has dropped two—the Cards vs. the Bears. Neither has a victory. The Cards are hopeful and the Bears profess to be worried.

In Green Bay the last of the two unbeaten western division elevens collide. These are the Packers and the Cleveland Rams. The Packers, defending league champions, have yielded 21 points each to the Bears and Detroit Lions in two games. But Curly Lambeau's mob scored 31 points against the Bears and ran up 57 on the Lions.

Yanks Get Some Help

New Yorkers will see a National league game in Yankee stadium—the Giants versus the Boston Yanks. This calls for more than a little explanation. In the first place the Yanks are more than that, their ranks having been swelled by players from the Brooklyn Tigers.

The Tigers are inactive this season, but next year will move into Yankee stadium and their players will be returned by Boston. Whether Boston will continue to be known as the Yanks is something else again. It boils down to the Brooklyn Tigers having won their battle with the Giants' Tim Mara to play in Yankee stadium, but perhaps not the right to use the nickname which now has been carried two years by Boston.

It's a Blow to Mr. Marshall

The Brooklyn Tigers, who were shoved out of Ebbets field after the 1944 season, are owned by Capt. Dan Topping, who also is part proprietor of the New York baseball Yankees. He is believed to be the only individual financially interested in both baseball and football major league teams.

The Yanks slapped down the Washington Redskins Sunday in Boston, which must have been more than George P. Marshall, the Redskins' owner, could stand. George took his team out of Boston in 1937 and established it in Washington. The New England city was without a professional team until last year when the Yanks, owned by Ted Collins, began operating.

Dorr Prepares Field

The Bears will move into Wrigley field today and stay out of Groundskeeper Bobby Dorr's way while he supervises laying of turf on the infield. Yesterday the twice beaten team drilled at Amundsen High, but several players were missing, including Hugh Gallarneau, half back, who is recovering from ptomaine poisoning. There still is a chance he will play Sunday.

Phil Handler, coach of the Cardinals, who has watched the team lose 29 consecutive league games, won recognition as an optimist after yesterday's practice in Comiskey park. "I think we have a good chance to beat the Bears," he said, "and the players feel that way, too." The Cards are at least two deep with fairly good players at each position.

Sunday's game, first of the 1945 National league season in Chicago, is expected to attract between 25,000 and 30,000.

Johnsos Likes Rams' Chances

Luke Johnsos of the Bears' coaching staff believes the Rams have an excellent chance of whipping the Packers Sunday.

"Cleveland has a great defensive line," he said, "and may be able to clog up Green Bay's running plays. The Rams are a younger club than the Packers. Cleveland has a good attack, too. Jim Benton didn't play against us and if he's in shape the Rams' chances will be that much better. Jim is one fellow who can keep Don Hutson fairly well under control."

The Packer-Ram game, matching the two teams which appear to be strongest in the western division, should fill City stadium to its near-25,000 capacity.

The Pearl

It happens sometimes that a parasite
Will pierce the oyster's shell only to find
Itself immersed in nacre soft and white
Which forms around it snugly like a rind;
This liquid hardens slowly, we are told,
Holding the parasite fast in its snare,
And when the shell is opened we behold
No insect, but a pearl precious and rare.

And so when men hurt us with words of hate
If we pour out on them our charity,
Our love will hide their malice and create
A precious pearl of human sympathy;
And what was meant to harass and annoy
Will in the end become a source of joy.

The Road Home

I've fought thru traffic lanes and heard the noise
Of whirring wheels, and scented gas and oil;
My heart has spread across the hopes and joys
Of minds and hands on rural roads of toil.

I've strolled the little roads where memories
Are born and where the heart is strangely stirred
Within the quiet temples of the trees
Alone with God—and silence could be heard!

I've traveled vagabondish trails of mind
And let my Gipsy spirit chat with stars
Along the rims of space where roads unwind
Beyond earth shaded vales of death and wars.

And there are still some roads unmentioned yet.
May God protect the roads on which you roam,
And sanctify the road on which we met,
And light with joy the road that leads you home.

Illinois Loses George Bujan Rest of Year

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 11—[Special]—Catastrophe took another swing at the Illinois football team today as George Bujan, regular center, was declared out for the season, the fourth regular lost in 22 days.

Looking back over the list of calamities, Coach Ray Eliot has the gloomy reflection of knowing his team has won the 1945 hospital award of the Western conference, if not the nation. Previously he had lost the services of Eddie McGovern, right half; Eddie Bray, left half; Larry Forst, left guard, and Al Dobbeck, reserve center.

Bujan, who turned down a pro contract with the Washington Redskins to remain in school this semester, was Illinois' regular blocking back in 1943 and its regular center in 1944. He broke a thumb in the Notre Dame game two weeks ago but played against Indiana as a defensive substitute for Full Back Jerry Cies. He teamed with Mac Wenskunas as a line backing combination.

65,000 THRONG TO WATCH DUEL WITH CADETS

Play Tomorrow in Yankee Stadium

BY WILFRID SMITH
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

New York, Oct. 11—Army's undefeated football team, defending its 1944 national championship, is ready for the University of Michigan, its opponent in the Yankee stadium Saturday afternoon. Sixty-five thousand are expected to see the Cadets in their first contest with the Wolverines, who, altho beaten this season by Indiana, are highly publicized in the sector as typically representative of Big Nine football.

Army generally was conceded to have the best football team in 1944, an agreement largely based on its 59 to 0 defeat of Notre Dame and its 504 points scored in nine games, as well as a defensive record of yielding only five touchdowns. Ohio State, also finished the 1944 campaign with nine victories, but Army's veterans and its impressive offense earned public acclaim as the nation's best.

Some Foes Are Weak

The fact remains, however, that army's scoring record was achieved partly at the expense of several mediocre eastern football squads. Hence the importance of the victory last year over the Irish and the attraction Saturday when Michigan meets the Cadets.

While the Wolverines have not been the "champions of the west," the proud boast of their university

Felix Blanchard

song, in recent seasons, Col. Earl Blaik, Army's head coach, himself a midwesterner, has the highest regard for Michigan. This respect has been easily communicated to New York's sport fans. With fair weather Yankee stadium will be sold out.

Even last week's 54 to 0 defeat of a good Wake Forest eleven has not assuaged Col. Blaik's fears. This afternoon Army took a final brief workout at West Point without benefit of contact practice, and tomorrow will make its headquarters at the Knollwood Country club. The Cadets, led by Capt. John Green, right guard from Shelbyville, Ky., will drill tomorrow afternoon in the stadium.

Wolverines Due Early

Michigan's squad of 37 players will arrive at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. It will practice in the stadium two hours before army's arrival. Fritz Crisler, Michigan's head coach, said today that his squad would include Bob Derleth, tackle and letterman in 1942, who had reported this week after his discharge from military service.

Few will doubt the outcome of Saturday's game. Army has a veteran squad, headed by Felix [Doc] Blanchard, battering full back, and Glenn Davis, sprint star from California, a consistent ball carrying threat. During the war years only the army and navy academies have had athletic material comparable to pre-war seasons.

On this evidence, if Michigan should win, victory would transcend all so-called upsets, a fact which is foundation for Col. Blaik's perturbation.

Blanchard and Davis would be a potent back field combination on any team. Playing behind a rugged, fast line they probably will be unbeatable.

They're All Veterans

Only three of Army's starting eleven will be first year men but this does not mean that these Cadets have not had previous collegiate experience. Al Gerometta, newcomer at left guard from Gary, Ind., for instance, won a football letter at the University of Illinois. James Enos attended Santa Clara for a year and Albert Nemetz, who will be commissioned next June and who starred at right tackle last season, had a year of competition at Wake Forest before entering the United States Military academy.

ENTRY IS 8-5 IN DISTANCE EVENT AT HAWTHORNE

Historian, Miami Springs Are Coupled

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

Herbert M. Woolf's Historian, carrying top weight of 122 pounds, and Mrs. Monte Weil's Miami Springs will run as an entry today in the $5,000 Columbus Day handicap at Hawthorne and head a field of 13 distance stars for the two miles and 70 yards affair.

Historian, winner of five consecutive races during the current meeting, will have Billy Nichols up and with Miami Springs, winner of two races in 20 starts this season, is expected to go postward the 8 to 5 favorite.

Real Short a Contender

Chief contention in the longest race of the meeting appears likely to be from Graham Brown's Real Short, with Kempton Knott up, Clyde Troutt's Cerberus, and E. E. Robbins' Late Thread. Freddy Smith will pilot the Troutt color bearer and J. W. Martin will be aboard Late Thread.

William Mikel's well backed Royal Empress and Mrs. A. M. Creech's Pouting Mac, a 14 to 1 shot, won yesterday's daily double races and returned $79.80. Royal Empress, ridden by A. L. Fay, paid $7.00 and Pouting Mac, with Roderick Hartwick up, returned $31.20.

She Didn't, a 3 year old filly owned by M. T. Van Berg and ridden by Frank Truschka, came down in front at 66 to 1 in the third race, paying $135.00 in the mutuels. Jockey Phil La Voie, the rider on Kamp's Reward, was slightly injured when unseated after the race had been run.

Volcano Wins Feature

The winner of the featured $2,500 Pilate purse, Silver Stock farm's Volcano, was an odds on favorite, paying $3.60 after whipping a good field of Class E 3 year olds and upward. Hartwick booted him in three lengths ahead of Sky Wolf, owned by Mrs. Phil Leon and ridden by Fay. J. B. Rigney's Major Jimmy was third.

The mutuel handle yesterday was $986,263.

The Columbus Day handicap field, according to post positions, follows:

WILBERFORCE AND TUSKEGEE MEET TONIGHT

Resume Gridiron Series in Comiskey Park

Wilberforce university of Wilberforce, O., will enter the 17th football game of its series against Tuskegee [Ala.] institute tonight in Comiskey park as a slight favorite. The northerners, coached by G. F. [Country] Lewis, defeated Clark college in Atlanta, Ga., 8 to 6, in the opening game of the season but lost to Florida A. and M. college in Wilberforce last Saturday, 26 to 20.

Tuskegee, coached by the veteran Cleve Abbott, formerly of South Dakota State, battled Clark to a scoreless tie last Friday in Birmingham, indicating a close contest tonight.

Series Is All Square

The Wilberforce line has been bolstered by the recent return of four soldiers, a marine, and a sailor. Each school has one Chicago player on the squad. Frank Wade, Tuskegee tackle and a former Morgan Park High player, saw service against Wilberforce twice last year. Richard Cole, former Du Sable High half back, is playing his first year for Wilberforce.

The series between the two Negro schools started in 1928 in Tuskegee and was moved to Chicago in 1929. There were no games in 1932 and 1937. Last year Tuskegee won, 19 to 14, in Chicago and in a second game, in Detroit, the score was 13 to 13. The series now stands at six victories each, with four ties.

Drill in Washington Park

The Tuskegee squad of 30 arrived in Chicago Wednesday and Wilberforce followed yesterday. Both teams will work out in Washington park. Probable starting lineups:

Wilberforce		Tuskegee
McGill	L. E.	P. Miller
J. Miller	L. T.	Mayberry

D'Amato Sets Early Pace in All-Star Meet

BY CHARLES BARTLETT

Larry D'Amato, young south side meat salesman, is the early leader in the city-wide eliminations leading to the fifth All-Star individual match game bowling tournament, to be conducted by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America in the Auditorium Service Men's Center, Dec. 1 to 9, inclusive.

D'Amato, making his first try at Dominic De Vito's Park Manor recreation, 100 E. 75th st., put together games of 166, 240, and 267 for the 673 which leads all other seekers after places in the big show. Nearest to him is the veteran Carl Berger, who posted a neat 662 total at Bowling Lanes, 5221 Broadway. Carl fired games of 276, 182, and 204 at the establishment operated by Ralph Olsen and Jack Samuelson.

Come One, Come All!

The trials are in progress at nine top flight tenpin centers thruout the city. They will continue until 11:55 p. m., Oct. 31, at which time the top eight scorers on a three game basis at each of the nine plants will become eligible for round robin match game series, to be determined at the nine sites on Nov. 3 and 4.

Any bowler is eligible to compete in these tests. He may bowl as many three game series as he wishes, on payment of the entry fee of $2, with bowling extra, for each set. Only stipulation for following series is that he must bowl ensuing sets on alleys other than those on which he made his first attempt.

Piermatti Pla-Mor Leader

Jerry Skovie, Ed Costello, and Art Swanson of Pla-Mor, 1935 E. 79th st., already have a full list of eight leaders. They are Al Piermatti, 642 [220—223—199]; J. J. McCafferty, 568; Eugene Kandyba, 564; Bob Galloway, 560; Charley Ruffing, Yankee pitcher, 549; Joe Cabon, 547; John Nagy, 521; Ralph Edwards, 520.

Leaders at Rose Bowl, operated by Paul Young at 11517 S. Michigan av., include Bob De Young, 606; George Zuelow, 599; Millard Watson, 596; Doc La Frano, 588; Weldon Redding, 574; Wes Works, 559; Joe Gianotti, 558, and Marl Thompson, 549. N. E. Bibow's 585 paces the leaders at the Howard Bowl, operated by Marks Brothers and Rosenfield at 1777 W. Howard st.

Other Centers for Prelims

Other stages whereat prospective entrants may seek places in the main event together with their operators and addresses are: Cascade [Lloyd Wevang], 3825 W. Madison st.; Gateway recreation [Joe Gratz], 6432 W. North av.; Garden recreation [Lyman Bolger and Michael Hechinger], 4047 Milwaukee av., and Pilsen recreation [Jack Whitehead Jr. and Arnold Podzimek], 1509 W. 18th st.

The two leaders in the Nov. 3-4 round robins at each of the nine places will qualify for the December main event in the Auditorium.

Grange Lectures Today at Two Gridiron Classes

Red Grange, former University of Illinois football star, will lecture at two sessions of the football coaching schools conducted by the Chicago Sports association today. Grange will appear at Humboldt and Columbus park. Other members of the staff ar Gary Famigiletti and Joe Vodicka, Welles park, and Pete Gudauskas and Bob Margarita, Portage park. All four are Chicago Bears.

SEASON OPENS TOMORROW ON ILLINOIS DUCKS

BY BOB BECKER

Illinois duck hunters are ready to open the 1945 duck season tomorrow morning one-half hour before sunrise. Thousands of shooters will invade the Illinois river bottomlands for the opening day hunting altho a last minute census of the duck population is not encouraging.

The Illinois Natural History survey has been busy for two days counting the birds in the valley. Last night the report from Frank Bellrose, Jr., game technician of the organization, showed that approximately 40,000 waterfowl are in Illinois country as compared to 50,000 on opening day last year and approximately 75,000 in 1943. Two weeks ago there were 150,000 ducks along the Illinois.

Not Evenly Distributed

The unfortunate part of the 1945 situation is that the birds are not evenly distributed thruout the valley. For example, the Clear lake area, which includes the stretch of marsh and water from Clear lake south to the Wing 'n' Feather club grounds, has a corner on the ducks with about 15,000 out of the combined population of 40,000. Crane lake is reported to be playing host to about 5,000 birds. There were few ducks in the upper part of the Illinois yesterday.

The pintail or sprig is the top duck in the current waterfowl population, for nearly one-half of the birds to be gunned by opening day shooters are of this species.

Hunters in some marshes also will see considerable numbers of spoonbills or shovellers, the species that few hunters want. Quite a few teal remain in the valley, which is one thing that puzzles the scientists. As a rule the bluewings get out during cool weather. Yet Rice lake, the state public shooting area, had 1,000 teal 48 hours ago. The widgeon also like Rice lake, for 1,400 of them were there yesterday.

Two Bright Spots

There are two bright spots in the otherwise rather unfavorable opening day picture: First, the ducks on the river on opening day usually are easy to kill and then there is the possibility of a flight in before tomorrow. But no one has come up with a good reason why the Illinois river waterfowl population has taken such an astounding drop from 150,000 two weeks ago to 40,000 today. It has even the migration experts puzzled.

There is evidence that hunters may soon hear good news about the release of shotgun shells. Rep. Robertson [D., Va.] announced yesterday in Washington that the navy soon will release 14 million 12 gauge shells which have been stored for the training of aerial gunners.

CUBS HOPE TO FORGET WOES ON HUNTING TRIPS

Twelve members of the Chicago Cubs National league champions, a bit downhearted because of their inability to beat the Detroit Tigers in the world series, left yesterday and last night by train and automobile on a 10 days' hunting expedition in the woods near Huron, S. D., 734 miles northwest of Chicago.

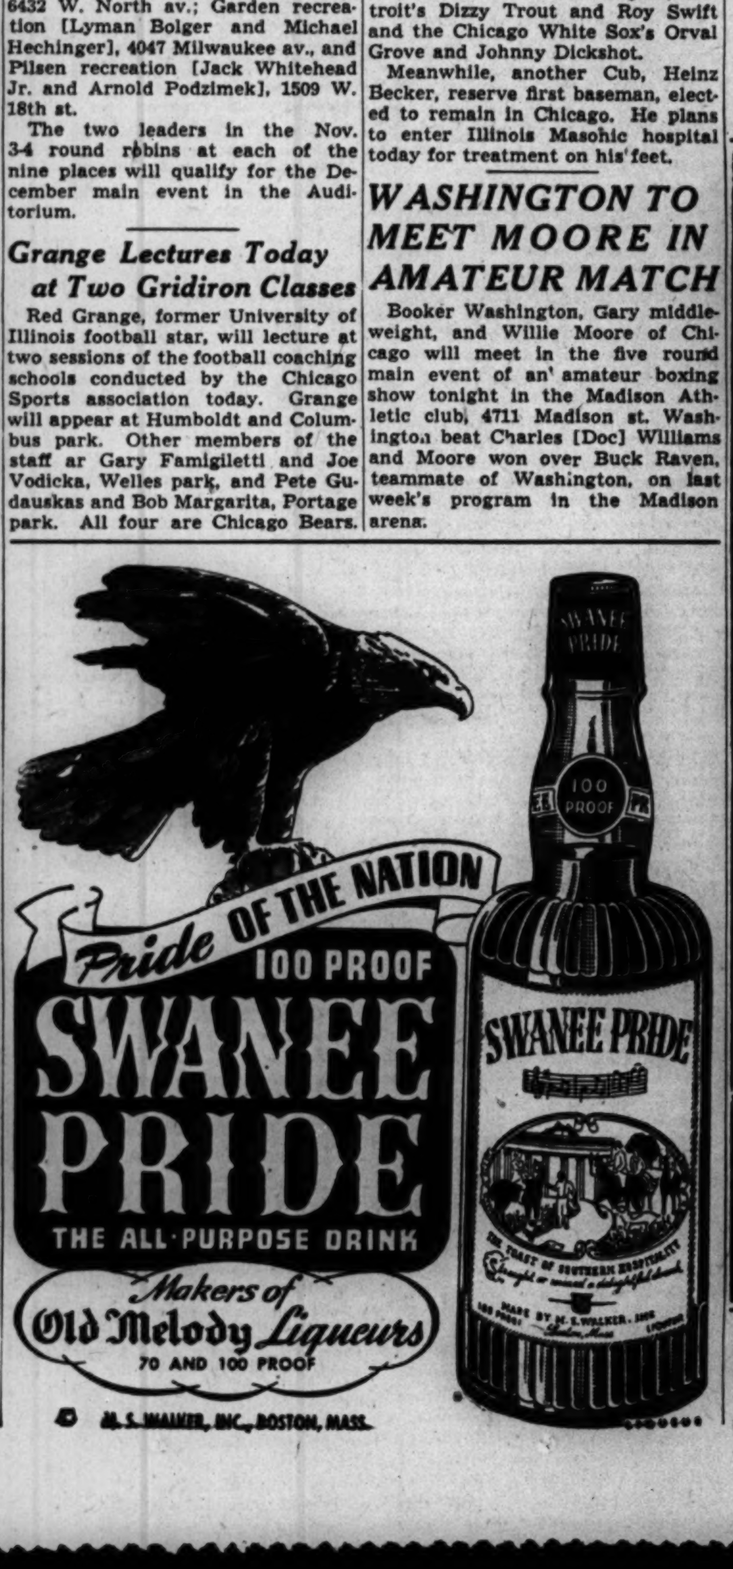
Last night's contingent headed by Phil Cavarretta, left on the Milwaukee road's Arrow. Other Cubs on the train when it pulled out of Union station were Catcher Paul Gillespie and Outfielder Frank Secory. The party also included Ival Goodman, former Cub, and Coaches Roy Johnson and Milt Stock.

Members of the motor cavalcade, which left earlier, included Paul Derringer, Bill Nicholson, Mickey Livingston, Andy Pafko, Hy Vandenberg, Dewey Williams, Roy Hughes, not to mention Kiki Cuyler, Detroit's Dizzy Trout and Roy Swift and the Chicago White Sox's Orval Grove and Johnny Dickshot.

Meanwhile, another Cub, Heinz Becker, reserve first baseman, elected to remain in Chicago. He plans to enter Illinois Masonic hospital today for treatment on his feet.

WASHINGTON TO MEET MOORE IN AMATEUR MATCH

Booker Washington, Gary middleweight, and Willie Moore of Chicago will meet in the five round main event of an amateur boxing show tonight in the Madison Athletic club, 4711 Madison st. Washington beat Charles [Doc] Williams and Moore won over Buck Raven, teammate of Washington, on last week's program in the Madison arena.



Name Lund to Lead Iowa in Purdue Game

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 11 [Special]—A University of Iowa football squad of 34 today was named by Coach Clem Crowe to make the trip to Lafayette, Ind., for the game with Purdue Saturday. Ira Lund, 220 pound center from Miles, was appointed game captain.

Three players who joined the squad Monday were included on the list and probably will see action. They are John Shehtanian, 210 pound left tackle; John Drew, right guard, and Tom Hand, center.

The Hawkeyes were scheduled for a brief drill tomorrow at 1 p. m. before leaving for Chicago, where they will stay overnight, moving on to Lafayette Saturday morning.

PURDUE MAY USE SHAW

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 11 [Special]—Ed Cody, Purdue's veteran full back, continued in his pinch-hitting role of right half back as the Boilermakers wound up preparation for Saturday's homecoming game against Iowa with an extended drill on pass defense this afternoon.

Cody is expected to start at right half, altho Dave Shaw, promising freshman, may be able to see some action.

Parker Beats Morgan Park Eleven, 14 to 7

Parker High school won its second football game in the south section of the City league last night by beating Morgan Park, 14 to 7, on Shewbridge field.

In the second period Bob Plotkin of Parker smashed over from the 1 yard line and repeated in the third quarter. Bill Gill of Morgan Park intercepted a pass and raced 50 yards to score in the final period. Lineups:

Parker [14]		Morgan Park [7]
Buchelos	L. E.	Hall
Gardner	L. T.	Clancy
Carroll	L. G.	F. Daniels
Stein	C	Gill
Pospishil	R. G.	Curtis
Noonan	R. T.	Black
Carless	R. E.	Keddie
Tilman	Q. B.	Parker
Cheuvront	L. H.	Haynes
Dickey	R. H.	Stuart
Plotkin	F. B.	W. Daniels

Parker	0	7	7	0	—14
Morgan Park	0	0	0	7	— 7

Touchdowns—Plotkin [2], Gill. Points after touchdowns—Dickey, Cheuvront, W. Daniels.

Eight City league contests will be played today, two in each section, with interest centered in the north section game between Amundsen and Schurz in Lane Tech stadium at 2 o'clock.

The Vikings, who lost to Taft, 12 to 7, in their league debut, and then came back to score a 21 to 0 over Senn, should provide the first real test for a Schurz High school eleven that currently is rated among the best in the state.

Schurz, in two league games, has rolled up 119 points, defeating Waller, 55 to 0, and Sullivan, 64 to 6. If Schurz displays its predicted strength this afternoon against an opponent as formidable as the Vikings, it must be rated a serious challenger for the north section title held by Lane, and the league championship shared by Austin and Tilden.

Tonight in Shewbridge field the 1944 south section title holder, Fenger, meets Harper, which looked impressive in defeating Calumet, 12 to 0, but lost a disappointing 32 to 13 game to Hirsch.

JUDGE FLAYS POLICE LAXITY IN AUTO CASES

Allman Gives Promise for Corrections

Police Commissioner Allman yesterday promised immediate attention to a protest by Municipal Judge Irwin Clorfene in Automobile Safety court that policemen are negligent in filling out traffic complaint forms, that they "pull their punches" while testifying against traffic offenders, and that they allow the courts to be used as collection agencies.

Judge Clorfene's charges, which he termed constructive criticism, were made at a traffic safety meeting called by Ald. Kells [28th], chairman of the council committee on traffic and public safety, in the city hall council chamber.

Many Officials Present

Attending were police captains, supervising captains, and the heads of the park district and the county highway police. Several municipal judges, including Chief Justice Edward S. Scheffler, were present, as well as the heads of all local agencies interested in traffic safety, including Leslie J. Sorenson, city traffic engineer.

Judge Clorfene cited the refusal of policemen to testify that a driver charged with drunken driving was actually drunk.

Urges Proper Booking

"The usual evasion is to say 'Well, he'd been drinking,' in answer to a direct question as to the driver's drunkenness," Judge Clorfene said. "That's pulling punches and it shouldn't happen. An intoxicated man in a car is as dangerous as a machine gun. If the man is intoxicated, he should be booked that way. If he isn't, he should be charged with reckless driving or whatever charge suits the offense."

Clorfene said many traffic complaint forms—such as those used in speeding cases—do not show the time or location or nature of the violation. Many cases, filed to hold a club over the head of a driver who has figured in a collision, are dismissed when civil damages are paid, he said, and the charges should have been filed in a civil court.

Promises Coöperation

Commissioner Allman said he agreed with Judge Clorfene and promised to have a policeman in each court to see that weak testimony is stopped and that complaints are properly made.

Judge Scheffler promised the coöperation of the courts in the strict trying of offenders.

RACIAL TENSION SCHOOL REPORT SET FOR SPRING

Supt. of Schools Johnson told the board of education yesterday that steps taken to prevent or alleviate racial tension in the schools will be dealt with in his annual report next spring.

Asked by Mrs. Walter Heineman, a board member, what had been done to prevent racial tension, Johnson said, "You'll be amazed at the quality of what has been done." He said later it would take him several hours to amplify his remarks and explain a program he said had been in effect for several years.

Pupils at Englewood and Calumet High schools held brief strikes recently as a protest against Negroes in the schools, and pupils at Morgan Park High school circulated a petition seeking separate buildings for Negro and white pupils.

FUMES IN PLANT WHERE ONE DIED MAKE 3 MORE ILL

Three employes of the Nelco Manufacturing company, 244 Chicago av., Oak Park, were overcome by fumes yesterday while repairing a ventilating system. They were treated at West Suburban hospital.

The plant was closed Oct. 4 on order of Oak Park police after one employe died and eight others collapsed, apparently from fumes generated by a manufacturing process.

The latest victims are Frank Zayas, 28, of 1444 51st st., Cicero; Clark H. Sifrit, 45, of 7619 Perry av., and Eugene Baturinsky, 24, of 2318 S. Kirkland av.

WIESBADEN, Germany, Oct. 11 [Reuters]—The first free conference of German editors and publishers for more than 12 years will be held at Marburg in the United States occupation zone of Germany on Oct. 20, it was announced today. The meeting has been called to discuss the work and problems of the new licensed German press in the United States zone.

Senate Group Approves I. C. Mollison Nomination

The nomination of Atty. Irvin C. Mollison, Negro, a member of the board of education, to the post of judge of the United States Customs court in New York, was approved yesterday in Washington, D. C., by a senate judiciary subcommittee. The post of customs judge, a lifetime appointment, pays $10,000 a year.

YOUNG VETERAN KILLED AS TRAIN SMASHES TRUCK

John Stanley Duba Jr., 26, of 1611 W. 16th st., North Chicago, a veteran who was discharged Aug. 31 after 40 months' service including much Pacific fighting, was killed last night when a Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee train struck a truck in which he was riding as it crossed Dymond rd. in Libertyville.

Duba was riding in the rear of a department store delivery truck driven by Joseph Schneider, 28, of 204 N. County st., Waukegan, when the train, travelling about 40 miles an hour, struck the rear end of the truck.

Duba was thrown thru the roof and about 135 feet thru the air. Schneider was not injured. The crossing is unguarded. Arthur Calvert, of Lake Zurich was motorman of the train, bound for Chicago from Mundelein.

JUDGE APPROVES DATA ON ESTATE OF S. M'CORMICK

Judge John F. O'Connell yesterday approved in Probate court the 17th report of the conservators of the estate of Stanley McCormick, who has been incompetent since 1906. The report showed total cash receipts of $12,130,402 in the calendar year 1944, and disbursements of $11,771,973. Disbursements include $10,321,182 in government bonds and federal land bank securities, $120,012 for maintenance of McCormick's home, Riven Rock, near Santa Barbara, Cal., and $105,799 for medical care and his personal expenses. General administrative expenses were $957,204, including federal income tax of $488,852. Conservators are Mrs. Katharine Dexter McCormick, his wife; Fowler McCormick, a nephew, and the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co.

REFINERY OWNER BRANDS SEIZURE DISCRIMINATION

Thomas Johnson, president of the Johnson Oil Supply company of Gary, an independent refinery employing 50 unorganized workers, last night protested as "unfair and discriminatory" the government seizure of his company. The plant was not shut down during the recent strike of 6,000 CIO oil workers in the Chicago area. The navy will take it over today when other refineries are formally seized.

Neither Johnson nor the navy officers could give any reason for the seizure of the firm which during the strike continued to produce 100,000 gallons of gasoline a day. The navy said it was enforcing President Truman's order and that Johnson's firm was on the list.

The huge Shell Oil company bulk plant at East Chicago—terminus of a gasoline pipe line from the firm's Wood River refinery—was not listed for seizure, altho its 1,000,000 gallon a day flow was interrupted by the strike. The majority of its employes are CIO members. Neither the navy nor the Shell company could explain the plant's immunity.

BORIN ORDERED: PAY $1,100 UNDER SUPPORT EDICT

Nathan Borin, 52, president of the Borin Art Products company and male half of the battling Borins, lost a round before Judge Frank M. Padden in Superior court yesterday in the 95th resumption of the couple's court fight.

After a long hearing concerning divorce, reconciliation, alimony, voluntary payments, jewelry and extravagance, Judge Padden ruled that Borin must pay $1,100 which he is in arrears on payments under a support order.

Simon Herr, attorney for Borin, said the manufacturer had overpaid $4,000 in lump sum payments of Mrs. Borin's debts to her brother, jewelry bills and clothing bills. Benjamin B. Davis, one of Mrs. Borin's attorneys, contended the payments were made voluntarily during a brief reconciliation last July and were not applicable to the court order.

The 96th round will be a hearing Wednesday involving custody of the couple's daughter, Bonnie Joy, 4.

$18,000 Blaze Routs 20 Dwellers on South Side

Twenty persons were driven out of the three story building at 1308 E. 62d st. yesterday by fire which started in the apartment of Lawrence Love. Chief Sinon O'Donohue of the 19th battalion estimated damage at $18,000.

[ADVERTISMENT]

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Thief Who Fled by Plane Returned to Faribault

Faribault, Minn., Oct. 11 [Special]—Roscoe Stam Jr., 21, taxicab driver and ex-marine, was brought back here tonight from St. Paul where he fled by plane last night after robbing the Phoenix Loan company of $485. Authorities said he had been suffering from a nervous condition and his story about having an urgent appointment with his wife in Minneapolis apparently was the result of a disturbed state of mind. His wife was at their home here.

DEATH NOTICES

In Memoriam

ALI—Vera Ali, Oct. 12, 1939. Though she is gone, she still lives on in the garden of loving memories.
MOTHER, DAD, AND SISTERS.

AUBRY—Anna A. Aubry. A loving tribute to our darling wife and mother, who departed this life Oct. 12, 1944.
Just a year ago today, dear one,
Your poor tired heart stopped beating.
Bitter tears and loneliness I've known since then.
Dear, as my own sorrowed heart keeps bleeding.
I dreamed you were in Heaven, darling,
With angels all around.
I could see that you were happy, dear,
And my joy then knew no bounds.
When I awoke I prayed to God
That this should all be true.
In justice to the pain you suffered, dear,
And all that was unfair to you.
God, keep her ever in Your care,
Hold her tenderly,
Until we meet again upon Your throne
For all eternity.
HEARTBROKEN HUSBAND, SONS, GEORGE AND FRANK.

BOWEN—Lester Bowen. In loving memory of our dear son and husband, who passed away one year ago today. Always in our memory.
MOTHER, WIFE, AND CHILDREN.

BOYER—Pvt. Clarence E. Boyer, U. S. A., Oct. 12, 1942. They are not dead who live in lives they leave behind.
MOTHER, SISTER, AND BROTHER.

CASSLER—Florence B. Cassler. In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother.
Some say time heals an aching heart,
But no, it is not true.
For two long years have passed
And our hearts still ache for you.
CHILDREN AND GRANDCHILDREN, AND MR. AND MRS. A BEUKEMA.

COZZI—Joseph T. Cozzi. In loving memory of our dear son and brother, who passed away two years ago today.
You are not forgotten, Joseph dear,
Nor ever shall you be;
As long as life and memory last,
We shall remember thee.
Mother, Father, Sisters, and Brother.

CHRISTOPULOS—Pfc. George P. Christopulos Jr., U. S. M. C. In loving memory of our dear son and brother, who was killed in action at Guam. Anniversary mass Sunday, Oct. 14, 11:45 a. m., at Greek Orthodox church [the Assumption], Harrison at Central.
LOVING MOTHER, FATHER, AND BROTHER.

DEFFERT—Mary Deffert. In loving memory of our dear mother, who passed away one year ago today.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly, tender, fond, and true.
There is not a day, dear mother,
That we do not think of you.
YOUR CHILDREN AND GRANDCHILDREN.

SAFRANSKI—Eleanor Safranski. In loving memory of our darling daughter, sister, and aunt, who passed away three years ago today.
The years go by and still we keep Within our hearts your image deep.
For love will hold your memory, dear,
Thru every day thru every year.
Anniversary mass, 7:30 a. m., St. Philomena's church.
LOVING MOTHER, DAD, GEORGE, BERNICE, MICKEY, AND BILLY.

STEDRY—In memory of Joseph Stedry of the 74th Railroad Transportation company, A. E. F., who passed away Oct. 12, 1935.
LOVING WIFE, ALICE KANE STEDRY.

WITKOWSKI—Dr. Leo Witkowski, Oct. 12, 1934. In loving memory.
We see him in the twilight
And in the dawn of day
His presence we feel as we wander;
He seems to guide our way.
LOVING WIFE AND CHILDREN.

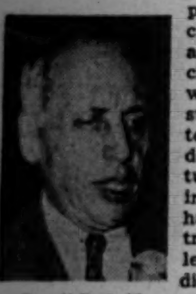
THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

SALES HURDLES MUST BE MET, INDUSTRY TOLD

Speakers at Clinic Warn of Pitfalls

Talk about the vast potential purchasing power of the American public for new consumer goods and widely publicized surveys of what the consumer is waiting to buy should not deceive manufacturers into thinking they will not have complex distribution problems, a clinic on distribution sponsored by the National Association of Manufacturers and the Illinois Manufacturers' association was told in the Hotel Sherman yesterday.



Everett R. Smith

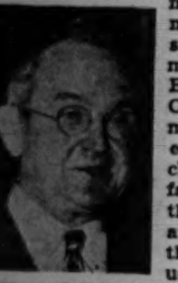
"Theoretically this vast potential demand should keep our industries busy—if you can sell these products to the public, and if the public does not decide to buy something else or nothing," said Everett R. Smith, director of research for Macfadden Publications.

Problem That Must Be Met

War time industry advertising of the "wonderful new world that lies ahead" may put the manufacturer in the position of trying to sell his products in competition with "dream products" that may or may not appear, Smith asserted.

"Perhaps you have designed, tested out, and tooled up for the production of a better mouse trap," he said. "How do you know that better mouse traps may not be a drug on the market?"

All kinds of "wonderful" products have been produced, only to be moved by hit and miss methods, said T. B. Freeman, president of Butler Brothers. One handicap he mentioned was extravagant claims made for fake products that build resistance barriers for the honest products. Having been deceived by false advertising and selling technique, the public rightfully becomes suspicious of all, he said.



Thomas B. Freeman

Tells Need for Distribution

Freeman listed as essentials for effective distribution a management which is interested in sound distribution methods and demands their use, a sales management which is reasonably familiar with the tools and methods of analysis, and personnel of trained specialists in scientific distribution analysis.

W. A. Matheson, vice president of Eureka Vacuum Cleaner company, asserted that real selling will be necessary to revive old buying habits that were suppressed during the war.

"Millions of Americans want to see the new automobiles," he said. "But how many millions want to buy them? Let's not mistake curiosity for interest. If curiosity led to sales one of the fastest selling products in the United States would be the steam shovel."

U.S. Rule Held Real Obstacle to Conversion

BY ANTHONY WIRRY
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

San Jose, Cal., Oct. 11—Office of price administration regulations, government tax policies, and proposed changes in the patent laws are the three principal reconversion problems of the Food Machinery corporation, Paul L. Davies, president, said today.

The physical phases are progressing smoothly and should be completed by the end of the year, he told newspaper men reporting on reconversion progress in 17 industrial centers. Governmental obstacles were termed the only bottleneck retarding entry into a business period expected to bring the company a sales volume two and one-half times as large as in its peak pre-war year.

Squeezed by Costs, Prices

"Manufacturers in the last few years have incurred a 25 per cent increase in costs because of increases in the prices of materials and the wages of labor," Davies said. "With prices frozen at 1941 levels, the squeeze between production costs and selling prices is growing more acute daily.

"I am not in favor of revoking all price control, but I believe OPA regulations should be relaxed as soon as possible so the manufacturer can retain a legitimate profit."

Head of a company which turned out 400 million dollars of amphibious tractors, known as water buffalos, and other smaller war items, Davies urged repeal of the excess profits tax to accelerate the industrial shift.

Possibilities of a weakening of the patent law thru "ill advised" legislation pose the third reconversion problem. Davies said it is essential to have strong patent laws to protect the company that develops a machine, because research and improvement will not go forward if inventions can be copied by another company without development cost.

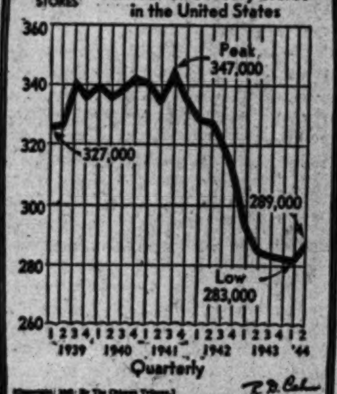
3 Million Dollar Expansion

Hopeful of an early and satisfactory solution of these problems, the company has undertaken a 3 million dollar expansion and improvement program in its 15 plants thruout the country. Of this sum $600,000 will be spent on Illinois plants at Hoopeston and Quincy.

The company expects to employ 5,000 workers, compared with a war time peak of 8,500 in 1945 and 2,000 in 1941.

The Matson Navigation company, which handles 85 per cent of the trade and passenger traffic between the United States and the Hawaiian Islands, apparently faces a long reconversion period. George C. Montgomery, chairman of the executive committee, said the government still has all of its passenger ships. The company may get one passenger ship back in January, but it requires six months and 3½ million dollars to refit them for civilian use, he said.

38,000 Grocery Stores Closed During War



Stocks Close Irregular in Lighter Trade

New York, Oct. 11 (AP)—Individual stocks overrode heavy profit selling in today's market and reached peaks for eight-and one-half years, but many leaders turned lower after five successive advancing sessions. Many accounts were lightened for the lengthy week-end. Dealings were quiet in smaller trade.

Congressional asurances of substantial tax cuts, inflation psychology based on labor disputes over wages, earnings, and dividends maintained bullish enthusiasm.

The Associated Press 60 stock composite was unchanged at 72.6.

MARKET HOLIDAY

The New York Stock and Curb exchanges and the Chicago Stock exchange will be closed today for Columbus day and remain closed tomorrow. Commodity markets, including the Chicago Board of Trade, and banks will close today, but will be open tomorrow. Live stock markets will be open as usual.

BONDS END UNEVEN

New York, Oct. 11 (AP)—The bond market closed irregular in narrow trade today as investors awaited the long week-end closing. A few higher priced corporates made progress but the medium priced rails moved both ways.

CHICAGO LIST GAINS

Prices closed slightly higher in reduced turnover of 50,000 shares yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Of 127 issues traded, 61 advanced and 43 declined. Most active issues included Armour, up ⅜; Commonwealth Edison, up ¼ to a 1945 high of 32½; Miller & Hart and Libby, McNeil, each up ⅛, and Chicago corporation, down ⅛.

Kaiser Tells Ideas of Coast Steel Industry

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 11 (AP)—Henry Kaiser said today he was definitely interested in taking over a heavy proportion of the steel production on the west coast and running it as an integrated industry.

Henry Kaiser

This would involve purchase of the government owned Geneva plant at Provo, Utah, and the Colorado Coal, Fuel, and Iron corporation installations, in addition to the Fontana, Cal., plant he owns and operates under a Reconstruction Finance corporation mortgage.

Predicts Boom in West

He said in an interview his plans depended on a number of "ifs," chief among them how much the government would absorb of war costs involved in the emergency erection of the Fontana and Geneva plants.

[Production of steel at the war born Geneva Steel company plant will be discontinued by Nov. 12, Walther Mathesius, president, said yesterday following receipt of a telegram from Sam Husbands, director of the RFC. Pig iron production will continue. A company spokesman said only 600 of the 2,400 workers will be retained.]

Kaiser predicted a heavy business boom for the west; instead of being closed, business frontiers have just begun to appear. Among other things, he said:

As soon as Willow Run, the big Ford war plant where the new Kaiser-Frazer automobiles are being made, approaches full production "we certainly will look to the west coast for the production of more automobiles."

He is interested in 25 industries and is looking for more.

Wants Liberty Ships

He wishes to buy an undetermined number of Liberty ships, generally tagged as of little post-war use, to transport gypsum and other materials for a low cost gypsum and plaster board plant, owned by Kaiser.

And that decentralization of industry, spreading it around the country, is necessary if there is to be a United States.

Kaiser said his steel plan on which he spent thousands of dollars in surveys is complicated, and that the RFC had indicated it would consider any reasonable offer on scaling down the government loan under which he now holds the Fontana steel plant. He emphasized that war costs would have to be scaled down so that industry will not have to bear the burden of the high costs of building plants during the war.

Potential Earnings a Yardstick

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11 (AP)—Prospective earnings rather than original costs will be the primary yardstick in fixing prices of government owned steel plants, the surplus property administration said today. Risks involved in new steel producing areas and factors affecting the general economy "will also be vital considerations."

In a report to congress, Administrator Symington devoted much attention to the 200 million dollar Geneva steel plant at Provo, Utah. He said it is considered the key to the industrial growth of the west. So far, only "limited interest" has been shown in its purchase or lease, he said. Only three companies have indicated interest and the United States Steel corporation already has withdrawn from negotiations.

HUMAN NEEDS HELD CRUX OF LABOR UNREST

Lovett Says Firms Must Face Issue

Management must put labor relations on a par with other major activities if it meets the problem of "irresponsible and incapable" union leadership, John J. Lovett, general manager of the Michigan Manufacturers association, asserted yesterday.

Tho he said that 80 per cent of American employers recognize their responsibilities in labor relations and meet them "with brains and ability," Lovett charged management has failed in its labor relations. He addressed the annual meeting of the National Association of Furniture Manufacturers in the Edgewater Beach hotel. The wave of dissatisfaction of the country's workers can be traced to management's failure to grasp the importance of human relations within the plant organization itself, he said.

First Point of Attack

The employe problem must be attacked first with the idea that employe relationship can be organized so that workers do not need a union to bargain for them. If employes select a bargaining agent, then collective bargaining must be placed on the same basis as all business contracts.

Reviewing the expansion of union membership, he said during World War I. it increased to approximately 5,200,000, but from 1920 to 1930 it dropped half. From 1935 to 1945, however, membership rose to about 10 million. What happens to union membership in the next 10 years depends largely upon management, he asserted.

"Unions and collective bargaining will remain in some form," he said. "There will be shrinkages in certain industries and in individual unions.

Face Public Opposition

"All of the ills of production which were used against the employers to poison the minds of the public against management are coming home to labor unions today. The unions face adverse public opinion. They face adverse legislation."

Most labor troubles result from poor administration of contracts on the part of union leadership, declared Lovett. Often no apparent regard exists for the inviolability of contracts among unions.

Rep. Dirksen [R., Ill.], speaking at the dinner session, discussed obligations this country owed the returning veterans and said "we must roll back the tide of defeatism and despair that has its focal point in the capital." He asserted that if not curbed it would undo the constructive work being accomplished.

The association voted to recommend the office of price administration lift all price controls from the furniture industry by Jan. 1.

Report Canadian Firm Bids on Partly Made Douglas Parts

Canadair, Ltd., of Montreal, a new aircraft manufacturing subsidiary of Canadian Vickers, Ltd., will bid 9 cents a pound for the several million dollars worth of work-in-process plane parts in the big Douglas Aircraft company plant in Park Ridge, it was reported yesterday. Aircraft officials asserted no formal bids had been received, but said Canadair representatives had been inspecting the plant equipment.

Bids of Canadair and other companies that also have been looking over fabricated parts used in subassemblies and assemblies of C-54 Douglas transport planes will be opened Thursday, said Earl Sheffer, plant termination manager.

Several million dollars' worth of standard general purpose machine tools in General Motors corporation's Buick aviation engine plant in Melrose Park were declared surplus yesterday by the Reconstruction Finance corporation in Washington, D. C.

This means the Chicago RFC office may conclude sales for about 40 per cent of the big plant's tools for which negotiations have been under way for several weeks with various companies, said W. H. Reuter, assistant manager of RFC in charge of surplus disposal.

The plant itself has not formally been declared surplus. It is known, however, that several big companies other than General Motors are studying the possibilities of operating the plant either under lease or after purchase.

RECOMMEND CANADA REMOVE EXPORT CURB ON NEWSPRINT DEC. 31

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 11 (AP)—The Canadian newsprint industry has recommended to the government that limitations on export of newsprint to the United States be abolished Dec. 31, it was learned today.

The government was understood to be preparing to carry out the request, which would coincide with the termination in the United States of government control over newsprint consumption.

As a result of this and the probable diversion of newsprint previously scheduled to go to Britain, prospects are that shipments from Canada, source of three-fourths of the American supply, will increase slightly in the first six months of 1946.

Newsprint will continue to be short, however, at least until June.

OATS PREMIUM IS DEFENDED AS AID TO FARMER

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11 (AP)—Fred H. Clutton, secretary of the Chicago Board of Trade, today said a rule providing for a premium of 5 cents a bushel on top grade oats "was definitely to the benefit of the farmer." His views, presented to a senate agriculture subcommittee, were supported by three directors—Earl M. Combs Jr., J. O. McClintock, and M. T. Sonntag.

Chairman Thomas [D., Okla.] said many contended the rule, adopted in July, 1944, by the board, was a detriment to the farmer and served to depress the price in the futures market. Thomas had requested earlier that the rule be rescinded or that the Board of Trade show it was justified.

Clutton said the rule was "not adopted at the suggestion of or at the instigation of the OPA," but was necessary to conform to differentials set up by the OPA on ceiling prices for oats.

Ralph Brown, OPA acting price executive, said the Board of Trade rule did not violate ceiling price regulations.

SPENDING CUTS HELD TRUE WAY TO TAX RELIEF

Lutz Says Smaller Levy Not Enough

BY THOMAS FURLONG

The quickest route to genuine tax relief is thru strict government economy, Dr. Harley Lutz, Princeton university professor of public finance, told an audience of Chicago business leaders at a dinner meeting last night in the Chicago club.

Tax reductions without curtailed spending will backfire on taxpayers, he said. Income taxes would be cut but people would pay $20 for a $2 shirt in the resulting inflation of prices, said the speaker, recognized as a foremost authority on fiscal matters.

Lutz helped write the recently published plan for federal tax reform sponsored by the committee on post war tax policy. Chairman of that group is Roswell Magill who was drafted to serve as undersecretary of the treasury in 1938 and quit a year later.

Quickest Way to Relief

"The great clamor is for tax reductions, when it ought to be for a cut in spending," said Lutz. "The sooner people get as vocal about cutting the costs of government as they are about cutting taxes, the quicker tax relief for individuals will become a reality."

The individual income earner is of necessity going to bear the major share of taxes, said Lutz.

With strict government economy the federal budget could eventually be reduced to 15 billion dollars a year, he estimated, but a budget of 18 billions was described as "more likely." At this level there will be some choice in the type of taxes to be levied, but if the budget reaches 22 to 25 billions there will be little discretion about the matter, he said. In the latter event a federal sales tax will be necessary, he added.

Discusses Magill Program

Lutz discussed the recommendations made by the Magill group which include immediate repeal of the excess profits tax, minimizing double taxation of corporation dividends, limiting individual rates to a maximum of 50 per cent at the $100,000 level, and eventual attainment of a tax structure under which all income will be taxed alike.

Under any tax reform individuals cannot expect a return to pre-war tax rates, said Lutz, but strict economy will permit a sensible recasting of the tax system in which the profit motive will be recognized as the strongest economic incentive.

The dinner at which Lutz spoke was arranged by Ralph Budd, Gen. Robert E. Wood, Philip R. Clarke, Thomas E. Wilson, Thomas E. Donnelley, and Fowler McCormick, who presided.

The meeting, in the Old Chicago room, was adjourned to the lounge on the second floor after a waiter, Joseph Billingsly, collapsed and was taken to St. Luke's hospital.

WARNS CARRIER EXPANSION COST MAY HIKE RATES

Proposals to expand the transportation facilities of the United States may well cause concern, for part of the expansion may have to be paid for, not from operating economies, but by increased rates and charges, E. G. Plowman, vice president of the United States Steel corporation in charge of traffic, asserted yesterday.

Speaking at a luncheon of the Traffic Club of Chicago and the Midwest Shippers Advisory board in the Palmer House, Plowman contended that "undiscriminating expansion of transportation facilities by government should be ended. One suggestion is that public agencies should obtain certificates of convenience and necessity before spending millions upon new highways, waterways, or airways."

Reëquipment and improvement of existing facilities rather than expansion is essential to the country's progress, he said.

ARMY REJECTS BID FOR ATOMIC BY-PRODUCT USE

Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 11 (AP)—Continued government refusal to release certain by-products of atomic bomb manufacture may result in loss of millions of barrels of oil that could be recovered with their use, a Tulsa engineer contended today.

W. G. Green, president of Well Surveys, Inc., made public the army's rejection of his request for information on certain radioactive substances his company wishes to use in locating oil.

The plan is to lower into oil well casings small quantities of new radioactive substances to locate, thru intact steel and cement, oil sands that were missed in the original drilling.

NEW RADIO SETS TO COST ABOUT SAME AS IN 1942

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11 (AP)—New radio sets will sell for about the same as in 1942, OPA said today. It granted price increases averaging about 12 per cent to manufacturers, but said that with few exceptions wholesalers and retailers would be required to absorb the increase.

Manufacturers were granted a 15 per cent increase for sets sold to wholesalers for less than $11; 12 per cent for sets selling between $11 and $30; and 10½ per cent for sets selling for more than $30. OPA said this should encourage production of relatively inexpensive sets.

GRAIN FUTURES CLOSE UNEVEN; TRADING LIGHT

Prices of grain futures closed irregular yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Heavy profit taking appeared on the upturns and professional speculators were light buyers because of the rapid upturn in prices in the last 10 days.

Wheat futures closed unchanged to ½ cent a bushel higher, corn unchanged to ¼ lower, oats unchanged to ⅜ lower, rye ½ to ⅞ higher, and barley ¼ to ⅜ cent lower.

Brewster Aero Owners Will Vote on Dissolution

New York, Oct. 11 (AP)—Directors of Brewster Aeronautical corporation said today a special meeting of stockholders would be called to consider whether the company should be dissolved and the proceeds of liquidation distributed.

WARD DIRECTORS ELECT FOUR TO VICE PRESIDENT

Directors of Montgomery Ward & Co. yesterday elected W. H. Norton, R. E. Harrison, L. F. Crews, and C. M. Odorizzi vice presidents.

Norton last month replaced as general merchandise manager Rowland S. Stevens, who resigned. Stevens also had been a vice president. Crews recently was named controler, replacing Earl Ward, acting controler and assistant treasurer. Harrison, retail manager, and Odorizzi, mail order manager, formerly operated under Bert R. Prall, operating vice president, who resigned a few months ago.

Directors did not elect a president. Ward has been without a president since the resignation of Clement D. Ryan.

Illinois Gas Asks to Use 2 Way Radio Facilities

Herrin, Ill., Oct. 11 (AP)—Illinois Gas and Electric company today awaited approval by the federal communications commission to install two way radio facilities between its offices here and work trucks to dispatch workers to repair jobs.

ATTACK ON ADS RECEIVES SMALL PUBLIC SUPPORT

Efforts to minimize the economic importance of advertising have made little impression on the general public, but have won converts among labor leaders, teachers, and women's organizations, George L. Russell Jr., president of John B. Stetson company, said yesterday.

Russell, chairman of the Brand Names Research Foundation, spoke at a luncheon meeting in the Palmer House at which awards were made to 40 Chicago area companies whose brands have been before the public for 50 to 100 years. The foundation was organized a year ago to combat the propaganda intended to discredit the economic usefulness of advertising.

Russell asserted labor and manufacturers and other groups in the economy have a common interest in combatting the movement against advertising, which he described as the basis of mass production and distribution.

Iran Pays U. S. for Part of Rail Material Bought

TEHRAN, Iran, Oct. 11 (AP)—Officials said today the Iran government had given United States army authorities a check for 7 million dollars for railway material it had purchased. The balance of $2,100,000 will be paid in 10 days.

C. & E. I. August Profit Larger Than Year Ago

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad yesterday reported net income of $72,746 for August, compared with $6,533 a year earlier.

CHICAGO MEAT ANIMAL SUPPLY SLUMPS AGAIN

Receipts of live stock in Chicago decreased further yesterday. Pressure against ceiling price levels was stronger in top grades of steers and in most classes of hogs. Offerings were far below trade requirements.

Receipts of sheep and lambs at 4,500 set a Thursday low for four week, but prices were steady.

Meat production under federal inspection last month was disappointingly low because of a severe decrease in the butchering of hogs. Cattle slaughtering was at a record September high, but this gain in volume was more than offset by the small hog slaughter, which was lowest for September in 10 years.

C. E. D. Group Asks U. S. Co-Operation in Jobs Drive

New York, Oct. 11 (AP)—Formation of a president's commission and a joint congressional committee on full employment was urged today by the research division of the Committee for Economic Development to integrate a program for achieving and maintaining high levels of productive employment in a free economy.

NEW ADVERTISING TOOLS, TOO?

In the rich but highly competitive civilian goods market that lies ahead of us, no manufacturer would consider using obsolete, pre-war machine tools for production.

Advertising media, of course, are tools, too—tools for selling merchandise. And they, also, can become obsolete. Now, more than ever, the tools of advertising need to be examined in the light of today's markets.

May we suggest, therefore, that you look over your advertising tools and see if some of them have become obsolete—and should be replaced or supplemented by new and better tools.

In this connection, we suggest that you investigate the magazine, SECRETS, with its million monthly newsstand buyers—young married women between the ages of 18 and 35. It has the largest concentration of this audience of any publication.

Can you use this advertising tool?
